Lane, Edward (1605–1685), Church of England clergyman, was elected a scholar at St Paul's School, London, where he was a pupil of Alexander Gill the elder. He was admitted on 4 July 1622 to St John's College, Cambridge, graduating BA in 1626 and proceeding MA in 1629. Ordained priest on 22 September 1628 he was presented in 1631 (admitted 24 March) to the vicarage of North Shoebury, Essex, by the crown, through the lord keeper, Thomas Coventry. He resigned on 28 January 1636, being presented by the same patron to the vicarage of Sparsholt, Hampshire. He was also rector of Lainston, Hampshire, a parish adjoining, probably from 1637. On 9 July 1639 he was incorporated MA at Oxford. In 1644, being a 'time of warre', Lane was absent from Sparsholt: he was recommended by the Westminster assembly on 27 February 1645 to fill the sequestrated benefice of Sholden, Kent.
Lane's writings resulted from controversy. Look unto Jesus (1663) expanded a sermon first preached before the Restoration, when it had stirred up controversy because it accepted the celebration of Christmas; it was published as a defence of the restored Church of England (bound with the British Library copy is an autograph manuscript entitled 'A taste of the everlasting ffeast ... in Heaven'). Mercy Triumphant (1680) and Du Moulin's Reflections Reverberated (1681) attacked the assertion of Lewis Du Moulin's Moral Reflections on the Number of the Elect (1680) that the elect might be fewer than one in a million as contrary to the gospel, harmful to godliness and troubled souls, and opposed to the riches of God's mercy. Postscripts to Du Moulin's Reflections attacked transubstantiation (and in passing, Lutheran consubstantiation) and, against the Erastian Edmund Hickeringill, defended church courts. 'A discourse of the waters of Noah', left in manuscript at his death, was a reply to Thomas Burnet's The Sacred Theory of the Earth (1684). Although Lane remained an incumbent throughout the interregnum, after the Restoration he wrote of Charles I as a saint and martyr. He also then defended divine right episcopacy, bowing at the name of Jesus, and the use of set forms of prayer, which he claimed to be the general practice of the Reformed churches. He argued that those who had taken the solemn league and covenant could conscientiously disavow it. Next to scripture he sought the guidance of 'my good Mother the Holy Church of England' (Mercy Triumphant, 40). Roman Catholicism he considered a Babylon of error and novelty, and dissenting conventicles he scorned for blasphemy, narrowness, and sedition. Lane was convinced that the Jews would eventually be converted to Christianity. Lane's incumbency at Sparsholt lasted fifty years. He had collected and transcribed the parish registers from 1607, and was reputed to be an exemplary parish clergyman. He was also rector of Nursling, Hampshire, from 1667 until his death. He died on 2 September 1685 and was buried on 4 September in the chancel of Sparsholt church. His wife, Mary, had been buried on 27 October 1669. None of his children survived him: Edward, who had been in Ireland, was buried on 17 May 1660; Henry, baptized on 11 April 1639, who had been a scholar at New College, Oxford, was buried on 6 October 1659. Edward Lane (presbyterian minister of West Bromwich) 1618-1660
Lane, christened on 4 Mar 1617.8 at Aston by Birmingham, was 3rd son of Lawrence Lane of Witton in Aston by Birmingham, Warwicks yeoman c1569-?1658. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1643.4 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of West Bromwich independent parochial chapelry. On one Sunday rebels pulled him by the ears out of his reading desk into the churchyard to watch his surplice and the Book of common prayer burnt "the good man expecting to be made the next sacrifice to ther merciless rage". A successor was in office on 30 Jul 1648. He was imprisoned for many years. He died, aged about 42, shortly before 29 May 1660. Lane married about 1644 to a woman by whom he had (? 1 son and) 1 daughter. Samuel Langley (parochial curate of Tamworth) c1622-1694 H70
Langley, born about 1622, was a son of Thomas Langley of Middlewich, Cheshire clergyman c1584-1657. He studied at Oxford and at Cambridge where in 1642.3 he was admitted as a pensioner at Emmanuel College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. 1642.3 (M.A., Christ's College, 1646). In 1644 he was intruded a fellow of Christ's College but resigned before his marriage in 1649. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 13 Apr 1648 when he was appointed by the House of Lords as presbyterian minister of Swettenham, Cheshire. Here he may have resigned before 23 Jul 1658 when (after presentation by Sir John Repington of Amington in Tamworth knight 1608-1660 and Tamworth Corporation in Nov 1657) he was approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presybyterian minister of Tamworth parochial chapelry. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto parochial curate (& vicar-preacher). On 27 Jul 1661 he was ordained (? deacon and) priest by Galloway and on 31 Jan 1661.2 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. About Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2/6/8. For an undiscovered reason he left office before 24 Sep 1662. Probably shortly after 24 Sep 1662 Ralph Astle (vicar of Sandon) c1608-1666 was, jointly, appointed parochial curate (& vicar-preacher) of Tamworth but resigned on 16 Dec 1663. On 17 Dec 1663 after probable presentation by Sebright Repington of Amington in Tamworth esquire c1632-1698 and Tamworth Corporation he was (again) appointed as parochial curate (& vicar-preacher) of Tamworth. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Tamworth and Wigginton constablewicks but was not assessed there since he lived at Bolehall in the Warwickshire part of Tamworth. Still in office he died, aged 72, on 20 Jan 1693.4 and was buried here on 23 Jan probably in the chancel. An inscribed monument was placed in the church at the end of the chancel (below). His will made on 4 Sep 1693 was proved under Lichfield on 9 Mar 1693.4. The value of his personalty is undiscovered but Langley was the owner of much property including the manor of Bolehall. His will reads "to my said son Thomas all my Manuscripts & all my bookes whatsoever except such Bibles and English Bookes as my loving wife shall thinke to keep for her own use..." Langley married about 1649 to Sarah by whom he had 3 sons and 2 daughters. Thomas Langley (presbyterian minister of Cambridge St Benet) c1620-c1646 was his brother. Thomas Langley (parochial curate of Hints) c1651-1705 was his first son. His first daughter Alice was the 2nd wife of John Niccols (rector of Narborough, Leics) c1648-1678. Whilst still living in Cheshire Langley was the author of Suspension reviewed, stated, cleered and setled upon plain scripture-proof, agreeable to the former and late constitutions of the Protestant Church of England and other reformed churches... (1658).

Samuel Langley, R.S. in the county palatine of Chester. Suspension reviewed, stated, cleered and setled upon plain scripture-proof, agreeable to the former and late constitutions of the Protestant Church of England and other reformed churches. Wherein (defending a private sheet occasionally written by the author upon this subject, against a publique pretended refutation of the same, by Mr W. in his book, entituled, Suspension discussed.) Many important points are handled; sundry whereof are shortly mentioned in the following page. Together with a discourse concering private baptisme, inserted in the epistle dedicatory. [London : Printed by J. Hayes for Thomas Underhill at the Anchor and Bible in Pauls Church-yard, 1658]

(13 Apr 1648, nominated) Sa. Langley to Swettenham (Co. Cheshire), void by resignation of Sa. Catherall. [Shaw (1900) ii p354]
(Tamworth) 29 Sep. 1657 and 24 June 1658 this place was duly supplied as well on "the Lords dayes as Lecture dayes " by godly and able ministers at the care and provision of the church wardens, so Langley only received the £60 augmentation from this last date. [1915]
(Tamworth) and thereupon sir John Repington, on the 23rd of November following [1657], appointed Samuel Langley, M.A., to be vicar, provided that he should in person exercise the duties and preach in the Church once every Lord's day at least, unless some lawful occasion should hinder him. Three days previously, the bailiffs and capital burgesses had elected him to the offices of preacher, minister, and curates of the Church. This two-fold election of each clergyman continued until the final decision of the matter between the corporation and Repingtons: it was mainly occasioned by the scanty endowment of the Church. The rev. S. Langley did not become resident in the town until the 1st of July following. He is mentioned in the most honourable terms, in the Memoirs of William Whiston, a divine well known for his Arian opinions. [Palmer TAMWORTH 233]

He had three pupils (from Cheshire and Salop) in Nov. 1646, two more in 1647, and two in 1648. His last payment was at Mids. 1649. He was appointed to Swettenham, Cheshire by the House of Lords (Journal, 10. 188) on 13 Apr. 1648 (Shaw, 2. 354) but did not come into residence till the end of 1649, after his marriage (Urwick). He left in 1660: removed to Tamworth; Hen. Newcome wrote 13 June 1660: "had the sweet society of my old friend, Mr Langley who met me here from Tamworth" : and, 35 years later, wrote 16 Oct. 1695, "heard of the ill state of religion at Tamworth upon the death of Mr Langley." Tho. Langley (admitted 1668) was son of Sam. of "Swetnam, Warw." [sic]. William Langley M.A. (?compliant minister of Cheadle) ?1596-1657
Langley, probably born in 1596, was a son of Thomas Langley of Lancs ?clerk c1564-.... He is probably the anonymous diarist who wrote "I was borne at Prestwiche Anno Christi 1596 my Father M. Langley being at that time Curet to his cosen who was the parson there [then William Langley (rector of Prestwich, Lancs) c1535-1613]. I was brought up there in my youth and went to the Gram' schole at Manchester where I receyved good instruct'n in Grammar learninge before I was entred at Brazennose colledge oxon. ... after I commenced M of Arts I was chosen to read the Humanity Lecture." At Oxford a man of his name graduated B.A. (Magdalen Hall) on 10 May 1619; M.A. (4 Jul 1622). It is likely that Langley was ordained deacon and priest but no definite record of his early career has been discovered. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. By 4 Feb 1649.50 he was in office as ?compliant minister of Cheadle rectory. Still in office he died, aged about 61, about May 1657. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 27 Sep 1661. His personalty was valued at £99/4/8 and included "Item the librarie £13/6/8". Langley married about 1653 to Catherine Ashton (b c1613) 1st dau of Edmund Ashton of High Shuttleworth, Lancs esquire c1583-1650 by whom he had one son and two daughters. William Langley (compliant joint minister of Lichfield St Mary) 1618-1689 QV was a second cousin. Of his wife's sisters Elizabeth was probably the wife of William Spencer D.D. (rector of Thurnscoe, Yorks WR) 1629-1714 and Jane was the wife of his brother Devereux Spencer ?1628-1673 - one of Langley's successors at Cheadle.

$William Langley (compliant minister of Ellastone) 1618-1689
Langley, born in 1618, was a son of Matthias Langley of Prestwich, Lancs gentleman c1588-....and Mary (Moore) and grandson of William Langley (rector of Prestwich, Lancs) c1535-1613. He was probably only educated to literate grade. (He was sometimes styled M.A. but does not so style himself in his published books). He was ordained deacon and on 18 Sep 1642 was probably ordained priest by Chester pro Lichfield. On 10 Jul 1645 the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him compliant minister of Checkley rectory but in Aug 1645 his appointment was cancelled "on finding that the patron was not a delinquent as had been supposed" . On 23 Dec 1645 the same committee appointed him compliant minister of Ellastone vicarage with the approval of the Westminster assembly of divines. Here the committee ordered his salary of £20 to be augmented from the rectorial tithes by £50 (from 30 May 1646) and by £80 (from 6 Jun to 29 Sep 1651). Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "William Langley Minister of the Gospel at Elaston". He had resigned at Ellastone by 6 Aug 1651 when he was in office as compliant joint minister of Lichfield vicarage with a salary of £150 pa (together with John Butler c1621-1671 QV). At Lichfield he was removed probably about 3 Mar 1653.4 when his salary was suspended by the Trustees for maintenance on an order from the Protector and the Council of State at Whitehall. It was "urged against him in the Articles on which he was Sequestred, that he had Preached on Christmas-day, and Administred the Sacrament by the Common-Prayer-Book." Writing about 1654 in The persecuted minister ... (1656) Langley stated that his colleague John Butler had not been ordained before his appointment to Lichfield - unclear if he meant as an anglican or as a presbyterian - was appointed a joint minister but wanted to become (sole) minister of St Chad (Stowe) and was instrumental in his - Langley's - ejection. In 1655 Langley unsuccessfully petitioned against his ejection and on 1 Jun 1658 the Trustees for maintenance allowed that he might preach outside Lichfield. By 24 May 1660 he had moved to Wellington, Salop where on 7 Jul 1662 after presentation by Philip Eyton gentleman he was instituted vicar. He was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield on 12 Nov 1663 and on 21 Jul 1665 he was in office as surrogate (or deputy) to Sir Walter Littleton knight (vicar-general of Lichfield) 1607-1670. On 10 Aug 1666 after presentation by Sir John Corbet of Adderley, Salop baronet he was, plurally, instituted rector of Stoke-upon-Tern, Salop. Still in office at Wellington and Stoke-upon-Tern Langley died, aged 71, at Wellington and was buried there on 18 May 1689. His will made on 25 Oct 1688 was proved under Lichfield on 18 Jun 1689. His personalty was value at £161/16/2 and included "books in the study that were not disposed of in his life time to his sons £20". Other books were bequeathed to his children. Langley married about 1647 to Jane Brown (b 1621) daughter of Ralph Brown of Meir in Caverswall "gentleman" 1598-1670 by whom he had 5 sons and 5 daughters. Matthias Langley (vicar of Alrewas) 1650-1728 was his third son to whom he bequeathed in his will "all my manuscripts and sermon notes ... for his life and after his decease ... I will that my grandson Matthias L. shall have [them] if it please God to make him capable to use them." Langley was the author of The persecuted minister ... (1656) and The death of Charles the first lamented, with the restauration of Charles the second congratulated ... (1660). William Langley (?compliant minister of Cheadle) ?1596-1657 QV was a second cousin. In 1656 Langley's descent from the Langleys of Agecroft Hall, Lancs was certified and his right to bear their arms [Argent a cockatrice, wings endorsed and tail nowed sable, beaked or] was confirmed. In his will he mentions five paintings of himself, his wife and three of his children. [NB: Other clergymen of this name include: William Langley c1610-...., an Oxford graduate, who was curate of Brightwell, Berks (1636) and possibly rector of Shadoxhurst, Kent(1636-41) and compliant minister of South Fleet, Kent (1645); a man named Langley who was compliant minister of Edenfield, Lancs (1648); a William Langley who was presented by the Crown as rector of West Kirby, Cheshire (23 Mar 1639) and a William Langley who was ?presbyterian minister of Oldham (c1642/7).]

(1915, Ellastone) 5 ~~Langley. M.A. 1633 Cambridge, M.A. 1634 Oxford, son of William Langley of Berks (Foster, Venn).~~ Signed testimony 1648, described as a godly and orthodox divine by committee for plundered ministers, rector of Checkley QV, in Jul and August 1645, ~~rector of Cheadle 1649-51, resigned Cheadle~~ and Ellastone on his appointment in 1651 as joint minister at Lichfield QV. Appointed vicar of Ellastone 23 Dec 1645 by the aforesaid committee and approved of by the committee of the Assembly of Divines. (Add. MS. 15669 p537, 539) On 30 May 1646 the committee for plundered ministers found that this vicarage was worth but £20 pa, so it granted to Langley all the tithes of this rectory, worth £63 pa, sequestered from Sir Richard Fleetwood, less £13 payable therefrom by Langley to the State. (BodlMS 323 p266) On 6 Jun 1651 this committee varied this order by granting Langley two-thirds of these rectorial tithes, then said to be worth £80 pa, which had been sequestered from Sir Thomas Fleetwood papist, son and heir of the late Sir Richard. On 4 Aug 1652 this committee ordered this augmentation of £80 to be paid to Langley up to 29 Sep 1651 perhaps the exact date of his appointment to Lichfield. (BodlMS 328 p398; cf. 324 p257; S.P.Dom. Inter. F2 pt II p496, 555) [1915]
(1915, Lichfield) 74 Langley and Butler succeeded Tallent and Cleyton as joint ministers of Lichfield with the same salary [£150 each]. The committee (for the reformation of the universities?) first ordered them to receive it on 6 Aug 1651, having received a good certificate of their piety and fitness. (SionMS p494, 496) Further orders to pay this salary to them are recorded in LMS 976 p324, 518. On 3 March 1653.4 the trustees suspended Langley's salary in consequence of an order to that effect made by the Lord Protector and the Council of State at Whitehall (LMS 966 p2; 975 p353; SPDI LXVII 17, no 24), and despite his petition in 1655 (SPDI XCVII 109, nos 324, 325) no further augmentation seems to have been paid to him. In 1658 the trustees made a further enquiry about him, and on 1 Jun 1658 directed that as he had been approved by the commissioners their order of 3 Mar 1653.4 should not prevent his preaching elsewhere than in Lichfield, if the trustees should find him duly qualified according to Act of Parliament. (SPDI CLXXXI 53, no 19, and 66, no 12) Walker says that he was sequestered because he preached on Christmas day and administered the sacrament according to the Common Prayer Book. He was previously at Ellastone QV, ~~and Cheadle QV~~ For an account of his life and writings see Simms. For his successor here see St Chad's, Lichfield, Langley is said to have become minister at Wellington (Salop) and vicar of Stoke-upon-Tern (Salop) in 1666 (Foster). [1915]

William Langley [Chetham Society New Series 41 (1898) p239-41

~~Langley, Mr., of Edenfield.~~

~~He is doubtless the William Langley whose fragment of a biography is printed in vol. ciii. of the Chetham Society. He was born at Prestwich in 1596, his father [Thomas ?] being curate to his cousin William Langley, rector of Prestwich 1569-1611. He was educated at Manchester Grammar School and Brasenose College, Oxford; graduated M.A., and was chosen to read the Divinity Lecture.~~

~~In 1639, March 23, a William Langley was presented by the King to the rectory of West Kirby in Wirral. (See Lancashire and Cheshire Antiquarian Notes.) This man is not noticed in Ormerod (vol. ii. p. 486), who states that Thomas Glover (Langley's predecessor in West Kirby) was ejected in 1654. This appears to rest only on the statement of Walker, Sufferings, vol. ii. p. 249.~~

Whether Langley of Edenfield was the same with the above Langley of West Kirby is not discoverable, but he was most certainly the same as the William Langley, minister of Oldham, who signed the Protestation there in 1641-2.

The Oldham registers are very imperfect from 1640-8, and contain no references to him. He must have left Oldham before 1647, when Robert Constantine became minister. (See Manchester Classis.)

In 1648 a William Langley, minister of the gospel at Ellastone, signs the Testimony of the Staffordshire Ministers. "William Langley, maister of Artes, was put into the vicarage by the Parliament, anno dni., 1645, the 23 of December."

~~The Ellastone register contains entries of the baptism of a son of William Langley and Jane his wife on 22 July, 1648, and again in 1649. As the name of the wife of the Langley of these Minutes was undoubtedly Katherine, this Langley of Ellastone was evidently not identical.~~

~~In January, 1647-8, he appears as preaching at Edenfield, was summoned by the Classis, and contemptuously refusing to appear, was ordered to be complained of to a Justice of the Peace. As he still persisted in "usurping and acting at Edenfield," he was, in October, 1648, brought before the Classis by warrant of a Justice of the Peace, and plainly told the Classis that as a minister of the Church of England he considered himself at liberty to preach anywhere. It is probably to this period~~

~~that belong the disputes with the Presbyterian ministers in Manchester, which he refers to in his autobiography. (Supra, p. 5.)~~

~~He is doubtless the Mr. Langley who is noted in the Church Survey of 1650 as having, with several others, supplied the cure of Prestwich for the then past six years. (Record Society, vol. i. p. 14; Booker's Prest-wich.) The reference suggests many points of contact between him and John Lake.~~

~~He was rector of Cheadle, Stoke-on-Trent, in 1650. His name occurs in the register there as rector in 1650, 1651, and 1654. How long later is not certain. In 1659 Devereux Spencer appears as minister there. The Cheadle Register contain references to Langley's wife Katherine and the birth of a daughter Alice.~~

Walker (Sufferings, vol. ii. pp. 299, 419) identifies Langley of Edenfield with William Langley who was ejected from St. Mary's, Lichfield. Walker's conjecture is confirmed by a perusal of this latter Langley's Persecuted Minister, the second part of which is dedicated to Sir George Booth.

Langley appears to have gone to St. Mary's, Lichfield, some time before 1652, September, and to have been supplanted by John Butler before July 9, 1655, the date on which he signs the preface to the first part of the above work. (See Walker, ubi supra ; Calamy, Continuation, p. 774, where Walker's whole statement is strongly controverted.)

From the Dedicatory Epistle to his second work, as below, which was signed "from my study at Wellington, May 24, 1660," it may be supposed that Langley went to Wellington from Lichfield, and that he may have been there before the Restoration.

He was rector of Stoke-on-Tern in 1671 (? from 1666), and vicar of Wellington, Salop. He seems to have resided in his later years at Wellington, and his son Matthias (who was married to a wife Elizabeth) seems to have lived at Stoke. His name does not occur in the Wellington Register. He died at Wellington, and was buried there 1689, May 18.

He married Catherine, second daughter of Edmund Ashton of Chaderton, and is described in the pedigree as rector of Cheadle, Staffordshire (? 1664.) (Chetham Society, vol. lxxxiv. p. 18.)

One son, William, matriculated at Christ Church, Oxford, 1665, October 10, aged 17.

Another son, Matthias, matriculated at the same College, 1666, March 30, aged 16. (See Foster, Al. Ox., where he is identified with the Matthew Langley, vicar of Alrewas, co. Stafford, 1709.)

Another son, Deodatus, died at Lichfield, 1653, March 6, aged nine months and seventeen days.

A daughter, Jane, died there 1656, July 21, aged one year and eleven months. (Harwood's History of Lichfield, p. 464.)

Langley wrote

The Persecuted Minister, in Defence of the Ministerie, the Great Ordinance of Jesus Christ. Setting forth the several names of Apostles, Prophets, &c., (1)That there is a Ministerial Office, (2) That the Sacrament of Baptism by a layperson is invalid, (3) That necessity is no plea, (4) That the long omission of the Lord's Supper is unwarrantable. With many other things plainly and methodically handled. By William Langley, late of S. Maryes, in the city of Lichfield, minister. The first part . . . London. J. Royston. 1656. 4to, pp. xxiv. 180. [Second part at p. 101, with a separate title page.]

The Death of Charles the First lamented, with the Restauration of Charles the Second congratulated. Delivered in a Speech at the Proclaiming of our Gracious King at his town of Wellington, May 17, 1660. To which are added Short Reflexions of Government, Governours, and Persons Governed. The Duty of Kings and Subjects, the Unlawfulnesse of Resis-tence, with other things of moment and worthy consideration. ... Anthony Lapthorne, if possible, had an even lengthier record of persistent nonconformity. In 1605 he lost his royal chaplaincy and his rectory at Landrake in the diocese of Exeter for refusing subscription as required by the new canons; in 1606 he was presented for preaching without a license in Somerset, and in 1609 he was again in trouble, this time with James Montague, the bishop of Bath and Wells. When he was before the Court of High Commission in late 1631, it was on charges that since "his deprivation and displacing from the rectory of Minchinhampton in Gloucestershire [1618], from the lecture at Lewys in Sussex [1623], and from his lecture of Tamworth in Warwickshire, and namely about three years since he was promoted to the rectory of Treatire and Michaelchurch in the diocese of Hereford,... the said Anthony Lapthorne hath not usually read divine service, nor yet administered the sacraments according to the prescript form appointed in the Book of Common Prayer." In fact, when he read divine service and came to one of the Psalms or Lessons, he would 'leave off reading and fall to expounding the Psalms or Lessons in his reading desk, and that done to go up to the pulpit and then to begin his sermon, whereby the greatest part of the divine service is commonly omitted." Perceiving some of his parishioners to bow at the name of Jesus, he "left off reading and fell to revile the parties so bowing and told them they were worse than Papists and were plain idolaters," In addition he held a fast to which "foreigners" from outside the parish were invited whom Lapthorne termed "the children of God and told them that the reason of that fast was for that the Sunday following was appointed for Sundays during the year and twice yearly to administer the sacraments, according to Canon 56. Alexander Lawder M.A. (rector of Broom) c1627-1682 D71 Lawder, born about 1627, was probably of Scottish parentage. He studied at Edinburgh where he was a student at King James's College. At Edinburgh he graduated M.A. on 28 Jul 1648. Perhaps by 1657 he was head schoolmaster of Kinver Grammar School and was still in office when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 14 Aug 1662 (as a schoolmaster). On 21 Aug 1662 he was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield. Probably later in 1662 he resigned when - after presentation by William Hammerton (of Dunsley in Kinver) "gentleman" c1618-p1680 by right of his wife Catherine Coney dau of Sir Sutton Coney (? of South Stoke, Lincs) knight by right of her late husband Sir William Whorwood of Stourton in Kinver knight c1618-a1657 - he was instituted rector of Broom (in Worcester diocese). In 1665 the hearth tax for Clent & Broom constablewick was certified by Walter Wheeler (vicar of Clent) e1632-1669 QV and "Humfrey Waldron, Minister" (Lawder's presbyterian predecessor) was assessed on 4 hearths at Broom township. Still in office Lawder died, aged about 55, and was buried here on 31 Jan 1681.2. His will was proved under Worcester on 22 Mar 1681.2. Lawder married first 19 May 1657 at Kinver to Ann Hackett (d 1665) by whom he had 2 daughters. He married second on 5 Apr 1666 at Worcester St Swithin to Ann Smith by whom he had 5 sons and 2 daughters.

chn: Thomas Lawrence
Mary Lawrence
[4 other sons]

By late June [1646], in financial straits, he borrowed £10 from the vestry of St Lawrence Jewry, a Balliol living. In July the Wiltshire committee heard that he had observed ceremonies, set up an altar, forbidden psalm-singing, permitted a maypole, and allowed a bowling green and skittle alley to be used on Sundays. He had not visited Bemerton since before the war, though his wife had lived there. Laurence refused the covenant. Attempts to secure payment of his professorial arrears were ultimately unsuccessful and in January 1648 he was listed with sequestrated Wiltshire delinquents. One of few men of note to submit without formal reservation to the parliamentary visitors of Oxford in 1648, Laurence was allowed to resign his two offices and depart with hopes of ecclesiastical employment elsewhere. Soon afterwards, having sold his Woodstock property, he left Oxford. Colonel Valentine Walton, a parliamentarian whom he had assisted while a prisoner in royalist Oxford, relieved his needs and by 1652 secured him the chaplaincy of Colne, in the parish of Somersham, Huntingdonshire. By his will dated 2 November 1657 he bequeathed sums amounting to £150 between four younger sons, a nephew, and a niece, household goods at Colne and at Long Hanborough to his daughter Mary, the executrix, and the residue, including curiously his barber's case and instruments, to his eldest son, Thomas. Christopher Lee ?B.A. (?compliant minister of Penn) e1605-....

Lee, born perhaps about 1605, is of unknown parentage. [? He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1624 he was a pensioner at Magdalene College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. 1627.8. On 11 Apr 1629 he was ordained deacon and on 12 Apr 1629 ordained priest (both) by Peterborough st Peterborough.] By 30 Mar 1644 he was in office as ?compliant minister of Penn but was sequestered before 16 Dec 1646 when a successor was appointed. On 8 Apr 1647 his wife Sarah applied to the Committee for plundered ministers for a full fifth from the living. Lee married perhaps about 1638 to Sarah by whom he had 1 son and ?2 daughters. In 1649 "Christopher Lee, clerk" is the plaintiff in a court case regarding property at Forthampton, Glos. No further record has been discovered.

(30 Mar 1644, Penn) Elizebetha Lee filia Christopheri Lee Clerici ~~nata fuit~~ baptizata fuit tricesimo die Martii [in a different hand to others of this period]
(1649) Plaintiffs: Christopher Lee, clerk. Defendants: William Palmer, Edward Alcock, John Alcock, Thomas Burroughes, Joseph Colchester and James Colchester. Subject: property in Forthampton, Gloucestershire .[NA C 8/96/59]
(1915) seq. 1646 c. Chris Lee B.A.? or Sam Smith? 9 - 9 Smith. On 16 Dec 1646 the committee for plundered ministers reported that Samuel Smith, vicar of Penn, hath left or relinquished the said church. (Bodl MS 324 p177) On 8 Apr 1647 Sarah the wife of Christopher Lee, from whom the vicarage of Penn is sequestered, begs this committee to let her have the full clear fifths of the living for her maintenance. (Bodl MS 324 p425) The writer cannot reconcile these statements, but it seems more probable that Smith was the correct name of the vicar ~~and that he afterwards went to be minister at Kinver QV~~. Christopher Lee probably took his B.A. in 1627.8 from Magdalen College, Cambridge (Venn). [1915 p212]
(1921) Of the different hands which follow there are two certain instances of Christopher Lee's writing (being baptisms of his children, 1644-5, entered in Latin) and apparently there are others in 1652. [These entries have not been identified] Though removed in 1646 he therefore probably lingered in the neighbourhood. [Penn printed PR (1921) p iv]
[VENN] Christopher Lee. Matric. pens. from MAGDALENE, Easter, 1624; B.A. 1627-8. Ord. deacon (Peterb.) Apr. 11; priest, Apr. 12, 1629. Perhaps minister at Penn, Staffs., c. 1646. (Wm. Salt Arch. Soc., 1915.)

Francis Lee (parochial curate of Newborough) e1567-....

Lee, born perhaps about 1567, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. A man of his name was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 1597 when he was a stipendiary curate at Middleton, Warwicks - and perhaps in 1620 a stipendiary curate at Wombourne. Lee was in office as parochial curate of Newborough in 1620 and 1639 and may have been in office in 1641. No further record has been discovered.

Richard Lee M.A. (compliant minister of Wolverhampton) c1589-1647
Lee, born about 1589, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where in Jul 1606 he was a pensioner at Christ's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. probably in 1609.10 (M.A., 1613). He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before about 1622 when he was appointed public preacher of Wolverhampton and about the same time appointed prebendary of Wolverhampton Willenhall in succession to ●Joseph Hall (bishop of Norwich) 1574-1656 who later wrote "I resigned up the said prebend to a worthy preacher, Mr. Lee, who should constantly reside there, and painfully instruct that great and long neglected people: which he hath hitherto performed with great mutual contentment and happy success.". At Wolverhampton on 16 Oct 1624 Lee - styling himself "preacher of the word of God at Wolverhampton" - wrote an epistle dedicatory to a sermon (published in 1625) that he had preached at London St Paul's entitled The spirituall spring. A sermon preached at Pauls, wherein is declared the necessity of growing in grace, and the goodly gaine that comes thereby, &c. In the dedication he writes "I meane, to establish the preaching of Gods word in that place where I now dwel [Wolverhampton]. I never knew any part of this kingdome, where Romes snakie brood roosted & rested themselves more warmer and safer, and with greater countenance, then in our country ... ". About 15 Sep 1626 together with Jonas Grosvenor of Bushbury esquire c1554-1637 he presented Samuel Smith e1586-.... as vicar of Bushbury. Shortly before Apr 1635 ●Christopher Wren (dean of Windsor & Wolverhampton) complained to ●William Laud (archbishop of Canterbury) "that Mr. Lee's Carriage, was so Factious there [Wolverhampton], that he could contain him in no Order". On 27 Apr 1635 William Dell (Laud's secretary) wrote to Sir Nathaniel Brent who was about to undertake a metropolitan visitation ... "that you take speciall notice of one Mr Lee a Prebend there who hath been the Author of much disorder thereabouts, And if you can fasten upon any thing, whereby he may justly be censured, pray see it be done, and home, or bring him to the High Commission Court to answer it there, &c. But HOWEVER let him not obtain any License to Preach any Lecture there, or in another Exempt place hard by at Tetenshall, whither those of Wolverhampton do now run after him, out of their Parish; for the Church hath not much need of such men. If you speak with Mr Latham of Litchfield who is the Surrogate there, he will informe you more fully concerning this Businesse. That he (the said Mr Lee) hath Churched Refractory Women in private &c. That he is averse to all good Orders of the Church. As also that in another place thereabouts they caused a Bell-man in open Market to make Proclamation for a Sermon, &c.". Soon after, Laud suspended Lee as a public preacher. Later it was said that Lee was "a godly and orthodox divine, who had been a prebendary here and as such had been a consistent, diligent and painful preacher in the parish church till he was suspended by archbp Laud". In 1644 at Laud's trial the prosecution misquoted Dell's letter - stating that he wrote "That - whether there were Cause or no, - they should either punish Mr. Lee, or bring him into the High-Commission". (Laud was executed on 10 Jan 1644.5.) Later in 1635 after his suspension at Wolverhampton Lee was elected by the parishioners as lector of Shrewsbury St Julian where he is also said to have also served as "curate" in 1641. On 20 Mar 1636.7 Lee was still in office as prebendary and in May 1639 is said to have leased the prebend to his brother Leonard Lee. On 15 Jan 1639.40 after presentation by Sir John Coke of Melbourne, Derbys knight 1563-1644 - whose second wife was Joan Lee daughter of Sir John Lee of London alderman - he was instituted vicar of Melbourne, Derbys. And, on 26 Sep 1643 after presentation by Humphrey Burnaby 0f Waver, Warwicks gentleman c1575-.... he was, plurally, instituted rector of Rugby, Warwicks. In 1643 a contemporary clergyman and namesake Richard Lee c1612-1684 (then an M.A. and later rector of Hatfield, Herts) was appointed compliant minister of London St Martin Orgar rectory and in 1644 compliant minister of London Shoreditch vicarage. The two Lees appear to have been confused in contemporary accounts. From 5 Feb 1643.4 his prebend was abolished (although his brother apparently still held the lease in May 1647) but he likely continued as compliant minister of Melbourne and Rugby. About Jun 1646 he was, jointly, appointed compliant minister of Wolverhampton (where the parish register is in his handwriting) and on 10 Jun the Committee for plundered ministers granted him £100 per annum from the sequestered estate of Colonel Thomas Leveson. Likely still in office at Melbourne, Rugby and Wolverhampton, Lee died, aged about 58, probably shortly after 9 Jun 1647. His will made on 9 Jun 1647 was proved under PCC on 1 Jun 1650. He bequeathed his son John "all my books (except phisick Bookes)" and his daughter Sarah Cupper "the some of six pounds ... to buy her a paire of virginalls [a keyboard musical instrument]". Lee married first to a woman by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. He married second on 16 Jul 1629 at Mansfield, Notts to Mary Brunts by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. John Lee M.A. (minister of Oxford St Peter-in-the-East) c1620-.... (who was a fellow of Merton College, Oxford until ejected by the parliamentary visitors in 1648) was his first son.

Prynne among Sir John Lambes Papers.

(27 Apr 1635) Letter from William Dell - secretary to ●William Laud (archbishop of Canterbury) - t0 Sir Nathaniel Brent Worthy SIR, THE Church and Colledge of Wolverhampton in the Diocesse of Litchfield, is an Appendix to the Deane of Windsor; who by Charter of Edward the fourth is both Patron and Ordinary, cum omnimoda jurisdictione. And in that regard, though they have not been visited by any time out of mind, yet now he is content to hy by the Balls and Charters of Exemption, and to admit of my Lords Metropolitan visitation. But with all he hath made this humble suit to my Lords Grace, that if you visit that Church and Colledge, they may not be summoned out of their own Jurisdiction, but rather that in your way from Litchfield to Shrewsbury, your visitation may be held in that very Place, it being a goodly Collegiate Church, and every way fit for it ~ note: Might you not be there on Munday May 18 ~ In which my Lord wills you by all means to give Mr Dean content in what may conveniently be done. And whereas his Grace is informed that the Place is much given to Faction, and that the last Summer there were some very good Chapter Acts, and other Orders made by my Lord the Bishop of Hereford, then Dean, to settle things there in a Church way, and to curbe the insolency of some men, who since, upon occasion of this my Lords Visitation are bold to give it out, that they will have all reversed &c. His Grace hath commanded me to signifie his expresse plessure to you, That no former Act made by the Chapter there, nor any Order appointed by the Deane, be reverted, or any wayes altered, without first acquainting his Grace therewith. And that you take speciall notice of one Mr Lee a Prebend there who hath been the Author of much disorder thereabouts, And if you can fasten upon any thing, whereby he may justly be censured, pray see it be done, and home, or bring him to the High Commission Court to answer it there, &c. But HOWEVER let him not obtain any License to Preach any Lecture there, or in another Exempt place hard by at Tetenshall, whither those of Wolverhampton do now run after him, out of their Parish; for the Church hath not much need of such men. Upon this Letter, Mr Leigh was suspended by Sir Nathaniel Brent, as appears by an Abstract of the Metropoliticall Visitationn delivered by Sir Nathaniel to the Archbishop, who thus endorsed it with his own hand. (1695) 3. The Third Answer was concerning Mr. Lee of Wolverhampton, The Evidence was a Letter of my Secretary Mr. Dell, written by my Command, to my Visitors there, to this Effect, "That whether there were Cause or no, they should either punish Mr. Lee, or bring him into the High-Commission". Had the Words or the Sense been thus, they might well say, It was hard for the Judge before whom the Party was to Answer, to write thus. But I called to have the Letter read again, and the Words were these, "If there were found against him that which might justly be Censured, then they should punish, &c". And the Reason why this strict care was taken, was because the Dean of Windsor his Ordinary complained unto me, that Mr. Lee's Carriage, was so Factious there, that he could contain him in no Order. If he were a Man after this approved at Shrewsbury (as Mr. Walker witnesses) I hope the Proceedings at Wolverhampton did him good. But, my Lords, had it so fallen out, that my Secretary had forgotten my Instructions, and himself too, and expressed himself amiss, shall that slip of his, (had it been such) be imputed to me? I believe your Lordships would not willingly answer for every Phrase of your Secretaries Letters, which yet you command them to write. [The history of the troubles and tryal of William Laud ... (1915, Willenhall Prebend]) Inst. c1622 or 1623 died 1650 Richard Lee 72 - 72 Lee. Hall [●Joseph Hall (Bishop of Norwich) 1574-1656] writes in his Life (1824 edn. p. liv) that he resigned this prebend in favour of "a worthy preacher, Mr Lee, who should constantly reside there, and painfully instruct that great and long neglected people, which he hath hitherto performed with great mutual contentment and happy success." Lee appears here as "publike preacher" in 1623 (Mander p98); his "sermon preached at Pauls" printed in 1625, and a reference to him as Secondary of the Poultry Compter in 1627 (ibid. 107) [cannot find this reference] point to activities farther afield. Patron of Bushbury in 1626. See note 89. [1915 p331 344]
(1915, Willenhall) cJun 1646 res. end of May 1647 Richard Lee 89 - 89 Lee, See note 72. On 10 Jun 1646 the committee for plundered ministers granted him £100 per annum from the sequestered estate of Colonel Thomas Leveson and stated that he was a godly and orthodox divine, who had been a prebendary here and as such had been a consistent, diligent and painful preacher in the parish church till he was suspended by archbp Laud, while the rest of the prebendaries neglected their cures there. (Bodl MS 323 p266b; S. P Dom. 123 p83) His handwriting is noticeable in the parish register from the beginning of Aug 1646 until the end of May 1647. His brother, Leonard, was "enjoying" the lease of his prebend of Willenhall from May 1639 till May 1647 when the Chancery proceedings Lee v. Bradney commenced. His son, John, was ejected from his fellowship of Merton College by the Parliamentary visitors in 1648 (Foster). His will is dated 9 Jun 1647; pr. PCC 1650, 96 Pembroke; it is chiefly of family interest, but the bequest of a sum to purchase a pair of virginals which he had promised his daughter should absolve him from too Puritanical leanings. [1915 p332 347]
(1960) Richard Lee, who succeeded Joseph Hall, Dean of Worcester, in his prebend of Willenhall in 1623, was an able preacher but outspoken. He promised the town (in his rare printed sermon of 1624 {fn. S.T.C. 15354. Copy in W.S.L., Stafford} a 'Spirituall Spring' and endeared himself to members of the old faith, of which there were locally twenty families of importance, by remarking: "I never knew any part of this Kingdom, where Rome's snakie brood roosted and rested themselves more warmer and safer, and with greater countenance". However, Archbishop Laud had a rod in pickle for him. [p61] ... and Hall [●Joseph Hall (Bishop of Norwich) 1574-1656] in pity of the destitution of so many thousand souls at Wolverhampton, resigned his prebend in favour of Mr. Richard Lee (another Calvinist) 'who should constantly reside there, and painfully instruct that great and long neglected people'. [p71] ... Laud also remembered Lee's low-church views and how he was 'schismatical and seditious'. 'If', he added, 'you can fasten upon anything whereby he may justly be censured, pray see it be done.' Mr. Latham, of Lichfield, could give details of offence: but one of the things that so shocked the Archbishop was Mr. Lee's 'causing a bellman in open market to make proclamation for a sermon'. (Tch!) In the end, Mr. Lee was suspended. {fn. W. Antiquary I 307} [Wolverhampton Antiquary I (1933)] (This action was thought harsh and held against the Archbishop at his trial.) {fn. Canterbury's Doom, 1645 edition p380} [p72-3] ... THE Dean of Wolverhampton had been abolished by Act of Parliament of 8th June 1649. The estate was taken over by the Committee for Plundered Ministers with a clear conscience, for the tenant, Colonel Leveson, now in exile, had been a papist in arms against the Parliament. There were many claimants for its funds. Mr. Richard Lee, a godly and orthodox divine, one of the prebendaries and a constant, diligent and faithful preacher at the parish church (until silenced by the archbishop) was one of the first to benefit, and for the last two years of his life had received £100 instead of f40. Mr. Ambrose Sparry, a godly and orthodox divine, was chosen to succeed him and William Kimberley was made his assistant at £50 per annum, who should have the house and yard "commonly called the Sexton's House." [ODNB, under Nathaniel Lee] Richard Lee, D.D. The latter was educated at Cambridge (B. A. St, John's College, 1632), showed some taste for music, took holy orders, accepted the solemn league and covenant, and adnered through the civil wars to the parliament. By order of parliament he became rector of St. Martin's Orgar, London, in 1643, and an ordainer of ministers on the presbyterian model in 1644 (cf. Journal of the House of Commons, iii. 630). Preferment was liberally bestowed on him. He held at the same time the rectories of Hatfield, Hertfordshire (from 1647), of Little Gaddesden (from 1655}, and of Berkhampstead, St. Peter (from 1656), esides the mastership of Royston Hospital, Leicester, from 1650. He became chaplain to Monck, duke of Albemarle, and conformed after the Restoration. In 1663, in St. Mary's Church, Cambridge, and at St. Paul's Cathedral (29 Nov.), he preached a sermon—published with the title 'Cor Humiliatum et Contritum'—in which he recanted all his earlier opinions and confessed remorse for having taken the covenant, and for having expressed approval of Charles I's death. Robert Wilde, the presbyterian poet, satirised this change of front in a poem entitled 'Recantation of Penitent Proteus, or the Changeling.' 1664. Richard Lee died at Hatfield in 1684, aged 73, and was buried in the chancel of the church there. The Hatfield registers contain entries of the baptisms of his sons Daniel (b. 1652), Richard (b. 1655), John, y^{e} 10th child' (b. 1662), and Emmanuel, 'his sixt sonn* (b. 1667). The son Richard was vicar of Abbots Langley from 27 Oct. 1691 to 15 Sept. 1699, and rector of Essendon from 1699 till his death in 1725, at the age of seventy. An older son than any of these was named Samuel.

William Leech (?presbyterian minister of Stone) e1622-1655
Leech, born perhaps about 1622, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1651.2 when he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Stone independent parochial chapelry. Still in office he died, aged perhaps about 33, and was buried here on 2 Mar 1654.5. Leech married perhaps about 1652 to a woman by whom he had 1 daughter.

Thomas Lees (independent curate of Wetton) e1640-1683 H72
Lees, born perhaps about 1640, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. He was in office as schoolmaster of Kingsley parish school when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity (as a schoolmaster) on 28 Aug 1662 (four days late). In Sep 1664 and then schoolmaster of Wetton parish school he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and licensed as a preacher (both) by Lichfield. On 1 Aug 1665 he was in office as independent curate of Wetton. That year he did not certify the hearth tax for Wetton constablewick and was not assessed there. He was likely still in office on 31 Dec 1665 but probably by 1670 was dependent curate of Fulford where he was also schoolmaster of the parish school. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 43, and was buried on 15 Jul 1683 at Draycott-in-the-Moors. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 28 Sep 1683. His personalty was valued at £93/18/0 and included "In the Studie - It[em] one deske one box & one chare & quishen - and all his Bookes & ?shelves £15". Lees married (? on 29 Dec 1670 at Stone) to Elizabeth (?Nabbs) by whom he probably had 1 son.

Leeves, born about 1621, was a younger son of William Leeves of Wimborne, Dorset c1586-.... He studied at Oxford where on 24 Mar 1636.7 he was a student at St Edmund Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 14 Dec 1641 (M.A., 5 Jul 1644). He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 30 May 1654 when after presentation by Gerard Skrymsher of Aqualate in Forton esquire c1605-1666 he was approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Forton rectory. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector. On 10 Sep 1660 he was ordained (? deacon and) priest by Oxford pro Lichfield. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1/10/0. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 26 Sep 1662 (33 days late). In Oct 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £60. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Meretown-cum-Forton constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths. Still in office he died, aged about 52, and was buried here on 17 Mar 1672.3. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 3 Apr 1673. His personalty was valued at £651/10/6 and included "In the study & thereabouts his ready money plate wearing apparell and books £60". Leeves may not have married. Robert Leeves (rector of Warminghurst, Sussex) c1616-1693 was an older brother.

Joseph Leigh (vicar of Hanbury) c1594-1642

Leigh, born about 1594, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 28 May 1614 he was a sizar at Sidney Sussex College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1616.7 (M.A., 1620). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 1618 when he was a stipendiary curate at Slaidburn, Yorks West Riding and was licensed to teach. During 1620 he was a stipendiary curate at Clifton Campville. On 20 Jan 1619.20 he was collated by the bishop of Lichfield then Thomas Morton 1564-1639 vicar of Duffield, Derbys. On 11 Jul 1620 his M.A. was incorporated at Oxford. At Duffield he probably resigned before 7 Nov 1620 when he was collated by the bishop of Lichfield (Morton) vicar of Hanbury. Here he appears to have resigned before 30 Jun 1631 when after presentation by the Crown qua guardian of the minor Sir John Harpur knight [? of Swarkeston, Derbys 1612-1679] he was instituted rector of Egginton, Derbys. On 17 Sep 1631 (having received a dispensation for plurality on 3 Sep) he was a second time collated by the bishop of Lichfield (Morton) vicar of Hanbury. On 18 Sep 1639 he was (for an unknown reason) a third time collated by the bishop of Lichfield then Robert Wright c1560-1643 vicar of Hanbury. Still in office at Egginton and Hanbury he died, aged about 48, and was buried on 13 Jan 1641.2 at Egginton. Leigh married in 1625 to Sarah Adderley (b 1601) dau of Richard Adderley of Coton-under-Needwood in Hanbury esquire c1557-a1641 (no known children). Joseph Leigh's predecessor as rector of Egginton was George Leigh 1591-1631 posthumous son of Thomas Leigh of Egginton esquire c1530-1591 and Joseph may well have been their kinsman. As a pluralist Leigh appears to have lived in Egginton and as required appointed (assistants) stipendiary curates-in-charge at Hanbury. These included Michael Henshaw c1598-1638 (served 1636-8) and John Presbury c1599-1657 QV (served 1638-?1642) who was later compliant minister of Hanbury. [NB: Joseph Lee (rector of Cotesbach, Leics) c1620-?1694 was a contemporary clergyman.]

The episcopal chapel dedicated to St Leonard was rebuilt in 1825 at a cost of £9,235 of which sum the parliamentary commissioners granted £550 and the remainder was raised by a rate levied on the inhabitants. It is a neat edifice with a tower containing eight bells, and has 1,200 sittings of which 731 are free. The living is a perpetual curacy in the gift of the inhabitants, every householder both male and female being entitled to vote at the election of the minister. The present incumbent is the Rev. ... it was during a journey from London to Sherburn in early July 1577 that he died on the road at Ware. He was buried in the chancel of the chapel of Sherburn Hospital, under a blue marble stone carved with a cross, a bible, a chalice, and an epitaph recalling the most influential years of his life: 'Thomas Leaver Preacher to King Edward the Sixte. He died in July 1577.' His brother, Ralph Lever, succeeded him as master of the hospital on 16 July. [ODNB]

Thomas Lewis B.A. (presbyterian minister of Bloxwich) c1628-....
Lewis, born about 1628 in Wiltshire, is of unknown parentage. He was educated at Heddington, Wilts. He studied at Cambridge where on 3 Jul 1645 he was admitted to Peterhouse, Cambridge and in 1646, as a sizar, matriculated. By 1648 he had migrated to St John's College, Oxford. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 9 Mar 1648.9. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1652 when, probably after appointment by St John's College, he was in office as presbyterian minister of Bloxwich independent ~~parochial curacy~~ and thus master of Bloxwich endowed school. No further record has been discovered.

Samuel Girdlestone Lewis c 7 Dec 1848 -----; (aged 2) 1851 C; (aged 12) 1861 C; (at Cambridge) 1 Jun 1869 [see VENN]

We've been contacted by a descendant of William Lewis, his son William Alfred Howell Lewis, and the latter's son John Trower Lewis. Her family's research has the first William's wife as Jane Matilda Smith, daughter of Charles Smith, a locksmith, and his wife Susannah (Foster). It's believed that this William's father was another William, who came from Oldbury (as you probably know, next to Halesowen, where Revd William was born), but she hasn't verified this.

LIGHTFOOT

John Lightfoot D.D. (rector of Ashley) 1602-1675 D74
Lightfoot, born 29 Mar 1602, was 2nd son of Thomas Lighfoot (vicar of Uttoxeter) c1572-1653 and Elizabeth (Bagnall). He was educated at Moreton Green near Congleton, Cheshire under Thomas Whitehead. He studied at Cambridge where in Jul 1617 he was a sizar at Christ's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1620.1 (M.A., 1624) (D.D., St Catharine's Hall, 1651). From 1621 to 1623 he was an assistant schoolmaster of Repton Grammar School, Derbys. On 22 Sep 1622 he was ordained deacon and on 21 Sep 1623 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. In 1626 he was appointed chaplain to Sir Rowland Cotton of Bellaport in Norton-in-Hales, Salop knight c1577-1634 and was likely a stipendiary curate at Norton-in-Hales. From 1627 to 1629 he was a stipendiary curate at Stone and from 1629 to 1630 he was resident at Hornsey, Middx. On 15 Sep 1630 after presentation by Sir Rowland Cotton he was instituted rector of Ashley. Probably about Apr 1642 the House of commons chose Lightfoot to be one of two Staffordshire representatives on the W*estminster assembly of divines* (which held meetings between 1643 and 1653). He is said to have moved to London in 1642. In 1643 Lightfoot was a lecturer at London St Bartholomew-by-the-Exchange and on 16 Apr 1643 Robert Marchenton e1613-1654 was in office as stipendiary curate-in-charge at Ashley. Under An act against the enjoying of pluralities ... (16 Jan 1642.3) Lightfoot probably resigned at Ashley shortly before Feb 1643.4 when he was in office as compliant minister of Great Munden, Herts. At Ashley during the presbyterian intrusion his brother Samuel Lightfoot 1610-1651 QV was compliant minister in Aug 1644 and another brother Josiah Lightfoot c1608-1684 QV from 1645 to 1660. In 1650 John was appointed master of St Catharine's Hall, Cambridge and in 1654-5 was acting vice-chancellor of the university. At Great Munden in early Jun 1660 he probably continued as de jure rector but following An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) he appears to have been removed. However on 13 Dec 1660 after presentation by the Crown he was (again) instituted rector of Great Munden. By the same act he was, plurally, restored as rector of Ashley and thus displaced his brother Josiah Lightfoot. However since John was not resident his brother Josiah continued in office as stipendiary curate-in-charge. Lightfoot subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 21 Jul 1662. In 1665 the (Ashley) rectory was valued at £40. In 1665 his brother Josiah certified the hearth tax for Ashley constablewick and was assessed on 7 hearths. On 22 Jan 1667.8 John Lightfoot was appointed 2nd prebendary of Ely. Still in office at Ashley, Ely and Great Munden Lightfoot died, aged 73, on 6 Dec 1675 at Ely but was buried on 9 Dec at Great Munden. An inscribed monument (with the arms of Lightfoot and Crompton) read "In Memoriam Johannis Lightfoot Dec 6 AD 1675 aet 72". His will made on 23 Sep 1675 was proved under PCC on 29 Dec 1675. The value of his personalty is undiscovered but in his will he made bequests of over £500. Lightfoot married first 21 May 1628 to Joyce Crompton (c1597-?1656) dau of William Crompton of "Stone Park", Stone esquire c1543-?1600 and widow of George Copwood of Dilhorne c1570-1626 by whom he had 4 sons and 2 daughters. He married second about 1658 Ann (d a1675) widow of Austin Brograve. John Lightfoot (a minister) 1631-1661 was his first son, Anastasius Cotton Jackson Lightfoot (vicar of Thundridge, Herts) 1635-1671 was his third son whilst his daughter Joyce was the wife of John Duckfield M.A. (rector of Aspenden, Herts) c1625-1685. Lightfoot was a hebrew and theological scholar and author of many books which include Erubhin, or, miscellanies christian and judaicall (1629), works on Exodus (1643) and Acts (1645), Harmony of the foure evangelists (1644-1658), Horae hebraicae et talmudicae (1658) and, the posthumous, Opera omnia (1686). Lightfoot's theological beliefs were complex. Ordained into the anglican church he was later a committed presbyterian and later still (apparently) a committed anglican. [and see ODNB]

[ODNB] Lightfoot, John (1602–1675), Hebraist and biblical scholar, was born at home on 29 March 1602 in Stoke-on-Trent, the second son of Thomas Lightfoot (1577?–1658 [recte 1653]), vicar of Uttoxeter, Staffordshire, for thirty-six years, and Elizabeth Bagnall (1566?–1637). Both his parents had been born near by—his father at Shelton, his mother at Bagnall. Lightfoot had four brothers: Thomas (the eldest), a merchant; Peter, a physician; and Josiah and Samuel, both clergymen. When his father took up a living at Barthomley, John attended grammar school nearby at Moreton-Green, near Congleton, Cheshire, under Mr Thomas Whitehead. In July 1617 he matriculated from

LETTER LXXIX. Mr. Edge to the Rev. Mr. Duckfield {fn: Dr. Lightfoot's son-in-law, and one of his executors } [John Duckfield M.A. (rector of Aspenden, Herts) c1625-1685] Uttoxeter, Oct. 8th, 1677. IT pleased God to strike my neighbour Mr. Peter Lightfoot with sickness, before the letter came to his hands; thereof he died Aug. 16th. The contents of the letter he was pleased to impart to me, and some things with much ado I got from him, which may be a little light to you in writing of the doctor's life. Dr. John Lightfoot was born at Stoke-upon-Trent, in the rector-house (of the best parsonage in this county of Stafford), March 29th, An. Dom. 1602 (near the time when that great princess Queen Elizabeth left this world). His father, Mr. Thomas Lightfoot, was born at a little village called Shelton, in the same parish of Stoke, - a worthy father of a worthy son. The father, my pious predecessor, I need give no further account of, than what is contained in his epitaph, which we have in this church of Uttoxeter, a copy whereof is herein enclosed: only let me remark this of the doctor's mother, that she was of the family of the Bagnalls, three of which family were created knights by Queen Elizabeth, for their martial prowess and valour in the then wars in Ireland against the rebels. The doctor being competently grown up, was sent to school to the famous Mr. Thomas Whitehead, then teaching at Moreton Green, in Cheshire (at which Moreton, lives the worthy family of the Bellots, now baronets); Mr. Thomas Lightfoot then living at Barsemley, in the said county of Cheshire. There the doctor made very good progress in learning, and from thence was sent up to Christ's-College, Cambridge: who his tutor was I cannot certainly tell, but guess he was Dr. William Chappell, afterwards bishop in Ireland. When graduated, the doctor coming down into the country, was shortly afterward settled in the house of Sir Rowland Cotton, of Bellaport, in Shropshire: there the doctor laid his foundation of rabbinical learning. Sir Rowland was a worthy gentleman, one who (as I have heard Mr. Peter Lightfoot say) was excellently well versed in the Hebrew language at eight years of age, having been brought up under the wing of the renowned Mr. Hugh Broughton. Whilst in that house (as I take it), the doctor grew acquainted and married the widow Mrs. Copwood, a branch of the worshipful family of the Cromptons of Stone, in this county of Stafford. And now, Sir, having brought down the history so far, I suppose, Sir, your virtuous wife can inform of other passages; how he was settled at Ashley, afterward called up to London to the Assembly : but these things I leave to other hands. I have faithfully related what came to my knowledge; if defective, I crave your pardon, and I am, Sir, Your assured friend and loving brother, MICHAEL EDGE. --- Dr. John Lightfoot was the son of Thomas Lightfoot, vicar of Uttoxeter, in Staffordshire. His schoolmaster was one Mr. Whiteall, near Congerton, in Derbyshire: his master soon found him an excellent grammarian. From thence he was removed to Christ's-College in Cambridge, where he was under the care and tuition of Dr. Chappell (afterwards bishop of Cork in Ireland). He had not been there long, but his tutor was pleased to say to some of the heads of the university, that he had a young pupil, meaning Lightfoot, whom he thought the best orator of all the undergraduates in town. He understood the Greek and Latin tongues very well. But after a short stay, but an extraordinary proficiency in all he undertook - unless it was logic, which he could never much fancy, for his quiet genius could never agree with that quarrelsome science - he was forced to leave the university, and came to be an assistant to his former master in Rippon in Derbyshire; where he mightily improved himself in the Greek tongue, and also began to fancy the study of the Hebrew. His conversation was as pleasing to the master of the school, as his mildness was to the boys. After a short time, he was preferred to be chaplain to that worthy gentleman, Sir Rowland Cotton, of Bellaport, in Shropshire, where he was seriously set to the study of the language, being mightily ashamed that Sir Rowland, a country gentleman, should so baffle him in the tongues; so that in short time he was master not only of the Hebrew, but some other languages. His gentle carriage made him dear to all that family, but especially to Sir Rowland, who, out of a pure principle of encouraging virtue and learning, preferred him to the rectory of Ashley in Staffordshire. Josiah Lightfoot (compliant minister of Ashley) c1608-1684 B122

Lightfoot, born about 1608 (probably in Staffs), was 4th son of Thomas Lighfoot (later vicar of Uttoxeter) c1572-1653 and Elizabeth (Bagnall). He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 5 Mar 1630.1 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and that year was appointed stipendiary curate of Ashley to assist the rector - his older brother John Lightfoot D.D. 1602-1675. On 29 May 1635 he was ordained priest by Chester pro Lichfield. In 1637 he was appointed ?parochial curate of Marton in Prestbury, Cheshire. About Feb 1643.4 John Lightfoot resigned at Ashley and about Aug 1644 another brother Samuel Lightfoot 1610-1651 was apparently in office as compliant minister. By Mar 1644.5 Josiah was in office as compliant minister of Ashley rectory presumably having resigned at Marton. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector of Ashley but about Sep 1660 he was displaced in office by his brother John who re-appointed him as stipendiary curate-in-charge. About Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1/10/0. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Ashley constablewick and was assessed on 7 hearths. On 6 Dec 1675 John Lighfoot (still rector of Ashley) died and on 8 Jan 1675.6 Josiah's son and namesake Josiah Lightfoot 1651-1684 was instituted rector and inducted by his father on 22 Jan 1675.6. Josiah (senior) died, aged about 76, at Ashley and was buried there on 24 Aug 1684. His will made on 11 Jun 1684 was proved under Lichfield on 18 Oct 1684. In his will he wrote "[to] sonne John one Geneva Bible and two Silver Seales ... sonne Josiah all my lattin bookes, Cottons Concordance, And Bernards fesaurus Biblicus: And the Rest of my English books to be equally divided Amongst John and Thomas and there five Sisters, my wife takeing her Choice first. His personalty was valued at £47/13/0 and included "His Library £5". He married on 4 May 1636 at Leek to Catherine Stables (d 1692) by whom he had 3 sons and 8 daughters. Josiah Lightfoot (junior) died shortly after his father and was buried at Ashley on 17 Nov 1684.

Samuel Lightfoot M.A. (compliant minister, Ashley, Staffs) 1610-1651
Lightfoot, born at Barthomley, Cheshire and christened there on 9 Sep 1610, was 5th son of Thomas Lighfoot (later vicar of Uttoxeter) c1572-1653 QV and Elizabeth (Bagnall). He was educated at Repton School, Derbys under Mr Whitehead. He studied at Cambridge where on 28 Jun 1628 he was admitted as a sizar at Clare College but on 18 Feb 1628.9 migrated to Christ's College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1631.2 (M.A., 1635). He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before his appointment as an usher at Nottingham Grammar School where he is said to have been in office from 1630 to 1636. On 2 Mar 1637 after presentation by Isham Parkyns of Bunny, Notts esquire 1601-1671 he was instituted vicar of Bunny. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued here as compliant minister. In Aug 1644 Samuel was briefly compliant minister of Ashley rectory from which his brother John Lightfoot 1602-1675 had resigned about Feb 1643.4. By Mar 1644.5 another brother Josiah Lightfoot was in office as compliant minister here. At Bunny Samuel is said to have been a "preaching minister" in 1650. He died, aged about 41, and was buried at Bunny on 6 May 1651. The entry in the parish register is said to have styled him "parish clerk". Lightfoot may not have married.

The youngest son of the Rev Thomas Lightfoot was Samuel who was a member of Christ's College Cambridge and took the degree of BA in 1631 and MA in 1635 and entered into holy orders but died young. His signature occurs in the Ashby[sic] register as curate in the year 1632 but where else he exercised his ministry and the place and date of his death have not been ascertained. $Thomas Lightfoot (compliant minister of Uttoxeter) c1572-1653
Lightfoot, born about 1572 at Shelton in Stoke-upon-Trent, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. Probably in early 1597 he was ordained deacon (? and priest) and on 13 Sep 1597 was in office as a stipendiary curate at Stoke-upon-Trent where his salary was between £10 and £13/6/8. By 1610 he was in office as a stipendiary curate at Barthomley, Cheshire. On 26 Mar 1617 after presentation by the dean & chapter of Windsor he was instituted vicar of Uttoxeter. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Apparently a committed presbyterian, Lightfoot signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Thomas Lightfoote Pastor of Uttoxator". On 10 Sep 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted Lightfoot an augmentation of £25 to his annual salary of £30 (confirmed by the Committee for the universities) which was paid until his death. Still in office he died, aged 81, on 2 Jul 1653 and was buried here on the same day. An inscribed monument was placed in the church (below). His will made on 27 Feb 1651.2 (codicil, 4 Aug 1652) was proved under PCC on 16 Feb 1655.6. Lightfoot married about 1599 to Elizabeth Bagnall (?c1566-1637) by whom he had 5 sons and 2 daughters. John Lightfoot D.D. (rector of Ashley) 1602-1675 QV was his second son, Peter Lightfoot of Uttoxeter physician c1606-1677 his third son, Josiah Lightfoot (compliant minister of Ashley) c1608-1684 QV his fourth son and Samuel Lightfoot M.A. (compliant minister of Ashley) 1610-1651 QV his fifth son. Close to death Lightfoot wrote a latin verse intended as his epitaph:

> Olim superstes nunc defunctus alloquitor amicos suos, qui in vivis sunt. --- En mea tam multis pupis quassata porcellis, | Nune tendam, portum, practa quietis habet. | Nil scopulos ultra bibulas nil curat armas. | Istius aut mundi quæ mare monstra parit, | Namque mare est mundus puppis vaga corpus obumbrat, | Atque animam siquat navita quisque suam | Portum quem petimus calum est ; sed ea aura salutis, | Quæ navem impellit, spiritus ille Dei est, | Solvite felices igitur portum que tenete, | Post ærumnosi tuo biba demua maris. | Sed non ante datur portum contingere quam | Fracta per undosum vestra carina mare.

The inscription on his monument at Uttoxeter read(s);

(1824) JOHN LIGHTFOOT, D.D., MASTER OF ST. CATHERINE'S COLLEGE, CAMBRIDGE, was the son of the Rev. Thomas Lightfoot, Vicar of Uttoxeter, in the County of Stafford, a man not to be named without a preface of honour and respect. He [Thomas Lightfoot] was born in the little village called Shelton, in the parish of Stoke-upon-Trent. He was a man of exemplary piety, and of indefatigable industry, and was one of the greatest examples of the last age for his constant care of those souls which were committed to his charge. This he showed by his constant preaching, and diligent instruction and catechising of the youth of his parish, from which his preaching did not excuse him. He was a burning and shining light, and showed his love to his Great Lord and Master by the unwearied care of his sheep. He was in Holy Orders six-and-fifty years, and thirty-six years Vicar of Uttoxeter, above named. He died July 2nd, A.D. 1658, and in the eighty-first year of his age. The Rev. Thomas Lightfoot married Miss Elizabeth Bagnall, as already remarked, a gentlewoman of very good family in Staffordshire, three of whose family were made Knights by Queen Elizabeth, for their martial prowess and valour in the then wars in Ireland against the rebels. She was a woman of exemplary piety, and died January 24th, A.D. 1636, at the age of seventy-one years. The inscription on the Rev. Thomas Lightfoot's monument in Uttoxeter Church was written by his son, Peter Lightfoot, the physician, as stated, and furnished to Strype by the Rev. Michael Edge, then Vicar of Uttoxeter, who printed it with the life of Dr. Lightfoot, in the folio edition of his works. The monument still exists in Uttoxeter Church. Strype also adds, as a curioso, an epitaph, which the same Rev. Thomas Lightfoot had prepared for himself, and which was found in his study after his decease. This I subjoin, to let the world see somewhat as well of the pious and heavenly breathing mind, as the scholarship of that man from whom our doctor was derived:- "Olim superstes nunc defunctus alloquitor amicos suos, qui in vivis sunt. --- En mea tam multis pupis quassata porcellis, | Nune tendam, portum, practa quietis habet. | Nil scopulos ultra bibulas nil curat armas. | Istius aut mundi quæ mare monstra parit, | Namque mare est mundus puppis vaga corpus obumbrat, | Atque animam siquat navita quisque suam | Portum quem petimus calum est ; sed ea aura salutis, | Quæ navem impellit, spiritus ille Dei est, | Solvite felices igitur portum que tenete, | Post ærumnosi tuo biba demua maris. | Sed non ante datur portum contingere quam | Fracta per undosum vestra carina mare." [The whole works of the Rev. John Lightfoot ... Volume XIII (1824) p460-2]
(1915) 9 Lightfoot. Born c1578; ordained c1602, curate of Stoke 1602-6?; a preacher, no degree (1602-4 returns); married Elizabeth Bagnall (she died 24 Jan 1636.7); father of Dr John Lightfoot, the well-known rector of Ashley (Redfern's Uttoxeter p257 et seq); signed testimony 1648. On 10 Sep 1646 the committee for plundered ministers granted to him the yearly rent of £25 reserved to the dean and chapter of Windsor out of this impropriate rectory as this vicarage was only worth £30 pa. This order was confirmed by the committee for the reformation of the universities and the rent was paid him until his death (BodlMS 323 p357; 327 p477; 328, p150; SionMS p494; SPDI F2 pt ii p530; LMS 976 p330; 978 p621). John Lineall (compliant minister of Castle Church) c1585-?1659 Add23
Lineall, born about 1585, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 23 Dec 1610 he was ordained deacon by Chester at Chester cathedral. In 1610 he was in office as parochial curate at Weston-upon-Trent. In 1613 he was appointed as parochial curate of Stafford St Chad. He appears to have been appointed by the parishioners as a contemporary note recorded "Item, charges at Lichfield when we were cited thither about placing Mr. Lyneall the curate at S. Chaddes 2/10". By Aug 1621 he had succeded John Cox e1540-1621 as parochial curate of Castle Church. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. At Castle Church his salary was £8 pa which on 23 Jun 1658 was in arrears as stated in his petition of that date to Oliver Cromwell qua Protector "Petition of John Lineall, minister at Castlechurch, near Stafford, to the Protector. I have been curate 37 years, and been painful to draw souls to God, only receiving £8 a year out of the Exchequer, though the tithes and glebe lands are worth £100, and I have to hire a house in Stafford, and my salary is now 1¼ years, being £10, in arrears. I am 70 years old, my wife 60, and we have had many children to maintain ..." A few months later in Feb 1658.9 he sent a second petition to Richard Cromwell when his salary was said to be 2¼ years (£18) in arrears. Still in office Lineall probably died, aged about 74, in 1659 or shortly after. Lineall married about 1612 to Frances (b c1592) by whom he had ?3 sons and 3 daughters. In 1658 John Felton (probably John Felton of Stafford stationer c1630-1685) printed and sold a book written by Lineall entitled Iter Mediteranium ... (below). This was a short book of "drolling verse" concerning the summer law circuit of John Glynne (Lord Justice) 1603-1666 and Roger Hill (Baron of the Exchequer) 1605-1667. Of the book it was later said that "the lord Glynne was so far from having any knowledge of it, or consenting to its writing, that there was great enquiry after the author to have him punished for his abuses of, and smart reflections on, him." Lineall also composed an (?unpublished) acrostic poem addressed to "To his Highnesse Richard by God's providence the second Lord Protector of our Common Wealth, etc." It is said that "Each letter in the title of the poem becomes in its turn the commencement of one of the 147 verses which compose it. " The following lines end the poem:

> Your Highnesse suppliant humbly in the Lord, | John Lineal, Preacher of God's sacred word | At Castle Church, a place in Staffordshire, | Where he receiveth eight pounds by the year, | Which he hath truly in Exchequer pay, | For which he thanks your Highnesse night and day. | He aged is full threescore yeares and ten, | A long time now to live with mortall Men, | His wife also is threescore years and one, | That Stipend poor they still do live upon. | Now if your Highnesse would be so much pleas'd, | That his eight pounds to forty pound be rais'd, | He thinks that he should live with more content, | Then hundred pounds thrice some receive in rent, | Though's stipend be but eight pounds by the year, | Which he receives for feeding souls so dear, | Yet his poor Tallent he will never hide, | In verse he writes, yet God is still his guide."

(1915) 4 Lyneall. Curate of Weston-on-Trent 1610 [1610-13 p239]; of St Chad's, Stafford, 1613. On 4 Jan 1656-7 he obtained an order from the Protector for the payment of his stipend of £8 to 29 Sep 1656, which had not been paid since March 1654 (SPDI 123 f16 n406; cf Keeper, 5, capII p260). In 1658 he complained bitterly of the meagreness of his salary in a poem addressed to Richard, lord Protector, which is printed in S.H. C. VIII pt II p90, 91. Possibly this poem was never sent, but on 23 Jun 1658 he certainly addressed a petition to him in which he states that he has been curate for 37 years and has been painful to draw souls to God, only receiving £8 pa from the Exchequer, though the tithe & glebe lands are worth £100 pa. He says that his age is 70, his wife is 60, that they have had many children and have to hire a house in Stafford and that his salary is 1¼ years or £10 in arrears (SPDI 181, f114, n116). In Feb 1658.9 he again petitioned for his salary, which he stated was then 2¼ years in arrears (ibid. 201, f5i). [SHC 1915 p238]

In the intermediate time during the Commonwealth the meagreness of his resources was made the subject of complaint and petition by the then (1658) Minister John Lineal, the author of an acrostic poem addressed "To his Highnesse Richard by God's providence the second Lord Protector of our Common Wealth, etc." ... Each letter in the title of the poem becomes in its turn the commencement of one of the 147 verses which compose it. The following lines then conclude the composition:— Your Highnesse suppliant humbly in the Lord, | John Lineal, Preacher of God's sacred word | At Castle Church, a place in Staffordshire, | Where he receiveth eight pounds by the year, | Which he hath truly in Exchequer pay, | For which he thanks your Highnesse night and day. | He aged is full threescore yeares and ten, | A long time now to live with mortall Men, | His wife also is threescore years and one, | That Stipend poor they still do live upon. | Now if your Highnesse would be so much pleas'd, | That his eight pounds to forty pound be rais'd, | He thinks that he should live with more content, | Then hundred pounds thrice some receive in rent, | Though's stipend be but eight pounds by the year, | Which he receives for feeding souls so dear, | Yet his poor Tallent he will never hide, | In verse he writes, yet God is still his guide." | (c1658) [SHC 1887 ii 90] |

Gilbert Littleton M.A. (rector of Handsworth) c1596-1655
Littleton, born about 1596, was 5th son of Sir Edward Littleton of Pillaton in Penkridge knight c1550-a1611 and Margaret Devereux dau and coheir of Sir William Devereux of Merevale, Warwicks knight c1522-1579. He studied at Oxford where on 11 May 1615 he was a student at Balliol College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 18 Jan 1616.7 (M.A., 8 Jul 1619). He was presumably ordained deacon and on 18 Sep 1630 ordained priest by Oxford. On 2 Sep 1636 after presentation by (his nephews) Walter Littleton 1607-1670 and his brother Sir Edward Littleton of Pillaton in Penkridge 1st Baronet c1599-1657 he was instituted rector of Handsworth (in succession to his brother-in-law John Fulnetby c1565-1636). From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Still in office he died, aged about 59, around Jun 1655. His nuncupative will made in May 1655 was proved under PCC on 25 Sep 1655. Littleton married about 1631 to Susan Langhorne dau and coheir of Thomas Langhorne of London (Crown sergeant skinner) c1570-.... and widow of John Norton of Fordwich, Kent by whom he had 4 sons and 3 daughters.

Richard Littleton (?presbyterian minister of Acton Trussell) c1617-1659
Littleton, born about 1617 in Staffordshire (? and christened on 22 Mar 1616.7 at Gnosall), was probably a son of Thomas Littleton of Gnosall "gentleman" and Elizabeth (Huntbach alias Moreton). He was educated at Wolverhampton. He studied at Cambridge where on 9 Nov 1635 he was admitted as a sizar at Peterhouse and matriculated in 1636. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1639.40 and is said to have been a scholar here in 1641. He is not known to have been ordained as a deacon or priest but was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 23 May 1649 when he was in office as a ?presbyterian assistant minister of Wolverhampton. By 1651.2 he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Acton Trussell. Still in office here he died, aged about 42, and was buried on 10 Jun 1659 at Penkridge.

(Ashby-de-la-Zouch) After a year, wherein he had given satisfaction to the Trustees, started to take boarders, and eventually filled the house with them, refusing to instruct the Free Scholars except as a matter of favour. After repeated remonstrances the Trustees appointed another Head Master. Lloyd appealed to the Court of Chancery, but apparently without success.

George Long (presbyterian minister of Newcastle) c1629-1712

Long, born about 1629 in London, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 2 Jun 1646 he was admitted as a sizar at Trinity College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1649.50 (M.A.) 1653. In 1650 he was elected a fellow of Trinity College and served until 1660 when "He was turn'd out of Trinity upon Dr Fern's coming in Master, at the Restauration." Henry Ferne 1602-1662 was granted the mastership on 29 Apr 1660 but only served after 3 Aug 1660. About this time Long was probably ordained as a presbyterian clergyman and shortly afterwards, after occasionally preaching at Newcastle, he was invited by the parishioners to become their minister.

On Jan 1661.2 he was in office as presbyterian minister of Newcastle and paid a subsidy of 10/0. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to The act of uniformity and was thus ejected. In the following years he probably studied medicine. On 4 Jul 1668 he was admitted as a medical student at Leyden and there he graduated M.D. on 12 Jul 1668 with the thesis "De convulsione et motibus convulsivis". He dedicated his thesis to a cousin George Long and a relative Kenerick Eyton. (Kenrick Eyton of Eyton, Denbighs gentleman c1638-1709, who married in London in 1666, was father of Kenrick Eyton of Eyton, Denbighs gentleman 1670-1718 who was admitted to Trinity College in 1689.) By 1669 Long was living at Leicester where on 22 Jul 1672 he was licensed as a general presbyterian preacher and in Nov 1673 had a son christened. He may shortly after have returned to Newcastle but under The five mile act (31 Oct 1665), which prohibited nonconformist clergy from entering within 5 miles of parliamentary corporations such as Newcastle, he was forced to move. Calamy writes in 1713 "In some time he settled again in Newcastle, and met with great Difficulties. He was indicted at the Assizes for living in a Corporation, and forc'd to remove when he had Seven Children, not knowing whither to go. Attempting to settle at Birmingham, he was Prosecuted there also, till he was forc'd to leave the Land. He fled to Ireland, and continu'd there for some time." By 2 Jun 1680 Long had probably returned to England when he received a bequest of £1 as a "needy minister" from Philip Henry presbyterian minister c1630-1696. About 1684 he is said to have "Visited Chester and administered the Lord's Supper occasionally". He may have been living in Darlington, Durhams when on 31 Oct 1689 he wrote a letter to Lord Wharton asking him "to speak to the King about the immoral conduct of the army at Darlington". In 1690 as a minister with " A competent Supply" he is listed at Darlington [with] "A congregation Setled, well provided for" and also at Coventry, Warwicks "well maintained". About 1692 he returned to Newcastle "and continu'd his Labours there, even beyond the Powers of Nature. till Memory and Intellectuals quite fail'd." The Common Fund made him grants here from 1700 until midsummer 1705 when he retired and was then granted £4 pa for life. He subsequently moved to Bristol, Glos where he died, aged about 83, on 26 Dec 1712 and was buried on 29 Dec at Bristol St James. Long married, perhaps about 1663, to Lydia (d 1704) by whom he had (perhaps) 4 sons and 3 daughters. Nathaniel Long (presbyterian minister of Farnham, Surrey and Wrexham, Denbighs) c1674-1706 was one of his sons. A contemporary namesake and possible kinsman George Long (presbyterian minister of Bath, Soms) c1623-1665 also had a son Nathaniel.

(1660) [ODNB] Henry Ferne 1602-1662 Ferne was granted the mastership of Trinity on 29 April 1660; but the going soon turned out to be hard. As late as July 1660 a group of its fellows petitioned enthusiastically for the retention of the popular John Wilkins, who had been appointed less than a year earlier, commending his 'prudent government and sweet conversation', and it was not until 3 August that Wilkins vacated his post

He was first Ejected there; and then became Minister of Newcastle, and was Ejected there also. He was turn'd out of Trinity upon Dr Fern's coming in Master, at the Restauration. He and several others were turn'd out, for refusing to promise Conformity, before they certainly knew the Terms that would be fix'd. This was a great Hardship and Redress was sought for, by Application to Members of Parliament, and to Secretary Morrice, but to little purpose; no Relief could be had. About this time Mr Long riding through Newcastle, and preaching there occasionally, when they were destitute of a Minister, they invited him to settle with them, which he did, 'till the Act of Uniformity Silenc'd him. After this, not being willing to be unemploy'd, he went to Leyden, and took his Doctor's Degree in Physick, having spent some time in that Study before. After his return he applied to the Practise of it, with good Encouragement and Success. But still his Conscience put him upon Preaching, as his chief Work. In some time he settled again in Newcastle, and met with great Difficulties. He was indicted at the Assizes for living in a Corporation, and forc'd to remove when he had Seven Children, not knowing whither to go. Attempting to settle at Birmingham, he was Prosecuted there also, till he was forc'd to leave the Land. He fled to Ireland, and continu'd there for some time. After the Revolution he return'd to Newcastle, and continu'd his Labours there, even beyond the Powers of Nature. till Memory and Intellectuals quite fail'd. He is yet living at Bristol Aged 84. He had a Son in the Ministry among the Dissenters, a very promising Person who died at Wrexham. [Calamy (1713) p632-3]

(1778) [NEWCASTLE] NEWCASTLE under Line [Curate] {C. or D.} Mr George Long M.D. Fellow of Trinity College, Cambridge, from whence he was turned out after 14 or 15 years standing, (with several others) upon Dr Fern's coming in Master, at the Restoration, for refusing to promise Conformity, before they certainly knew the terms that would be fixed. Redress was sought, by application to members of parliament, and to Secretary Maurice, but to no purpose. About this time Mr Long, riding through Newcastle, and preaching there occasionally, when the people were destitute of a minister, they invited him to settle there, which he did, and staid till the act of uniformity [Fourth Act of Uniformity OR Bartholomew Act (19 May 1662)] silenced him. After this, not being willing to be unemployed, he went to Leyden, and took his Doctor's degree in physic, having spent some time in that study before. After his return he applied to the practice of it, with good encouragement and success; but still his conscience put him upon preaching, as his chief work. In some time he settled again in Newcastle, and met with great difficulties. He was indicted at the assizes for living in a corporation, and forced to remove when he had 7 children, knowing not whither to go. Attempting to settle at Birmingham, he was prosecuted there also, till he was forced to leave the land. He fled to Ireland, and continued there for some time. After the Revolution he returned to Newcastle, and continued his labours there till his intellects quite failed. He died at Bristol December 26, 1712, aged 84, in great peace and comfort. He had a son in the Ministry, among the Dissenters, Mr Nath. Long, who died at Wrexham. There is an account of him in Mr Matthew Henry's Life [Life ... Matthew Henry (1716)] page 283. Scholar, 1649; B.A., 1649/50; Fellow, 1650-60 (ejected); M.A., 1653. Supplied the vacant rectory of Newcastle-under- Lyme, Staff. ; ejected, 1662. Graduated M. D. at Leiden, 12 Jul 1668. Licensed. 22 July 1672, being of Leicester, as "Pr. Grall" Attempted to settle in Newcastle-under-Lyme and in Birmingham, but prosecuted in both places. Removed to Ireland, returning 1689 ; Calamy says to Newcastle-under-Lyme, labouring there "till his intellects failed". Evidently he was not the regular minister in 1690; and though in the Manuscript he is also entered as of Coventry, he was not the regular Minister there. He received, 10 Nov. 1690, £4 from an anonymous donation of £50 through Matthew Rapier [qv] He probably left for Newcastle-under-Lyme in 1692, and certainly ministered there from 1700 till Midsummer 1705, as grants show. He then retired, the Fund granting him £4 a year to the end of his life. He died at Bristol. His son Nathaniel (d. 14 July 1706), educated for the ministry by his father, and at Frankland's Academy (entered 12 Apr. 1692) with bursaries from the Common Fund, was Minister at Farnham, Surrey, removing thence to Wrexham, Denby, in 1705. Nathaniel Long (presbyterian minister of Farnham, Surrey and Wrexham, Denbighs) c1674-1706
The Reverend Nathaniel Long who in 1705 removed from Farnham in Surrey to Wrexham and son of the Reverend aged Dr Long of Newcastle died July 14th 1706. The news came to Mr Henry when he was enjoying the company of his good friends at Boreatton an intimation he writes to be a better husband of my time. Mr Long had been about three months declining of a consumption; he walked out the day before he died; he was about thirty years of age a serious good young man and likely to have been very useful. The funeral took place at Wrexham on the 17th and Mr Henry preached from 2 Cor iv 12 So then death worketh in us, but life in you

Theophilus Lord M.A. (compliant minister of Tamworth) c1617-1651
Lord, born about 1617, was a son of Robert Lord of Cropredy, Oxon. He studied at Oxford where on 29 Mar 1633 he was a "commoner" at New Inn Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 20 Oct 1635 (M.A., 29 May 1638). On 9 Jun 1639 he was ordained deacon by Oxford. In Sep 1643 he was appointed by the governor and town of Tamworth a "preacher" at Tamworth "but was forbid to doe any servise publikely excepting preaching ...". In May 1644 the (parliamentary) Committee of safety for Warwickshire "appointed" him compliant minister of Tamworth in succession to "the former man [Thomas Blake c1596-1657 QV] ... his goeing away about 2 months before". In 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted him two augmentations of £20 and £30 to his annual salary of £20. (Another augmentation of £40 was to be paid to an assistant minister "who was to preach a weekly lecture in the church".) Still in office Lord died, aged about 34, and was buried here on 13 Jan 1650.1. His will made on 6 Jan 1650.1 was proved under PCC on 26 Jun 1651. Lord may not have married.

(1915) In May and June 1646 the committee for plundered ministers found that there was but a £20 stipend for the preacher here and £8 each for two curates, so it made a grant of £20 pa to the minister here from a prebend of this church sequestered from Sir Robt Fisher, the farmer thereof, and a further grant of £30 pa from another prebend sequestered from Sir John Reppington, delinquent. It made another grant of £40 pa for a coadjutor to the minister, who was to preach a weekly lecture in the church. [1915]

William Lownes B.A. (vicar of Madeley) c1639-1699 H75
Lownes, born perhaps about 1639, was of Cheshire parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 21 Jun 1655 he was admitted as a sizar at Jesus College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1658.9. He may have been qualified as a presbyterian clergyman. Perhaps appointed in 1661 he was on 20 Aug 1662 in office as a stipendiary curate at Stoke-upon-Trent when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity but was only ordained ?deacon by Lichfield on (the next day) 21 Aug 1662. He probably resigned at Stoke-upon-Trent before 6 Jun 1664 when after presentation by Mary Offley 1622-1718 by right as widow of John Offley of Madeley esquire c1619-1658 he was instituted vicar of Madeley. On 29 Jul 1664 he was (?again) ordained priest by Lichfield. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Madeley constablewick but was assessed on 2 hearths "for the Viccaridge". He resigned at Madeley before 8 Feb 1681.2 when after probable presention by Mary Offley 1622-1718 by right as widow of John Offley of Madeley esquire c1619-1658 he was appointed rector of Darlaston. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 60, on 22 Jun 1699 and was buried here on 23 Jun. His will made on 22 Jun 1699 was proved under Lichfield on 12 Dec 1699. His personalty was valued at £12/17/4 and included " books 10/0". Lowndes married about 1664 to Jane by whom he had 3 sons and 4 daughters.

WILL OF JOHN LOUTHE, ARCHDEACON or NOTTINGHAM. (From the Original in the Registry at York.) In the name of God, Amen. The xxixth daye of July, anno Domini 1590, I John Louthe, archdeacon of the archdeaconrye of Not', whole of bodie and mynde, thanked be God, doe make this my last will and testament in maner and forme followinge. First, I give and bequethe my soule into the handes of Allmightie God my heavenly Father, who hath from the begininge of the world ordayned his sonne Jesus Chryst to be a Saviour and Redeemer to me and to all other sinners that beleve to be saved by the deathe and passion of Chryst, in whom only I hope and surely trust in my harte to be redeemed from all my sinnes and by non other meanes. And as touchinge the disposinge of my transitorie goodes I doe give and bequeth to my daughter Thomazine Babington the wyfFe of mr. Zacharie Babington of Litchfeld the some of xx u poundes of good and lawfull money of England, to be payd her for her chyldes parte, besydes those thinges which she and her husband mr. Zacharie Babington have allreadie taken and receaved at my handes to their owne use : which some of xx fi poundes my mynde and will is shalbe payd to her at two severall dayes of payment next after my decease, viz. the one hallf therof within three monethes next after my decease, and the other half to be payd her within foure monethes next after that. Item I doe give to my sonne John Louthe the sonne of Marye Louthe alias Babington my wyflfe my mansion house with all other houses and buildinges therunto belonginge, scituate, lyinge, and beinge in Kayworthe within the countie of Nottingham, wherin I nowe dwell, with all and singular the ap- purtnances appertayninge unto yt, and all other landes, pastures, medowes, feedinges, commons, royalties, and eomodities whatsoever which in anie wyse appertayne unto the same house and landes ; to have and to hold the same house with all landes and commodities appertayninge to yt as aforesayd to the sayd John Louthe my sonne the sonne of the sayd Marye duringe his natural! lyffe, and after his decease to the heyres of his bodie lawfully begotten for ever, provyded notwithstandinge that duringe the minoritie of the sayd John Louthe my sonne I give and bequeth unto the said Mary Louth my wyffe (so longe as she keepeth her self widowe) the use, occupyinge, and possessinge of the sayd house and landes, with all and singuler the appurtenances aforesayd ; and by this my last will and testament doe ordayne and appoynte that she shall and may peaceably and quyetly without anie maner of lett, interruption, or contradiccion of anie person or persons whatsoever, have, hold, use, occupie, possesse and enjoye to her owne proper use and uses all that my sayd mansion house and landes with all and singuler their appurtnances as aforesayd, so that yearly, and from yeare to yeare duringe the minoritie aforesayd, she doe well and trulye paye, satisfye, and content, or cause to be payd, satisfyed, and contented, unto the sayd John Louthe my soune for and towardes his inayn- tenaunce and bringinge up in good learninge ten poundes of good and lawfull Englishe money at the feastes of the Agnunciacion of Marie and St. Michaell th'archangell by equall porc'ons : and allso so that duringe her sayd widowheade and the sayd minoritie she doe mayntayne and uphold the sayd mansione house with all other the buyldinges thereunto appertayninge in good and sufficient reparacions : and yf it fortune that Marye my sayd wyffe doe marrye duringe the minoritie of my sayd sonne, then my last will and mynde is that from and after the daye of her sayd marriage she shall have nothinge to doe with mj sayd house and landes, neyther that she shall occupie, possesse, or enjoye anie parte or parcell therof, but that forthwith she shall leave and departe from the same : and from and after the daye of her sayd marriage, by this my last will and testament I doe ordayne and appoynte that my brother in lawe mr. Francis Babington shall duringe the minoritie of my sayd sonne peaceably and quyetly occupye and enjoye my sayd mansion house and landes in suche maner and sorte and not otherwayes as my sayd wyffe shold have donne yf she had kepte her self widowe. And for want of heyres of the bodie of the sayd John Louthe my sonne lawfully by him to be begotten I doe give the same house and landes with all and singuler the commodities and appurtnances appertayn- inge unto yt as aforesayd to the heyres males of my daughter Thomazine Babington lawfully begotten of her bodie for ever. And for wante of suche heyres males lawfully begotten of the bodie of the sayd Thomazine Babington I doe give the same house and landes with all and singuler the commodities and appurtnances appertayninge unto yt as aforesayd to the heyres males of Humfrey Louthe of Button in Ashfield in the countie of Nott. gent, lawfully begotten of his bodie for ever. Arid for wante of suche heyres males of his bodie lawfully begotten I doe give the same house, landes, and commodities with th'appurtnances as aforesayd to the heyres males of William Louthe of Maldon in Essex gent, lawfully begotten of his bodie for ever. And for wante of suche heyres males of his bodie lawfully begotten I doe give the same house and landes and commodities pertayninge to yt as aforesayd to the heyres males of Robert Louthe of the queenes ma ties courte lawfully begotten for ever. And for wante of suche heyres males of the same Robert Louthe to the heyres males of the bodie of Peter Louthe late of Nottingham lawfully begotten for ever. And for wante of suche heyres males of the bodie of the sayd Peter Louthe to remayne to the crowne of England for ever. The residewe of all my worldly goodes not herin given nor bequethed I doe give and bequethe the same wholly and fully to Marye Louthe my sayd wyffe and to John Louthe my sayd sonne equally to be devyded betwyxt them imediatly after that my funerals are fully discharged, my debtes clearly payd, and legacies sett outt : after whiche devision equally made my last will and mynde is that all that whole part and porcion which shall fall out to be due and belonginge unto my sayd sonne John Louthe shalbe delyvered into the handes of my sayd brother in lawe Frances Babington by him to be used and letten forthe for the benefyte, commoditie, and good mayntenaunce in learninge of my sayd sonne, so that the sayd Frances Babington doe with one or two sufficient suerties enter into sufficient bonde unto Marie my sayd wyffe to repaye all that sayd parte and porcion unto the sayd John Louthe my sonne at his full age of xxi tie yeares or when otherwyse he shall lawfully demaunde the same : and in the meane tyme duringe his sayd minoritie, to paye unto my sayd sonne yearly for and towardes his sayd mayntenaunce in good learninge all the increase and proffitt that shall redounde by his sayd parte and porcion. And for the bodie of my sayd sonne duringe his minoritie I make Mary my wyffe and Frances Babington my sayd brother in lawe tutors and gardians. And of this my last will and testament I make Marye my sayd wyffe my full and sole executrix, revokinge herby all former wills and testamentes. And I doe ordayne and make the supervysors herof my good brothers in Chryst the archdeacons of Nottingham my successors for the tyme beinge, the right worshipfull mr. Henry Perpoynte esquyar, Lancelot Rolston gent., mr. Richard Symney, mr. John Parker, mr. Frances Babington my welbeloved brother, and mr. Humfrey Louthe my cosine. And my mynde and will is that my executrix doebestowe xxs. in gloves and bestowe themuppon my supervisors, viz., to everye one accordinge to his callinge and degree, to see to the full- fillinge of my will, and the educac'on of my sonne in true religion in the universities and the innes of the courte, untill he come to the age of xxiiii lie yeares as I have sett downe in my whyte written booke. And as for my bodye I commaunde my executrix and will my supervysors to see yt buryed in the north side in the quyer in St. Maries in Nottingham without anie pompe or solemnitie, savinge only a sermon to be made to teache the people to dye well : and a small monument of brasse to be made with my name, to be nayled uppon a stonne in the wall. I leave it to the discrec'on and devoc'on of my executrix what sermons shalbe made by my scollars and frendes, and what money shalbe delt to the poore. In witnesse wherof unto this my last will and testament I the sayd John Louthehave subscrybed my hande the day, moneth, and yeare first above written. Further I the sayd John Louthe the testator, concerninge the bestowinge of John Louthe my sonne in marriage, I referre it to mr. Henry Perpoynte esquyer, Frances Babington clarke my brother, and Launcelot Rolston gent., or to two of them. In witnesse whereof hereunto I have putt my hande and seall the daye and yeare above sayd. JOHN LOUTHE, Archd. Nott. These being witnesses, Our.) (jur.) (jur.) FRANCES BABINGTON, RICHARD SYMNEY, WILLIAM BARKER. And further my will is, and by this my last will and testament I doe ordayne and appoynte, that yf yt shall please God to take awaye the lyffe of my sayd sonne John Louthe duringe his minoritie, that then Mary my sayd wyffe shall duringe her naturall lyffe hold, occupie, possesse, and enjoye (notwithstandinge her marriage yf hereafter she shall marrye) all that my house and landes aforesayd with all and singuler the appurtnances whatsoever as aforesayd to her the sayd Marye and her assygnes, yeldinge and payinge therefore yearly duringe her sayd lyffe unto William Babington sonne of Zachary Babington of Litchfeld aforesayd fyve poundes of good and lawfull Englishe money at the feastes of the Agnunciacion of Marye and St. Michaell th'archangell by equall porcions. In witnesse wherof hereunto allso I have subscrybed my name the daye and yeare aforesayd. JOHN LOUTHE, Arch. Nott. Witnesses herof, (jur.) (jur.) (jur.) Stocket Lutwyche (rector of Swynnerton) 1571-1642

Lutwyche, christened on 12 Sep 1571, was 3rd son of Edward Lutwyche of "Lutwyche Hall", Munslow, Salop esquire c1534-1614 and (his 1st wife) Susan Stocket dau and coheir of Sir Lewis Stocket of Kent knight. In 1594 he was a student at the Inner Temple. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 15 Jul 1601 when he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Flixton and installed by 15 Dec 1602. Lutwyche studied at Oxford where on 5 Mar 1601.2 he was a student at St John's College and matriculated but is not known to have graduated. On 3 Oct 1604 he was instituted rector of Swynnerton. Still in both offices he died, aged 71, in 1642. Lutwyche married about 1604 to Joan Benbowe dau of William Benbowe (rector of Easthope, Salop) c1543-1623 by whom he had 2 sons and 2 daughters. Lutwyche is said to have purchased Blakelow in Swynnerton from John Popham of Littlecote, Wilts esquire in 1634.

[AGES OF CHILDREN ODD]
Edward Lutwyche, descended from an ancient family seated at a place of the same name in the parish of Rushbury, co. Salop, was a barrister of the Inner Temple, where he was admitted in 1565: and the present was his first marriage, with a lady who is called in the pedigree Susan, dau. of Lewis Stocket. She was, therefore, a widow. The following baptisms of their children occur: Lewis, June 24, 1568, buried four days after; Edward, Aug. 11, 1569 (who became the heir, and carried on the family); and Stocket (afterwards rector of Swynnerton, co. Stafford) Sept. 12, 1571. "Richard the sonne of Edward Lutchwhich, gent, of the countye of Salop," was bur. here May 15, 1591. The third entry confirms Mr. Blakeway's supposition, that Stocket was a son of the first and not of the second marriage ; see " The Sheriffs of Shropshire," fol. 1831, p. 189 ; where further particulars of Mr. Lutwyche and his family will be found. He returned to his ancestral seat, where he died in 1614. His great-grandson, Sir Edward Lutwyche, was a Judge in the reign of King James the Second, and was buried in 1709 at St. Bride's, Fleet-street, the adjoining parish to St. Dunstan's. [CTG v5 p212]

Aylmer Lynch B.D. (rector of Tatenhill) 1600-1692
Lynch, born on 23 Nov 1600, was a younger son of William Lynch of Groves in Staple, Kent and Judith Aylmer daughter of ●John Aylmer (bishop of London) c1521-1594. He studied at Cambridge where on 1 Dec 1618 he was admitted as a pensioner at Jesus College and matriculated in 1619. By 1620 he was a scholar. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1622.3 (M.A., 1626) (B.D., Oxford, 1642.3). On 11 Jul 1626 his M.A. was incorporated at Oxford. On 24 Dec 1626 he was ordained deacon and priest by London and on 28 Jul 1630 licensed to preacher in the diocese of Salisbury. On 22 May 1641 he was collated prebendary of Lincoln Welton Westhall. On 5 Jun 1643 after presentation by Edward Thornborough D.D. (prebendary of Salisbury) c1587-1645 he was instituted vicar of Preshute, Wilts. From 5 Feb 1643.4 his prebend was abolished but he continued as compliant minister of Preshute. Whilst in office at Preshute Lynch is said to have lived at Oxford until about Jun 1646 when he returned to the parish and "read Common Prayer several Sundays [and] once administered sacrament according thereto". On 14 Dec 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers, apparently with his "humble petition and consent", ordered his sequestration. On 29 Nov 1660 Lynch was collated prebendary of Salisbury Stratford and on 6 May 1662 after presentation by the Crown was instituted rector of Poole, Dorset. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 11 Jul 1662. At Poole he probably resigned before 6 Oct 1662 when after further presentation by the Crown (qua Duke of Lancaster) he was instituted rector of Tatenhill. Here he probably resigned in Jan 1662.3 shortly before he was instituted rector of Langley Burrell, Wilts. Still in office here and as prebendary at Salisbury he died, aged 92, on 24 Jan 1691.2 and was buried here (probably in the church) on 28 Jan. An inscribed monument was placed in the church (below). His will made on 27 Nov 1686 was proved under PCC on 5 Feb 1691.2. He bequeathed to "John Beale of North Wraxall Wilts clerke" ... "my library of bookes".
Lynch may not have married. John Lynch M.A. (rector of Harrietsham, Kent) c1591-1680 was an older brother.

Roger Lynch M.A. (parochial curate of Hints & Weeford) c1613-1668 H76
Lynch, born about 1613, was a son of Anthony Lynch of Newbury, Berks "gentleman". He studied at Oxford where on 13 Apr 1632 he was a student at St John's College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 7 Jun 1632
(M.A., 4 Jun 1635). On 24 May 1635 he was ordained deacon by Oxford and presumably later ordained priest. Perhaps later that year after probable presentation by the prebendary of Hansacre he was licensed parochial curate of Norton-under-Cannock. About 1638 he was styled "Roger Lin[sh] of Norton juxta Canck - minister of the gospel", when he testified to the honest life and conversation of a local preacher Humphrey Vincent ?1595-.... From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Roger Linch Minister of Gods Word at Norton Iuxta Cannock". Whilst here he received an augmentation of up to £45 to his annual salary of £10. In early Jun 1660 he was reinstated parochial curate and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 19 Aug 1662. In 1665 he was still a resident and was assessed on 4 hearths. However he appears to have appointed a stipendiary curate John Bach e1635-... who as "John Bach, Curate", certified the hearth tax for Norton-under-Cannock & Little Wyrley constablewick. Lynch did certify the hearth tax for both Hints constablewick and Weeford & Thickbroome constablewick. By then he was probably, jointly, in office as parochial curate of Hints (having perhaps been presented by the prebendary of Lichfield Hansacre then John Cornelius c1605-1675 - who was also patron of Norton-under-Cannock) and of Weeford (having perhaps been presented by the prebendary of Lichfield Weeford then John Mainwaring c1605-1692 QV) where both the previous presbyterian ministers had been deprived in 1662. Likely still in all three offices he died, aged about 55, and was buried on 19 Jul 1668 at Weeford. Lynch may not have married.

(1900) Roger Linch, minister of Norton, near Charmocke [Norton-under-Cannock] (same time [½ year to 1649, September 29] £5/3/4 [Shaw II (1900) p544]
(1915, Hints) (oc. 1666 Roger Linch M.A.) ? 8 - 8 Linch. As minister certifies number of hearths here c1665. See Norton Canes. [1915 p128-9]
(1915, Norton Canes) oc. 1648 bur. 18 Jul 1668 Roger Linch M.A.? 6 - 6 Linch. Perhaps M.A. 1635 New College, Oxford, son of Anthony Linch of Newbury, Berks. (Foster). On 24 Nov 1646 the committee for plundered ministers ordered that an unnamed minister here should have his salary of £10 increased by the following grants, viz. £3/13/4 the rent reserved for the Lichfield vicars choral from land here occupied by widow Birch; 13/4 the amount payable by Mr Fowke to the dean; and £6 from these tithes, sequestered from John Cornelius, the prebendary of Hansacre. After the expiration of certain leases this augmentation is to be made up to £50 pa (Bodl MS 323 p243) In 1648 Linch signed the testimony and on 18 Nov 1649 is granted the aforementioned £3/13/4 (Bodl MS 326 p297; cf. 327 p479) He received £5/3/4 for six months' augmentation to 29 Sep 1649. (Shaw II 544) On 27 Nov 1650 his maintenance is certified at £10 pa and the committee for the reformation of the universities made him a grant of £30 pa from the prebend of Colwich and confirmed the former grant of £6 pa (Sion MS pp490, 494) About 1659 he was in receipt of an augmentation of £45 pa (LMS 994 p142) In 1666 Linch as minister certified the number of hearths at Weeford and Hints, which suggests that he also was acting as the curate there at this time. [1915 p198]

(1915, Weeford) (oc. 1666 Roger Linch M. A) ? 6 - 6 Linch. As minister certifies the hearths here in 1666. See Norton Canes. [1915 p308-9]

~~Robert Lyon (parochial curate of Pipe Ridware) c1595-?1662~~
~~Lyon, born about 1595, was a son of John Lyon of Pipe Ridware 1571-…. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was (presumably) ordained deacon and priest by 28 Dec 1625 when he was in office as parochial curate of Pipe Ridware. Probably from 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister until 13 Sep 1660 when, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers, he was restored as parochial curate. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 2/6 and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 20 Aug 1662. Still in office he probably died, aged about 67, later that year. His will made on 2 Apr 1660 was proved under Lichfield on 24 Feb 1662.3. Lyon married perhaps about 1625 to Elizabeth (no known children). In 1657 Elizabeth was listed as a (catholic) recusant at Pipe Ridware.~~

[2 sons, 3 daus]

During the civil war Machon was in 1642 violently ejected from Sherburn Hospital by Sir William Armine and other Scottish commissioners. The family retreated to Staffordshire, where he had inherited an estate, probably at Longdon where his father had bought land. He petitioned the council of state vainly for reinstatement in 1653 and 1657, and was only restored by the sheriff on 12 Mar 1661. By 1666 his coat of arms was recorded, as Machon of Sherborne. His son Thomas (1642–1673) was educated at Hart Hall, Oxford, graduating BA in 1659 and proceeding MA in 1662. He became chaplain to Prince Rupert of the Rhine. In 1671 John Machon resigned Wellington prebend in favour of his son, who died on 6 February 1673 and was buried at Sherburn. John Machon remained master there until his death, and was buried in the chapel of the hospital on 22 January 1680. [ODNB]

John Macmath (vicar of Harborne) e1600-?1663
Macmath, born perhaps about 1600 in Scotland, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He is likely the man who in 1638 was deprived as minister of Chirnside, Berwickshire for teaching “wrong doctrine” and deserting the parish. He was (presumably) ordained deacon and priest by 1640 when he was in office as vicar of Harborne. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. In 1646 he may have received an augmentation of £50 to his salary of £40. On 17 Sep 1647 the Committee for plundered ministers made a complaint about him to the Committee of parliament for Staffordshire. On 15 Nov 1656 a man of his name was to be naturalised by act of parliament. He apparently continued here as presbyterian minister until 13 Sep 1660 when, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers, he was restored as vicar and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 21 Aug 1662. He was still in office on 18 Oct 1662 but likely died, aged perhaps about 63, the following year. A successor paid first fruits on 3 Oct 1663. Macmath may have married about 1640 to a woman [? Elizabeth (d 1667)] by whom he may have had one son.

On 26 Sep 1646 the committee for plundered ministers granted to an unnamed minister here an augmentation of £50 pa out of the impropriate rectory of Edgbaston, co. Warw., sequestered from Richard Middlemore, delinquent, as the vicarage was but worth £40 pa (Bodl MS 323 p359). There is no record of this having been paid to Mackmath. On 17 Sep 1647 a complaint to this committee against Mackmath was referred to the committee of parliament for Staffordshire. (Add. MS 15671 p218) [1915 p122-3]

OBITUARY FROM GENTLEMAN'S MAGAZINE from a pdf not corrected

Rev. Spencer Madan, D.D.

Oct. 9. At Ibstock, Leicestershire, aged 78, the Rev. Spencer Madan, D.D. for upwards of 50 years rector of that parish, prebendary and Chancellor of the diocese of Peterborough.

Dr. Madan was the eldest son of the Right Rev. Spencer Marian, D.D. Lord Bishop of Peterborough, and the Lady Charlotte, sister of the first Miirquis Gornwallia. He was educated at Westminster, and elected from the 'foundation of that school in 1776 to Trinity College, Cambridge; in which university he was presented to an honorary degree of MA. Dec. 11, 1778, a distinction (observes his tutor, Mr. Atwood, in a letter to his father) "due to him from his birth, bull must add equally so from bis superior talents and character." Disinclined to mathematical studies, and deriving a poetical turn, perhaps, from his near connection with the family of the poet Cowper, he obtained in 1782 the Seatonian prize for his classical and spirited lines entitled, " The Call of the Gentiles." As a preparatory exercise for holy orders, Mr. Madan undertook a translation of Grotius's treatise on the truth of the Christian religion, a work which received the favourable notice of the reviewers as an able and useful performance, calculated to do •' an important service to the cause of Revelation.1' His original purpose was so far answered, that he was ordained by Bishop Hinchliffe, without hesitation, and with a complimentary notice of hia book as a reason for not requiring the usual form, or at least more than the mere form, of examination. Of this work he published a second edition in 1814, with the two supplementary books of Mr. Le Clerk, and the annotations and testimonies.

Having served the curacy of Wrotham, in Kent, about a year, of which living Dr. Tarrant, Dean of Peterborough, was incumbent, Mr. Madan became in 1783 rector of Bradley Magna, in Suffolk, which he resigned after holding it three years, having succeeded to the prebend and vicarage of Tachbrook, Warwickshire, given him by bis uncle the Bishop of Lichfield, the former of which he exchanged for Ibstock in 1786, and in the following year resigned the latter on hi» presentation by the Bishop to the rectory of St. Philip's, Birmingham, with the treasurership and prebend of Sawley, in the church of Lichfield annexed. In 1787, he succeeded his father as a Chaplain inordinary to his Majesty, and held that honourableappointment for thirty-four years, until obliged by infirmity to tender his resignation. Through the kindness of Mrs. Cornwallis, to whom the Archbishop left by will the disposal of certain options, Mr. Madan succeeded to the dignity of a Canon Residentiary of Lichfield, on the death of Mr. Seward in 1790. In the same year he received a highly complimentary offer to attend Lord Gower as Chaplain to the Embassy at Paris; an honour which he felt himself obliged to decline in consideration of his professional engagements in England. In 1794, he was collated by bi» father to the Chancellorship of the diocese of Peterborough, and in 1800 to a Prebendal stall in that cathedral.

The most arduous portion of hii professional life embraced that eventful period of disaffection and dissent, which preceded and produced the riots at Birmingham in 1791 ; during which critical juncture the rector of St. Philip's laboured ably and successfully to repress the dangerous spirit of innovation in our civil and religious polity, which at that time actuated a revolutionary faction in this kingdom. Many of his local publications and addresses from the pulpit, especially " The principal Claims of the Dissenters considered," in a sermon preached on the I l!li of February in that year, and "a Letter to Dr. Priestley," occasioned by his strictures on the sermon, attracted general attention, and were circulated with good effect through the immense population of that town and neighbourhood. To his well-timed and spirited exertions, with those of his friend and coadjutor the Rev. Dr. Croft, Curate of St. Martin's, in that season of difficulty and peril, it might be mainly attributed, under Providence, that the impending storm did not burst upon the heads of the friends of the establishment in Church and State.

At a subsequent period, Mr. Al.nl.m was actively instrumental in promoting by subscription the erection of a free church in Birmingham for the use of the lower classes; a design which was rendered necessary by the lamentable inadequacy of room in the places of worship connected with the establishment, to meet the wants of a largely increased population, and had long occupied the anxious thoughts of the rector of St. Philip's. An eligible site for the new edifice was kindly given by his brcther-in-law, William Philips Inge, esq. By this gentleman, when Dr. Madan was compelled, in consequence of the failure of health, to relinquish his connection with Birmingham, after an in. ombency of twenty-three years, he was presented in 1809 to the family living of Thorpe Constantine, which be subsequently resigned, in 1884, in favour of the Rev. George Inge, the second son of his patron.

In 1809, he was presented to an honorary degree of D.D. in the university of Cambridge j on which occasion he received a written request from the 'Vice-Chancellor, Dr. Pearson, to print his " truly excellent Commencement sermon," with many nattering expressions of " approbitbation,. which was very strong and very general." This sermon, entitled "Defilements of the Temple of God," was appended to the second edition of his translation of Grotius. He published a sermon preached at bis father's consecration in 1792 ; and other single sermons on the days appointed for a General Fast in 1795, 1797, 1800, 1803, and 1805, by particular request of the congregations to which they were addressed, at Birmingham and Peterborough.

In 1791, Mr. Madan married Henrietta, daughter of William Inge, esq. of Thorpe Constantine, in the county of Stafford ; and by her be had eleven children, of whom one died an infant, and five sons and five daughters arrived at years of maturity. It pleased Providence to afflict him in 1816 with the irreparable loss of bis beloved wife, and subsequently to bereave him of two sons and two daughters. Of the latter, the second was married to the Hon. James Stewart, brother of the late Earl of Galloway. She died in 1829, after much suffering; and her husband in July last (see our Obituary, leaving four orphan children. All these bitter trials he bore with pious and humble resignation to the divine will, though he deeply felt their poignancy.

In a professional point of view the subject of this memoir stood very high. Firmly attached to the constitution in Church and State, an able and eloquent divine, a zealous nnd exemplary clergyman, be inspired by the placid benignity of his look, and the courteous cordiality of his address, feelings of esteem and respect even in strangers ; and most deservedly endeared himself to his family, his parishioners, and the general circle of his friends.

He cultivated through life a taste f«r poetry, studied the Scriptures in their original languages, and added the ornament of classic purity and elegance to a welliurriisbed store of theological erudition.

In testimony of his admired excellence in the pulpit, and his general character and attainments, it may suffice to quote a passage from a letter of the celebrated Anna Seward. Writing to a friend she says, " Yon ask my opinion of Mr. Madan. I am happy in his acquaintance, and never was I acquainted with a young man so infinitely, so transcendently pleasing. As.a preacher, he is learned, eloquent, energetic ; as a companion, he is perfectly well-informed on all subjects of polite literature: modest, polite, unaffected, graceful, interesting—his look is expression itself, his voice is music."

When, in 1817, the Bishop proposed to "him to resign the stall at Lichfield in favour of his eldest son, it was unanimously resolved by the Dean and Chapter, "that the Order of Chapter which excludes from the cathedral pulpit clergymen not belonging to the cathedral church, be considered Rs not extending to Dr. Madan, who, having been many years a Canon Residentiary, and an able and admired preacher in it, occasionally resides with his family in the Close, though no longer a member of the establishment."

It is difficult to particularize the chief excellencies of heart and mind in one who possessed them all in an eminent degree. In his friendships, many of which commencing in boyhood lasted through life, he was warm and constant; in the extent of his private beneficence, he may be truly said to have followed the injunction of eur Lord, " Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth." It may be proper, in refutation of the frequent charges of avarice and parsimony brought against the clergy, to allude to his contribution of 5002. towards the free church at Birmingham, of 5001. towards rebuilding the minister's bouse at Sawley, of 400/. towards the restoration of Peterborough cathedral, the erection and annual support of schools in his parishes, and other ucts of pious liberality.

To his children he was the kindeit and most generous of parents. He made large sacrifices of preferment and of income for their benefit, and was ever anxious to be considered their confidential friend as well as their fond father, " et animo et natur& pater." During many years of his life he was in the habit of keeping a Diary, in which (like Dr. Johnson) he judged in in. self with salutary strictness. Every page records the tenderest and most affectionate teeliugs towards all the members of his family, and is replete with sentiments of genuine .humility, sincere penitence, and holy resolution.

Dr. Madan continued to officiate in the pulpit at seventy-four years of age, until October 1832, in which month (being his usual residence at Peterborough), on the morning of the first Sundiiy, he was attacked with paralysis, from which he partially recovered, but his power of utterance remained much impaired. His exemplary patience and pious submission under the pressure of distressing bodily infirmities, continued unshaken during tour years, when a renewal of the malady gradually terminated his valuable life. He was buried in a family vault at Thorpe^

Maddock, born about 1637, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Oxford where on 20 Jul 1654 he was a servitor at Brasenose College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 19 Jan 1657.8. On 2 Aug 1661 (together with John Cook c1636-.... QV) he was ordained deacon and priest by Sodor & Man. In Jan 1661.2 after presentation by Thomas Rothwell of Newton-in-Makerfield, Lancs gentleman - probably acting as attorney for Sir Thomas Fleetwood of Calwich in Ellastone 2nd Baronet c1609-1673 - he was in office as de facto vicar of Ellastone and paid a clerical subsidy of 6/8. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 20 Aug 1662 and was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield on 30 Dec 1662. The next day he was actually instituted at Ellastone. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £20. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax but was assessed on 4 hearths at Calwich & Norwood in Ellastone constablewick. Still in office he died, aged about 60, and was buried here on 12 Apr 1697. His will made on 7 Apr 1697 was proved under Lichfield on 29 Apr 1697. His personalty was valued at about £140 and included "hys library of books £22". Maddock married on 13 Jan 1679.80 at Ellastone to Prudence Madeley by whom he had 3 sons and 3 daughters. James Maddock deacon 1682-1746 was his first son and Thomas Maddock (parochial curate of Alsop-in-the-Dale, Derbys) 1684-?1752 his second son.

A year afterwards he [Baxter] removed to Bridgnorth as Curate to the Rev. William Madstard, who had been Incumbent [? parochial curate] of St. Anne's, Bewdley. [apparently before 1625] [J R Burton A history of Kidderminster ... (1890) p117]
About 1638 he was styled "William Madestart of Bridgnorth - minister of the gospel", when he testified to the honest life and conversation of a local preacher Humphrey Vincent ?1595-....
After a year of what he felt to be ineffective work in Dudley, Baxter undertook a more definitely pastoral charge at Bridgnorth in Shropshire, as assistant curate to the Rev. William Madestard "a grave and severe ancient divine." Between the older and younger man there sprang up a close friendship, based upon a common zeal and a marked similarity in outlook. The town, also, in which Baxter's share of the parochial work chiefly lay, was excepted from episcopal jurisdiction, save for the Archiepiscopal Visitation every three years, and Madestard was himself the presiding officer in the ecclesiastical court for the six parishes enjoying the privilege. There was likely to be, therefore, little authoritative opposition to whatever Baxter undertook: and, since the power of the bishops was so little felt, small likelihood of any one seeking to invoke it against him. Baxter by his own eloquence drew large congregations, but " the people," he says, " proved very ignorant and deadhearted," having little to occupy their time since the town had no trade of its own. [A R Ladell Richard Baxter: Puritan and mystic (1925) p44-5]

... A plague had broken out in Dudley and in Bridgnorth, and in the mortality that followed swift upon its coming, his friends and patrons, the Foleys, suffered greatly, and both Mr. Madestard and his wife died. [A R Ladell Richard Baxter: Puritan and mystic (1925) p51]

John Mainwaring D.D. (rector of Stoke-upon-Trent) c1605-1692 H78
Mainwaring, born about 1605 at London, was 2nd son of Edward Mainwaring of Whitmore esquire 1577-1647 and Sarah Stone dau and coheir of John Stone of Bow Churchyard, London citizen and haberdasher. He studied at Cambridge where in Jul 1622 he was a pensioner at Christ's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1625.6 (M.A., Caius College, 1629) (D.D., Christ's College, 1654). In 1629 whilst a scholar at Caius College he was elected a fellow of Caius and served until 1633. On 18 Dec 1630 he was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield. On 15 Dec 1632 he was collated by the archbishop of Canterbury rector of Witherley, Leics. Here he probably resigned before 10 May 1633 when after presentation by Roger Brereton of Newcastle "gentleman" c1580-1651 he was instituted rector of Stoke-upon-Trent. Mainwaring's presentation as rector of Stoke-upon-Trent was disputed and on 20 Nov 1633 the Crown presented John Bowyer (vicar of Biddulph) c1599-?1654 QV as rector but he was not instituted. On 11 Feb 1635.6 the Court of High Commissions, who were considering a charge of simony against Mainwaring and his patron Roger Brereton, dismissed the charge against Mainwaring but found Brereton at fault and fined him. On 1 Oct 1640 Mainwaring was collated prebendary of Lichfield Weeford. From 5 Feb 1643.4 his prebend was abolished but he continued at Stoke-upon-Trent as compliant minister. Still in office as minister in early Jun 1660 he was then reinstated as rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. He was also restored as a prebendary. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £10. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 9 Jul 1662. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £100. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Bucknall & Great Fenton, Little Fenton & Longton and Penkhull & members constablewicks and was assessed on 13 hearths "whereof 5 stoppt up" at Stoke-upon-Trent township. On 9 Oct 1690 he was admitted as a canon residentiary at Lichfield. Still in office at Stoke-upon-Trent and as prebendary and canon residentiary at Lichfield he died, aged about 87, and was buried on 14 May 1692 at Stoke upon Trent. His will made on 24 Feb 1691.2 was proved under Lichfield on 31 Aug 1692. In it he bequeathed "my library of bookes" to a nephew. Mainwaring married first about 1633 Susanna Pigott dau of Walter Pigott of Chetwynd, Salop esquire c1575-1665 (no known children). He married second about 1656 Ann Gregson (d ?1694) dau of George Gregson of Turnditch, Derbys c1606-.... (no known children). Mainwaring qua rector of Stoke-upon-Trent was patron of the dependent parochial chapelries of Bagnall (where he had probably presented Roger Wetton e1609-.... QV in 1639 and Thomas Cooke e1639-.... QV about 1665); Bucknall (where he had probably presented Richard Orme c1599-1654 QV about 1652); Burslem (where he had probably presented Isaac Keeling 1605-1679 QV about 1638 and John Stevenson c1601-1673 QV in 1645); Norton-in-the-Moors (where he had probably presented Hugh Cooper c1602-1678 QV in ?1634, Thomas Mallory c1605-1671 QV in 1648, (his kinsman) Thomas Mainwaring c1580-1663 QV about 1652 and Humphrey Repton ?1620-1695 QV in 1659) and (?) Whitmore (where he had probably presented Edward Beardmore ?1619-1679 QV about 1650, John Cook c1636-.... QV about 1662 and George Barnsley c1645-1724 QV in 1665). Also Mainwaring qua prebendary of Weeford was patron of Weeford independent parochial chapelry (and had probably presented Roger Lynch QV about 1665).

(24 Feb 1691.2) John Mainwaringe Doctor of Divinity and rector of the the parish churche of Stoake uppon Trent ... nephew Edward M. of Whitmore Esq [executor] my library of bookes ... wife Anne (1915, Stoke-upon-Trent) There seems to have been a good deal of trouble about his institution, for on 20 Nov 1633 the Crown presented John Bowyer to this rectory [Keeper, 48] and an action was subsequently brought against Mainwaring and Roger Brereton, the patron, in the Court of High Commissions for simony. On 11 Feb 1635.6 the charge against Mainwaring was finally dismissed, but Brereton was held to have been very faulty in exposing the advowson to open sale and was fined £100 and costs £80 and also had to make a canonical purgation by the oaths of 6 compurgators, gentlemen of his own rank and dwelling within 6 miles of Stoke, to purge himself from any simonical bargains with Mainwaring. Thomas Mainwaring D.D. (compliant minister of Norton-in-the-Moors) c1580-1663
Mainwaring, born about 1580, was 3rd son of Sir Randall Mainwaring of Over Peover, Cheshire knight c1540-1612. He studied at Oxford where on 29 Nov 1594 he was a student at Brasenose College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 27 Nov 1598 (M.A., 18 Mar 1601.2) (B.D., 24 Feb 1608.9) (D.D., 31 Aug 1636). On 20 Sep 1607 he was ordained deacon and priest by Chester. On 22 Apr 1611 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted rector of Uley, Glos where a successor was instituted on 7 Apr 1612. On 22 Apr 1613 (and again on 11 Feb 1614) after presentation by Oxford University he was instituted rector of Weldon, Northants. On 24 Sep 1613 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted rector of Denham, Bucks but probably left office before 1626. On 13 May 1626 he received a dispensation for plurality from the bishop of Lincoln and on 17 May after presentation by the Crown was, plurally, instituted vicar of Tilton-on-the-Hill, Leics. Here he was licensed as a preacher by Lincoln on 17 Mar 1635. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued as compliant minister of Weldon and Tilton-on-the-Hill but was ejected from both parishes before Nov 1646 when his wife and her child were granted fifths (from both parishes) by the Committee for plundered ministers. By 1651.2 after probable presentation by the rector of Stoke-upon-Trent then (his kinsman) John Mainwaring c1605-1692 he was in office as compliant minister of Norton-in-the-Moors dependent parochial chapelry (in 1649 said to be valued at £20 pa). Here he might have been in office until 1659. Mainwaring died, aged about 83, and was buried at Weldon on 3 Apr 1663. His will made on 10 Mar 1662.3 was proved under PCC on 7 May 1663. In his will he bequeathed his "brother Mr Thomas Salway Thirty pounds which ???? him for Dyett in the time of the late troubles". Mainwaring married on 6 Mar 1613 at Stanford-upon-Teme to Elizabeth Salwey dau of Arthur Salwey of Stanford-upon-Teme, Worcs "gentleman" c1542-.... by whom he had 1 daughter. His daughter Mary was the wife of George Jeffreys c1610-1685 (composer and organist) [ODNB].

[ODNB] Jeffreys, George (c. 1610–1685), composer and organist, was possibly born in or near Weldon, Northamptonshire, and descended, according to Anthony Wood, from the family of Matthew Jeffries (*fl. c.*1590), a vicar-choral at Wells Cathedral. Nothing is known of his parents or early life, but he appears to have had connections with the Hatton family of Kirby Hall, Northamptonshire, from at least 1631. That year he set verses by Richard Hatton, and by 1633 he was working as a secretary and steward for Richard Hatton's cousin Sir Christopher Hatton (created Baron Hatton in 1643).
Both Richard and Christopher Hatton were students at Cambridge, but there is no record that Jeffreys attended the university himself; he did however compose some of the music for Peter Hausted's comedy The Rival Friends that was performed at Cambridge in March 1632 in the presence of the king and queen. In 1637 Jeffreys married Mary Peirs, the widowed daughter of Thomas Mainwaring, rector of Weldon and Dene, and his wife, Elizabeth Salwey. They had two children: Christopher [see below] and Mary.
[FOSTER] Jeffreys, Christopher, gent. CHRIST CHURCH, matric. 9 Dec., 1659, B.A. 1663, M.A. 1666; steward to Lord Hatton, of Kirby, Northants, and his father George Jeffreys was organist to Charles I. at Oxon. See Ath. i. xxxv: & Al. West. 152.

In the church of Uttoxeter, Staffordshire, is a memorial tablet in the chancel to the Reverend George Malbon, the friend of Samuel Bentley. A poem written by him on the River Dove perpetuates the memory of his tutor: [INTERNET]

The cell where the bank slow doth bend
Was Malbon, the learned and the sage;
My teacher, Mecaenas and friend,
With pleasantry tempered with age.
Flow tears the dear urn to bedew;
Flow elegy mournfully tuned;
Oh! Could I those chords wake anew,
When Milton his Lycidas mourned.

Thomas Mallory D.D. (compliant minister of Norton-in-the-Moors) c1605-1671 [ODNB]
Mallory, born about 1605 (? in Cheshire), was a younger son of Thomas Mallory (dean of Chester) c1565-1644 and Elizabeth Vaughan dau of Richard Vaughan (bishop of Chester) c1553-1607. He studied at Oxford where on 15 Oct 1624 he was a student at New College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 7 May 1628 (M.A., 17 Jan 1631.2) (D.D., 1 Dec 1660). On 18 Dec 1631 he was ordained deacon by Lincoln. On 10 Dec 1632 after presentation by the bishop of Lincoln he was instituted rector of Easington, Oxon. On 23 Dec 1632 he was ordained priest by Oxford. At Easington he resigned on 18 May 1635. On 6 Aug 1635 after presentation by the Crown - an earlier presentation may have been invalid - he was instituted rector of Northenden, Cheshire. Here he was ejected by Sir William Brereton of Handforth, Cheshire 1st baronet 1604-1661 perhaps as early as 1642. He may then have been imprisoned at Stafford but was released in exchange for a parliamentarian. He then travelled to Oxford where he preached before Charles I. Afterwards he served as a chaplain to the governor of the royalist garrison at Lichfield and was present at the parliamentary siege of Lichfield. On 23 Apr 1643 the garrison surrendered and Mallory returned to live at Northenden. Here he was living at Wythenshawe Hall when it was besieged but escaped before its surrender to the parliamentarians on 27 Feb 1643.4. At Northenden his house and the glebe were sequestered in Aug 1644 and his wife Mary was paid by the Committee for sequestrations £6/19/9 to provide "corn for her & her 6 children". In May 1648 Mallory was still listed as a delinquent. By Jun 1648 after probable presentation by the rector of Stoke-upon-Trent then John Mainwaring c1605-1692 he was in office as compliant minister of Norton-in-the-Moors dependent parochial chapelry (said to be valued at £20 pa) and likely served here until 1651. From 1651 to 1653 Mallory may have served as compliant minister of Eccleston rectory, Lancs. In 1659 he was involved in a Cheshire royalist uprising. On 5 Sep 1660 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted rector of Eccleston. On 30 Jul 1660 after presentation by the Crown he was collated a canon of Chester and on 19 Sep 1660 installed as prebendary of Lichfield Wolvey. On 1 Dec 1660 he was made a D.D. On 11 Apr 1662 he received a government dispensation for plurality and on 5 Jun 1662 after a further presentation by the Crown he was again instituted rector of Northenden. Henry Newcome recorded in his diary on Sunday 9 Nov 1662 "Dr Mallory preached on 1 Cor. ix, 26, a learned unprofitable sermon to the generality of the people. Though it occasioned no greife as was feared. If the shepheard fed not as was desired, yet the watchman smote not as was feared."

Mallory resigned at Northenden before 25 Feb 1668 but was still in office at Eccleston, ?Chester and Lichfield when he died, aged about 66, at Brindle (near Eccleston) and was buried perhaps as requested "in the Night as the late Bishopp of Chester was" on 8 Sep 1671 at Eccleston. Mallory married first about 1633 to Jane (d 1639) by whom he likely had 3 sons, he married second about 1640 Mary (d 1649) by whom he likely had 2 sons and 3 daughters. He married third perhaps about 1650 to Frances (no known children) who survived him. His will made on 10 Jul 1671 was proved under Chester on 10 Jul 1671 and again under PCC on 13 Jun 1674. [NB: Thomas Mallory (lecturer of London St Michael Crooked Lane) c1613-1669 [ODNB] and sometime vicar or compliant minister of Deptford, Kent was a contemporary clergyman.]

(1891) 1661 THOMAS MALLORY, M.A., who was instituted to the rectory on the death of Mr. Gee, was the fourth son of the Rev. Thomas Mallory dean of Chester, by his wife, Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Vaughan, Bishop of Chester (1597-1604), and grandson of Sir William Mallory of Stewdley, county York. He received his education at New College, Oxford, where he matriculated October 15, 1624, being then aged 19. In 1635 he was presented to the rectory of Northenden, but was ejected from the living in 1643-4 and his property confiscated by the Parliamentary party. He was, however, reinstated shortly after the Restoration, and on the 30th July, 1660, was presented to a prebendal stall in Chester Cathedral. He was twice married and had several children. His first wife, Jane, was buried at Northenden, February 12, 1638 (9); ~~his second wife, Mary, appears to have survived him~~. Mr. Mallory died at Brindle in September, 1671, and was buried on the 8th of that month at Eccleston. A will was proved at Chester in 1671, but there would appear to have been some dispute in connection with it, for an inventory of his goods was filed and administration granted to his representatives in 1674. [E. Baines and W. R. Whatton The history of the county palatine and duchy of Lancaster, new edn, ed. J. Croston and others 4 (1891) p195]
(9 Nov 1662) Sabb: Nov. 9. I rose after 8. Dr Mallory preached on 1 Cor. ix, 26, a learned unprofitable sermon to the generality of the people. Though it occasioned no greife as was feared. If the shepheard fed not as was desired, yet the watchman smote not as was feared. [The diary of the Rev. Henry Newcome ... (1849) p138-9]
(1948) MALLORY, THOMAS. M.A. (Ox.). R. of Northenden, 1635. In petition, 1660, stated he was ejected by Sir W. Brereton, 1642. In Breviate (1645) house & glebe as seqd., Aug. 1644: items in accounts, 1644, wife Mary to buy provision for Scots army, 10/0: corn for her & her 6 children, £6/19/9. Escaped from Wythenshawe Hall, Northenden, when besieged. Son John, citizen of London, informed W. that M. was imprisoned a year at Stafford, exchanged by the King for a noted prisoner: went to Oxford, often preached before Charles I : chaplain to Sir Hervey Bagot [Sir Harvey Bagot of Blithfield, Staffs 1st baronet 1591-1660 - his son Richard was governor of Lichfield garisson which surrendered 23 Apr 1643] , govr. of Lichfield garrison, on surrender of which he returned to N .: plundered of all he had by Sir R. Duckinfield, just after harvest: ejected with wife & 7 children, no fifth: served cure in Staffs. worth £20 p.a. (Norton in the Moors, entry in P.R. of wife Mary's burial at Astbury, 26 June 1649): forced to remove to London: ~~Bulstrode Whitelocke got him a Surrey living, but he had to leave it, parishioners saying he was a Papist.~~ R. of Eccleston, Lancs. Thomas Mallory (lecturer of London St Michael Crooked Lane) c1613-1669 [ODNB]
MALORY, THOMAS. Lecturer at St. Michael's, Crooked Lane, London. 1661. Received payments as lecturer 25 March 1659 to 25 March 1661. In a list of London Congregational ministers, 1660, he is given as also preaching at St. James, Duke's Place, and, '1st day afternoon', in Crooked Lane. (Churchwardens' Accounts, Guildhall Library: S.P. 29. 47. 75 : D.N.B .: Cal. 36, 53.) St. Catharine's, Camb., mc. 1630, as of Northamptonshire: B.A. 1634: M.A. 1637. Ord. pr., Peterb., 9 June 1639. V. of St. Nicholas, Deptford, Kent, 1 Feb. 1643-4 (L.I.). John Evelyn was one of his parishioners and gave him a qualified approval, 'tho' ... somewhat of the Independent, yet he ordinarily preach'd sound doctrine, and was a peaceable man, which was an extraordinary felicity in this age'. He heard Malory, 17 Jan. 1658-9, 'taking leave of the parish in a pathetical speech, to go to a living in the Citty' (Diary, ed. 1870, 225, 260). Assistant to Kent Commission 29 Sept. 1657. Signed Declaration against Venner 1661. Will, as of London, 12 Jan. 1668-9: P.C.C. 9 Feb. 1668-9. Daughters Frances Melsham, widow (bap. at Deptford, 19 July 1644), Mary (1646), Austrea, Susanna, Sarah, and Grace (1652): son Ralph (1657). Publications. . .

Nathaniel Mansfield M.A. (presbyterian minister of Armitage) c1629-1708 B124
Mansfield, born about 1629 in London, is of unkown parentage. He was educated at St Paul's School, London. He studied at Cambridge where on 18 May 1647 he was admitted sizar at Magdalene College and matriculated that year and also at Oxford where on 27 Feb 1650.1 as a commoner he matriculated from Corpus Christi College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 6 Mar 1650.1 (M.A., Peterhouse, Cambridge, 1654). He was presumably ordained as a presbyterian clergyman before 3 May 1654 when he was appointed by the Trustees for the maintenance of preaching ministers as presbyterian minister of Armitage ~~parochial curacy~~. Here for 5 or 6 years he received an augmentation of £50 to his salary. In Jun 1660 he likely continued in office as de facto parochial curate. By 28 Mar 1661 he had probably resigned at Armitage on his appointment as parochial curate of Willesley, Derbys where he is said to have paid a clerical subsidy in Feb 1661.2. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to The act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. He was still in office on 8 Sep. In 1669 he was a teacher of a conventicle at his own house in Atherstone, Warwicks only attended by a congregation said to be "few & inconsiderable". On 10 Jun 1672 he was licensed as a presbyterian teacher at the house of Mrs Thornton (a widow) at Mancetter, Warwicks (which had been licensed as a meeting-place on 13 May). The Comon Fund survey of dissenting ministers taken about 1690 has under Staffordshire the entry "Ministers that have a Competent Supply - Mr Nath: Mansfield - [ejected Minister] Of Armitage - able to goe abroad every Lords day 4. 5. or 6 miles for 9/0 or 7/0 pr day and horse hire paid out of it". On 30 May 1699 he was an ordaining minister at the ordination at Oldbury, Worcs of John Reynolds 1668-1727 [ODNB], son of John Reynolds (presbyterian minister of Wolverhampton) 1632-1683, and on 19 Sep 1705 at that of Thomas Pickard at Birmingham. It is unclear exactly where Mansfield lived after 1662. Calamy (who believed Mansfield was ejected from Armitage) writing in 1713 states "After his Ejectment he preach'd Occasionally about the Country, and liv'd at Walsall." A later writer (1778) states "He lived some time after his ejectment at Wolverhampton, and then at Walsall where he died. At the beginning of his Nonconformity he preached but seldom, but afterwards more frequently. He was a fervent and affectionate preacher". Mansfield died, aged about 79, in Jul 1708 at Walsall where he was buried on 14 Jul. His will made on 10 Jul 1708 was proved under Lichfield on 29 Nov 1708. His personalty (which included "Library of Books £12") was valued at £427/15/6. Mansfield married about 1660 to Ann by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. In his will he made a bequest to his son Nathaniel on strict conditions. It is said that "He had many crosses, the greatest of which was by his son ..." He also leaves "unto my grandson Fowler Walker all such of my bookes as are fit & suitable for the use of a minister if my son in law Roger Walker [executor] do educate him suitable for the ministry". Fowler Walker minister e1690-1753 (who died at Abergavenny, Mons) was the author of A Defence of Infant Baptism: Wherein the Arguments for it from Scripture, Reason, and Antiquity, are Briefly Offer'd ... (1732) which was later published in Welsh. In 1675 mentions in a letter "my brother Jesson, of Lychfield". This was probably William Jesson of Lichfield gentleman c1620-1686 whose house at Lichfield was licensed for presbyterian worship in 1672.

Robert Marchenton (compliant minister of Maer) e1614-1654
Marchenton, born perhaps about 1614, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon by 18 Mar 1637.8 when he was in office as stipendiary curate of Caverswall where he was still in office on 16 Jan 1641.2. On 16 Apr 1643 he was in office as stipendiary curate-in-charge at Ashley (on behalf of the rector John Lightfoot D.D. 1602-1675 QV who probably resigned before Feb 1643.4). By 26 Mar 1643.4 Marchenton was in office as compliant minister of Maer where he succeded his father-in-law Randulph Hodgkin c1596-1642 QV. On 9 Mar 1650.1 the Committee for plundered ministers formally "settled" him at Maer and granted him an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary of no more than £20. Still in office he died, aged about 40, and was buried here on 23 Mar 1653.4. Marchenton married 8 Jan 1643.4 at Maer to Mary Hodgkin c1621-1646 dau of Randulph Hodgkin (parochial curate of Maer) c1596-1642 and Alice (no known children).

The college's [Rome English College] entry for Gualterus Marshaeus, headed Hereticus and fiercely scored through, briefly records that Marsh was burnt to death in 1595 for knocking the host from the hands of a priest in the procession of the forty hours before St Agatha in Rome, on 15 June. An Italian avviso dated two days later reveals that Marsh had spent the last six months under the supervision of the Inquisition, doing penance for offences against Catholics in England and for having been paid by the queen to spy on Catholics, which he had abjured, vowing to live a retired life to save his soul. (Great Bolas PR) 10 Mar 1627 Roger Benbowe, Parson, buried 10 Mar 1627, & Isaac Martin succeedeth 23 Mar 1627. [1627.8] ... My Brother Samuell Martin was buried in St. Peters in Chester, 27 Sep 1641 [in another handwriting November last] ... 22 Mar 1648 My Brother, Joseph Martin, of Warton, was buried in the parish Church of Forton. ... 30 Nov 1650 Mr. Richard Tomson & my sister Rachell Martin mar. ...

Mr. Isaac Martin rector of Great Bolas Co Salop was charged with having stirred up the people his Parishioners from the Pulpit upon a Lords day to assist Prince Rupert where he was general in these parts, when he was marching out of Salop with his great Army to North, saying that the King had such a Prince for him, that he never drew his sword in battle, but he prevailed. The charge against him recounted (it was exhibited before the Committee June 4, 1652) that he had been an idle and unprofitable Minister of Bolas and never catechised the youth of his Parish, but only some few on the Sabbath in Lent. His sermons were for the most part moralities, and stuffed up with bitter invective against the Professors of religion, branding them with the name of Puritans, Precisians, Scismatics and factious people. He was refractory to observe any of tho fast days commended by Ordinances of Parliament. In 1646, when he was constreyned to observe them, in his sermons on those days were for the most part composed of nothing but Rayling and invectives against religion and the Professors thereof, usually preached but once a fortnight. Some of his parishioners repayring sometimes to hear Mr. Baughry(?) at Kynersley(?) (or Kynaston(?) Mr. Blake at Stoke Mr. Fisher at Upton 2 such Godly Ministers (they not having the means at home) he would undertake occasion to reprove and rebuke them in the pulpit for leaving their Parish to hear sidicious and schismatic Teachers. He wrote a letter to Thomas Lingen a soldier in Ercall garrison to desire Armourer the Gov. of Ercall either by his soldiers, or warrant, to pull down the Church of Bowless that it might not in garrisoned for the Parliament (of which he had intelligence) after Shrewsbury by the Parliament forces and this was done for the Governor seat a warrant to [...]

Parish and people and they pulled it down on the Lords day. He told Armourer that he had intelligence that the Parliament meant to plant a Garrison in it and if they should do [...] it would be a great hindrance to Ercall. This was done for fear the town should be burnt, as many towns were, on the last Sunday of the old year. Roger Church the Constable went round to call people to come the next morning to pull down the church and the Minister after the Church was defaced came there and weptand went into his house again. John Evans was commanded out of his bed thrice by Roger Church before he came and some wished the Chancel to be [NATIONAL ARCHIVES INTERNET]

Richard Martin (vicar of Alrewas) e1579-....
Martin, born perhaps about 1579, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 27 Feb 1637.8 when after presentation by the prebendary of Alrewas then John Hayward c1582-1651 he was instituted vicar of Alrewas. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister, last signed the parish register about Nov 1644 and approved the appointment of a successor John Bould c1623-1657. Perhaps about Jul 1644 he was appointed compliant minister of Monks Kirby vicarage, Warwickshire. He is said to have been in office as compliant minister of Finedon vicarage, Northants on 6 Nov 1645. On 24 Aug 1662, still in office at Monks Kirby, he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Afterwards he is said to have been "entertained by the then Earl of Denbigh". This was Basil Feilding 2nd Earl of Denbigh c1608-1675, sometime parliamentarian, who had a house and estate at Monks Kirby. In 1669 men of his name were preaching in Warwickshire at Burton Dassett, Birmingham and Southam. No further record has been discovered. Martin married on 16 Nov 1609 to Ann (d 1659) (no known children). On 10 Oct 1659 a son of John Bould (above) was buried at Monks Kirby suggesting a close relationship between the Martin and Bould families.

Richard Martin (parochial curate of Ranton) e1598-1666
Martin, born perhaps about 1598, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. On 10 May 1622 he was ordained deacon by Peterborough at the bishop's palace. Perhaps shortly after Apr 1624 he was licensed as parochial curate of Ranton where he was in office in 1636. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister but had been replaced in office by 1651.2. By An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) he was restored as parochial curate and about this time was jointly appointed parochial curate of Ellenhall. On 6 Sep 1662 "Richardus Martin, Curate of Ellenhall and Routon, was noted as old and poor" in a Liber Cleri. About 1665 he "resigned by reason of age & infirmity" from both offices and went to live in Stafford. Martin died, aged perhaps about 68, and was buried in Nov 1666 at Stafford St Mary. Martin may not have married.

Anthony Mason B.A. (compliant minister of Newborough) c1606-1658
Mason, born about 1606, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1623 he was a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1626.7. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 23 Mar 1629.30 ordained priest by Peterborough pro Lichfield. On 19 Apr 1630 after presentation (on 23 Mar) by the Crown he was instituted rector of Huntingdon St Benedict. He probably resigned here before 17 Jul 1632 when he was licensed head schoolmaster of Barton-under-Needwood Grammar School which was managed by the London Drapers' Company. Perhaps about this time after probable presentation by the rector of Tatenhill then John Balcanquall c1588-1647 QV he was licensed parochial curate of Wychnor where he was certainly in office in 1639. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Shortly before 27 Aug 1647 the Drapers' Company dismissed Mason at Barton "after accusations of negligence, cruelty and frequenting alehouses". At Wychnor he may have resigned by 18 Jun 1648 when - after recommendation by the Committee for plundered ministers to the W*estminster assembly of divines* (on 25 Jun 1647) he was appointed by the Committee - compliant minister of Newborough. Here he received an augmentation of £45 to his discontinued annual salary. Still in office at Newborough he died, aged about 52, and was buried here on 24 Nov 1658. His will made on 31 May 1654 was proved under PCC on 6 Jun 1659. Mason married on 18 Feb 1633.4 at Barton-under-Needwood to Ann Repton (d 1659) by whom he had 2 sons and 3 daughters.

In Jun and Jul 1646 the committee for plundered ministers found that there was no stipend reserved for a minister in this chapel and granted £50 pa from the revenues of the dean and chapter of Lichfield to maintain a preaching minister here. On 11 Nov 1646 the committee ordered it to be paid from the revenues of the collegiate church of Penkridge that had been sequestered from Sir Edward Littleton. (Bodl MS 323 p243; SPDI F1 p268) On 27 Mar 1647 the committee altered this augmentation to £45 pa (LMS 979 p353). This committee recommended Mason for this cure to the committee of the Assembly of Divines on 25 Jun 1647 (Add. MS 15671 p85) and formally appointed him minister here 18 Jun 1648 (LMS 979 p353). [INTERNET] Mr. Anthony Mason had been appointed as Master after Mr. Huxley's dismissal. A letter written to the Visitors in June 1646 points out that Mr. Mason had neglected his work as a schoolmaster, and asks the Visitors to carry out the trust reposed in them in order to remedy the situation. Shortly after this, Mr. Mason arranged a visitation date privately without telling the Visitors, obviously hoping to catch them out. This provoked a quick response from the Visitors, who wrote immediately to the Company complaining about what had happened. In May 1647 the Company wrote to Mr. Mason requesting him to go to London to answer the charges being made against him. Mr. Mason did not feel that he could comply with this request and on the 27th August 1647 the Drapers' Company wrote to the Visitors advising them that Mr. Mason had been dismissed and asking them to find a successor. Thomas Mason M.A. (vicar of Chebsey) e1606-1681 H80
Mason, born perhaps about 1606, is of unknown parentage. ~ He (or a man of his name) studied at Cambridge where during Lent 1623.4 he was a sizar at St Catharine's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1626.7 (M.A., 1630). On 25 Sep 1631 this man was ordained deacon by Peterborough and on 26 Feb 1631.2 ordained priest by Peterborough pro Lichfield. ~ On 4 Jul 1642 after presentation pro hac vice by (? Sir Walter Littleton knight (vicar-General of Lichfield) 1607-1670) assign of the dean & chapter of Lichfield Mason was instituted vicar of Chebsey. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister but was removed in 1646 by the Committee for plundered ministers when a group of parishioners exhibited articles against him. After 1650 Woolrich, a local farmer, acquired the income of the parish and "hired Itinerant Preachers to supply the cure". He also paid Mason a fifth of £10 pa. By 1651.2 Mason was - jointly - compliant minister of Ellenhall parochial chapelry and Ranton parochial chapelry. In early Jun 1660 he continued as de facto parochial curate (in both parishes). He probably resigned both offices when he was, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) restored as vicar of Chebsey and thus displaced any man who was in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a subsidy of 10/0 and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 14 Aug 1662. On 18 Nov 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £5. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Cold Norton constablewick (which lay in Chebsey parish) and was assessed on 4 hearths at Chebsey constablewick. Still in office he died, aged about 74, and was buried here on 31 Mar 1681. His will made on 22 Mar 1680.1 was proved under Lichfield on 18 Apr 1681. His personalty was valued at £142/2/0 and included "the bookes £5". Mason married perhaps about 1642 to Mary Croxton c1618-1706 dau of (his predecessor at Chebsey) Richard Croxton (vicar of Chebsey) c1580-e1642 by whom he had 2 sons and 1 daughter. His daughter Elizabeth was the wife of Josiah Lightfoot (rector of Ashley) 1650-1683. Walker wrote in 1714 "He was a Man of great Honesty, Loyalty, and Learning".

(1714) MASON, THOMAS, A.M. Chebsey V One Woolrich, a Farmer in the Parish, who afterwards for his Zeal made a Lieutenant, got Mr Mason turned out of his Living; and with the Small Tythes together with an Addition of £30 a Year out of Papists Estates, hired Itinerant Preachers to supply the cure; having for his Labour the whole Profits of the Glebe which was valued at £40 a Year. Mr Mason lay Fourteen Years under Sequestration; during which time however the Farmer punctually paid him £10 a Year as Fifths: But at the Restoration he Possessed the other Four Parts also, and Enjoyed them for Twenty Years after. He was a Man of great Honesty, Loyalty, and Learning. [Walker (1714) p311]
(1915, Chebsey) seq. 1646 Thomas Mason M.A. 4 -4 Mason. Succeeded Croxton as vicar and married his daughter (Gregory). On 23 Jun 1646 his parishioners (see note 6) exhibited articles against him to the committee for plundered ministers. After several adjournments of the case the committee decided on 1 Oct 1646 that he was "a comon frequenter of alehouses, as well on the Lords daies as other daies and a comon drunkard "and sequestered the vicarage from him, though he did not submit and deliver up the vicarage until 10 Dec 1646. Eight days later his wife Mary petitioned for and obtained - subject to his submission - one-fifth part of the living for the maintenance of herself and her children. Mason, however, was still recalcitrant and on 16 Jan 1646.7 the committee of parliament for Staffordshire was ordered to remove him and "all others" from the vicarage and to assist Mr Newton to take possession thereof (Add. MS 15670 p240, 362, 408; Bod. MS 324 p85, 86, 131) During the Commonwealth he acted as curate of the neighbouring villages of Ellenhall and Ronton. He was restored to this vicarage before Jan 1661.2, when he paid a subsidy of 10/0 and was still here in 1676, when his daughter Elizabeth married the rector of Ashley. Walker states that Mason was allowed £10 pa as fifths for 14 years. Three of this name took their M.A.'s at Cambridge between 1624 and 1627 (Venn).

The Rev John Masson M.A. afterwards rector of Aswarby in Lincolnshire, and brother to Samuel, now Presbyterian minister, has made grateful acknowledgment of the Christian sympathy and liberality which the corporation of Dort had manifested towards his father, a persecuted French divine, who, after the revocation of the edict of Nantz, found till his death, a friendly asylum here. The pension which old Masson enoyed from the town for two years was, for a season, generously continued to his children.

Thomas Masters M.A. (rector of Tatenhill) 1626-1696 H81
Masters, christened on 25 Jun 1626 at Salisbury St Thomas, was 5th son of George Masters of Salisbury, Wilts and Mary. He hay have studied at Oxford as a student at Magdalen Hall. At Oxford he was created B.A. on 15 Apr 1648 (M.A., 29 Jan 1650.1). On 11 Oct 1648 he was elected a fellow of Exeter College and served until 1657.8. On 14 Feb 1660.1 he was ordained (?deacon and) priest by Galloway. On 1 Apr 1661 after presentation by Samuel Watson gentleman he was instituted rector of Congerstone, Leics. Here he resigned before 3 Feb 1662.3 when after presentation by the Crown he was instituted rector of Tatenhill and on the same day licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. On 5 Feb he was inducted. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £140. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Tatenhill but was assessed on 6 hearths. Still in office he died, aged 70, on 28 Mar 1696 and was buried here on 31 Mar. An inscribed monument was placed in the church. His will made on 23 Sep 1693 was proved under Lichfield on 22 May 1696. Masters married about 1659 - probably to Isabella (d 1696) - by whom he (likely) had 3 sons. Samuel Masters (prebendary of Lichfield Gaia Major) 1646-1694 was his nephew. Charles Masters 1663-1686 was his first son and he succeded Samuel Masters as a fellow of Exeter College. John Reay (vicar of Long Clawson, Leics) c1644-1725 was his brother-in-law to whom he bequeathed a book "David Pareus com'entary on the scriptures in 2 volumes". Masters qua rector of Tatenhill was patron of the parochial chapelries of Barton-under-Needwood and Wychnor (where he had probably presented George Swan e1640-.... QV in 1665).

(Calton) letter to the Bishop from Sampson Wheildon concerning funds fraudulently obtained by Rev. Maysmoor, supposedly raised for rebuilding the chapel: also re Mr. Maysmoor's resignation from CAULDON and WATERFALL 5 Feb 1800 [INTERNET]

Thomas Meakin (parochial curate of Horton) c1633-1717 H82

Meakin, born perhaps about 1633, is of unknown parentage. Probably as a literate he was presumably ordained deacon shortly before 1663. About 1663 after probable presentation by the vicar of Leek then George Roades c1627-1695 QV he was licensed parochial curate of Horton. In Jun 1665 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Horton constablewick and was assessed on 2 hearths at Horton township. Meakin likely resigned at Horton about 1671 when after probable presentation by the (same) vicar of Leek he was licensed parochial curate of Rushton. In 1714 he continued in office as perpetual curate. Still in office he died, perhaps aged about 84, on 14 Mar 1716.7 and was buried here on 18 Mar. Meakin married about 1663 to Elizabeth by whom he had 2 sons and 3 daughters. His successor at Rushton was his older son William Meakin 1666-1750.

[VCH] (Rushton) The right to nominate a curate was claimed in 1673 by James Rode, the lord of Rushton James, [James Rode of Rushton James in Rushton, Staffs gentleman c1643-a1690] who had endowed the living that year. The curate in 1718 [? recte 1717], Thomas Meakin, stated that he had been nominated by the vicar of Leek, but in 1742 his son and successor, William Meakin, claimed that both of them had been nominated by the trustees of land given to the chapel in 1660. (fn. 96) The vicar of Leek presented in 1750 and 1790, and in 1804 his nominee was appointed rather than a man nominated by the trustees. Thereafter the vicar's right to present went unchallenged. The same. Signification that in the suit between William Giffard and the late Anthony de Monte Peliologo, touching the canonry of Lichfield and prebend of Weford, Antony obtained sentence in his favour, but died before its execution. He therefore prays the pope to grant to Thomas Michel, D.C.L. advocate in the Roman court, whatever right Anthony had in the matter, notwithstanding that William has held the said canonry and prebend for many years, or that Thomas has the church of Holm, in the diocese of Norwich, and a canonry and prebend of Pencrich in that of Lichfield. Granted. Dated as above. [PAPAL]

John Middleton (compliant assistant minister-in-charge of Blithfield) c1616-1681
Middleton, born about 1616, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1633 he matriculated pensioner from Trinity College. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1636.7 (M.A., 1640). He was ordained deacon and on 19 Sep 1641 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. Probably after appointment by John Beardmore (rector of Blithfield) c1572-1658 he was by 3 Feb 1651.2 in office as compliant assistant minister-in-charge of Blithfield. On 4 Aug 1658 Richard Harrison c1611-1676 QV was admitted by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as compliant minister of Blithfield and on 13 Dec 1658 Middleton gave up possession of the rectory house to him. In early Jun 1660 he may not have been in an office. On 20 May 1661 after presentation by William Courtenay 15th Earl of Devon 1628-1702 he was instituted as rector of Stradishall, Suffolk. He was licensed as a preacher by Norwich on 16 Oct 1662. Still in office he died, aged about 65, and was buried here on 25 Aug 1681. Middleton probably married in 1668 at Stradishall to Mary Finch (no known children).

Thomas Miles (presbyterian minister of Lichfield St Chad) e1618-.... G27
Miles, born perhaps about 1618, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 30 Sep 1648 when the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him presbyterian minister of Onecote dependent parochial chapelry and granted him an augmentation of £20 to his annual salary. He served as presbyterian minister of Bradbourne vicarage, Derbys from 1650 to 1656. On 27 ?Aug 1656 he was approved by the Commission for the approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Lichfield St Chad dependent parochial chapelry. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto parochial curate. He did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived on 24 Aug 1662. Miles continued to live in Lichfield. Under The five mile act (31 Oct 1665), which prohibited nonconformist clergy from entering within five miles of parliamentary corporations such as Lichfield, he was forced to move. Pearse writes in 1683:

> He left his Living in the City of L. where he had been a Minister some Years, having a Wife and several Children, lost £80 per an. and £40 which should have been paid to him in the beginning of the Year, and in a low Estate left his Living: Yet he continued in Town, living upon meer Providence, till the Oxford Act [The five mile act (31 Oct 1665)] came out. Then he was forced to leave Wife and Children, being scarce free from an almost deadly Cold, which he thought would put an end to his Life, continuing about three Months upon him. He saw not Wife nor Children after that in eleven Weeks, and durst not come to them publickly in eighteen Months, or thereabouts, and having no Dwelling-place abroad, journeyed in that time (as he thinks) thirteen score Miles on foot, from place to place. If at any time he should steal home by Night, he was in great fear and danger, and durst not stir out of his Chamber; and whenever he went out again, he went either very late, or very early, and sometimes on a sudden, for fear of being taken. After that time he made bold to come home; but the Zeal of some growing so hot, that one Mr. Grace, an aged worthy Minister, coming to Town, they made search for him, which he escaped, leaving his Horse in his Inn, and escaping on foot: Then Mr. M. thought it unsafe for him to stay, and made haste away the next day, and durst not return in a long time. One time he was sent for to a Magistrate that lay sick, and continued his Night-Visits for a Fortnight; but the Evening before he died, he was sent for in haste by Day-light; and because he was seen to go to the Magistrate's House, he was complained of to the chief Magistrate of the Town, by a Curate, which made him hasten away next morning, (Saturday): The chief Magistrate was so kind as to send notice to his Wife, on the Evening of the Sabbath, that her Husband should be gone, for some had been twice with him for a Warrant. After this he absented long. He was cited into the Ecclesiastical Court, for baptizing his own Child. One time as he was going along the Street, one cried out to the Town-Clerk, who went after him, Do you see the Rogue Mr. R. do you see the Rogue ? He is before you: But God was pleased to give the Town-Clerk another Heart than to apprehend him. But this made him be much from home, and walk the Streets very sparingly. He hath been forced into the Country in Snow and Rain, to preach before day, and to shift from House to House before day, for fear of a Magistrate in the Country, who hath said, he would have him dead or alive. And so not daring to be in the City, nor to appear in the Country, in that Magistrate's reach, he hath been constrained to retire into the Fields and Solitudes, to keep Sabbath all alone.

In 1668 he was assessed on 2 hearths in the parish of Lichfield St Mary. In 1669 he was a teacher of conventicle held at Walsall and about Jun 1672, as of Lichfield, was licensed as a general presbyterian teacher. The Common Fund survey of dissenting ministers taken about 1690 has under Staffordshire the entry "Ministers that have a Competent Supply - Mr Tho: Miles - [ejected Minister] Of Litchfield - able to goe abroad every Lords day 4. 5. or 6 miles for 9/0 or 7/0 pr day and horse hire paid out of it". No further record has been discovered. Miles married about 1655 to Ann (d 1680) by whom he had ?2 sons and 2 daughters.

(1778) (1778) [LICHFIELD ST CHAD (aka STOWE)] LITCHFIELD St Chad's [Curate] {£80} Mr Thomas Miles. He suffered much by his Nonconformity. Besides his annual income he lost £40 which should have been paid him in the beginning of the year; and left his living in a very low estate, He continued in the town till the Oxford act [Five-Mile Act OR Oxford Act (1665)] came out. Then he was forced to leave his family, though he had a very dangerous cold upon him. He saw not his wife and children in eleven weeks, nor durst he come to them in 18 months. Having no certain dwelling, he travelled about from place to place, near 300 miles on foot. If at any time he stole home by night, he durst not stir out of his chamber; and when he went out, it was either very late or very early, for fear of being taken. He hath been sometimes constrained to retire into the fields and solitudes, to keep Sabbaths alone. He lived entirely upon Providence, which took care of him. E188 (1672) Licence to Thomas Miles of Lichfield to be a G'rall Pr. Teacher.
(1915, Onecote) 30 Sep 1648 Thomas Miles 3 - 3 Miles. ~~Possibly matriculated 1597 St Mary Hall, Oxford, from co. Gloucester, aged 14 (Foster).~~ By an order dated 15 Mar 1646.7 the committee for plundered ministers granted to the minister here, when appointed, £20 pa from the impropriate rectory of Ellastone, sequestered from Sir Richard Fleetwood papist and delinquent. On 30 Sep 1648 the said committee appointed Miles and granted him this augmentation. (Bodl MS 325 p278) Probably he became the minister at Stowe, Lichfield QV, in 1656. [1915 p199-200]
(1915, Lichfield St Chad) 27 Apr 1656 ejected 1662 Thomas Miles 91 - 91 Miles. See Onecote. Approved by the commissioners as curate here 27 Aug 1656 (LMS 968 p51); ~~succeeded Langley as curate at St Chad's (LMS 994 p142); probably in 1655 (LMS 981 p21); received augmentation of £49/19/10 or £80.~~ (loc. cit.; cf Shaw II p505); ejected (Calamy). William Miller B.A. (vicar of Wednesbury) 1640-1688 H83
Miller, christened on 20 May 1640 at Coventry Holy Trinity, was a son of William Miller of Coventry, Warwicks. He studied at Cambridge where on 21 Jun 1658 he was admitted as a sizar at Pembroke College and in 1659 matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1661.2. On 12 Jul 1662 he subscribed to the Act of uniformity and was ordained deacon by Lichfield on (the next day) 13 Jul 1662 when he was also licensed parochial curate of Binley, Warwicks. On 26 Jul 1663 he was ordained priest and that month licensed as a preacher (both) by Lichfield. At Binley he probably resigned before 23 Nov 1664 when after presentation by the Crown he was was instituted vicar of Wednesbury. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £28. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Wednesbury constablewick but "The Vicares house" was assessed on 5 hearths at Wednesbury township. Still in office he died, aged 48, and was buried there on 17 Nov 1688. Miller married on 12 Oct 1665 at Frankton, Warwicks to Dorothy Robins of Hillmorton, Warwicks by whom he had 4 sons and 2 daughters. In 1686 the historian Robert Plot reported that Miller had earlier sighted a meteor at Wednesbury church "... seen Nov 22, 1672... against the West door of Wednesbury Church, by the Ingenious Mr. Miller vicar there..."

He was a great benefactor to this church and city. He greatly increased the revenues of the hospital for old women in this city, and rebuilt the house in which they dwell. He built, at his own expence some handsome brick buildings in the Close, near the Pool Westward, for the use of residentiary-canons. He was also Master or Prior of St. John's, in Lichfield. He died January 30, 1505; and was buried, according to his will, dated December 5 1504, at the feet of Bishop Halse, to whom he had been executor. [Harwood (1806) 208]

[1847] (Nov. 7) At Upper Gornal, near Sedgley. Staffordshire, the Rev. Samuel Faulkner Montgomery, incumbent of that chapelry. He was of Corpus Christi college, Cambridge, where he graduated B.A. 1834, M.A. 1842. He had just accepted the post of one of the missionaries to Borneo. [GENT.MAG]

(Upper Gornal) Sacred to the memory of the Rev. Samuel Faulkner Montgomery, late Incumbent of Upper Gornal Church, who departed this life, on the 7th of November, 1847. Aged 40 years. This tablet is erected by his widow, as an affectionate memorial of his worth and many virtues.

(Sedgley) Sacred To the Memory of THE REVEREND SAMUEL FAULKENER MONTGOMERY M.A. Of Corpus Christi College, Cambridge Eldest Son of ANDREW THOMAS MONTGOMERY esquire Of The Knocks in the County of Kildare, Ireland, Who departed this life November 7th 1847 He was First Incumbent of St. Peter's Church, Upper Gornal in this Parish To which He had been appointed on his admission to Holy Orders in the year 1842 and in the administration of the several duties connected therewith endeavouring with untiring energy to promote the welfare, spiritual and temporal of its population, he continued to the year 1847 when having been selected to fill the situation of Missionary to the Island of Borneo in The East Indian Archipelago by the Borneo Church Missionary Society He resigned his incumbency In his exertions to promote The objects of that Society and His ardent desire to further the promulgation of divine truth in a part of the world where heathenism and idolatry alone existed And also in making the necessary arrangements of the affairs of the district consequent upon his retirement therefrom, he fell a Victim to fever and exhaustion after a Brief illness of one week. "Man is like vanity: His days Are as a shadow which passeth away". Psalm 144 Chapter 4 Verse. This Tablet has been erected over His remains which are interred In the vaults beneath by his Bereaved parents and beloved Brother, who survive to mourn His loss.

The diocese of Lichfield is also indebted to Miss Hinckes and Mrs. Rebecca Moore, (wife of the Reverend Henry Moore, Canon and Precentor of Lichfield Cathedral) in another way. During the 1850s and 60s they visited many of the parish churches in the diocese, (including Bushbury) and made water colour paintings of both the interior and exterior of each building. These paintings are now in the Lichfield Cathedral Library. (There is a belief at the Library that Theodosia and Mrs. Henry Moore were sisters. But in fact the ladies were not related). The Rev. Henry Moore married Miss Rebecca Harriet Huntington at St. George's Hanover Square on 10th April 1822. Miss Hinckes died at the Moore's home in the Close at Lichfield in May 1874 and was buried at Bushbury. After the retirement of the Reverend Henry Moore he and his wife moved to Miss Hinckes' house at Tettenhall Wood, where they both died. He is buried in the south aisle of Lichfield Cathedral. John Morrall (parochial curate of Shareshill) c1642-1700 H84
Morrall, born about 1642, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. On 22 Sep 1662 he was appointed schoolmaster of Cannock parish school. In Jul 1663 he was ordained deacon and licensed as a preacher (both) by Lichfield. Probably in 1664 (perhaps after presentation by the dean & chapter of Wolverhampton and/or Sir Edward Littleton of Pillaton in Penkridge, Staffs 2nd baronet 1633-1709) he was licensed parochial curate (and apparently as late as 22 Oct 1669 appointed reader) of Shareshill. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Great Saredon, Little Saredon and Shareshill constablewicks - which comprised Shareshill parish - but was not assessed there. In Sep 1667 he was ordained priest by Lichfield. Still in office he died, aged 58, and was buried here on 2 Dec 1700. An inscribed monument was placed in the church (below). His undated will was proved under Lichfield on 20 Dec 1700. His personalty was valued at £368/14/9 and included "Books £5". Morrall married about 1667 to Judith (d 1690) by whom he had 2 sons and 1 daughter.

*__Jeremy Morrell (rector of Tixall) c1583-1659__

Morrell, born about 1583 in Warwickshire, was probably a younger son of Hercules Morrell (vicar of Warwick St Nicholas) c1554-1599 and Dorcas (Willoughby). He studied at Oxford where on 20 Feb 1600.1 he was a student at Magdalen College and matriculated. He is sometimes styled B.A. but no record has been found of his graduation. By 26 Jul 1605 he was a schoolmaster at Berkswell, Warwicks. On 22 May 1607 he was ordained deacon by Chester at Chester and presumably later ordained priest. By 20 Aug 1616 he was in office as parochial curate of Marchington where a successor was appointed on 14 May 1624. On 9 Feb 1639 after presentation by the Crown he was (apparently) instituted vicar of Shilton, Warwicks where in 1639 he was styled "curate". He may then never have served as vicar. On 12 Nov 1639 after presentation by Walter Aston 2nd Baron Aston of Forfar c1609-1678 he was instituted rector of Tixall. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued here as compliant minister but on 4 Oct 1645 a successor was appointed. Morrell was still living at Tixall when he died, aged about 76, and was buried there on 24 Oct 1659. Morrell may not have married. Gabriel Morrell B.A. (parochial curate of Colmer & Priors Dean, Hants) c1581-.... was probably an older brother.

[His monument] excited the imagination of several early nineteenth-century writers, including Wordsworth (1828), inspiring at least three sonnets and one novel, F. M. Reynolds's Miserrimus: a Tale (1832), none of which was grounded in Morrice's life. The Gentleman's Magazine described Reynolds's work as 'a posthumous libel on an innocent and helpless person whose story is widely different from that here inflicted on his memory; ... a sufferer for conscience' sake ... in consequence of political changes' (GM, 245) [ODNB]

[WHO WAS WHO]

John Morton M.A. (vicar of Sheriff Hales) c1597-1649
Morton, born about 1597, is of unknown parentage. ~ He (or a man of his name) studied at Dublin as a student at Trinity College. At Dublin he graduated B.A. in summer 1618 (M.A., summer 1621). On 9 Dec 1620 he was elected a fellow of Trinity. On 21 Dec 1622 he was ordained deacon at Eccleshall and on 9 Mar 1622.3 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. On 5 Mar 1628 he was instituted rector of Harley, Salop where he was replaced in office on 15 Jul 1633. ~ In Feb 1630.1 after presentation by Walter Aston 1st Baron Aston of Forfar 1584-1639 Morton was instituted vicar of Sheriff Hales, on 26 Feb inducted and on 27 Feb read The 39 a*rticles of religion* (1571). On Sunday 23 Apr 1643 he is reported to have preached a sermon in which he "Vent bitter imprecations against the Round-heads (that is, Gods faithfullest servants and gracious Saints, and the Kings and Parliaments loyall and fastest friends) charging them with faction, rebellion, and such like opprobrious scandals, adding withall in expresse termes, that the Powder-plot, and the treasons that have been practised by the Papists, were nothing to this their late Round-new-invention.". The sermon apparently only halfway through it is said that he "gasped and gaped as he stood in the Pulpit, and stared in his Auditors faces, but could not speake a word more for a good space after, the people all that while being amazed at this so suddain and strange a dumbe shew in him. At length ... stooping down, as it were to take up somewhat at his feet, re-erected himself, and then said, let us give thanks for what we have heard, which he accordingly did, in a fumbling and hardly intelligible manner, and soon made an end." From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. On 2 Sep 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted the minister here an augmentation of £40 pa to his annual salary. (23 Apr 1643) There came most credible information to London, that April the 23, 1643. being the Lords day, one Master Morton vicar of Sheriff. Hales preaching upon a portion of Scripture out of the 120. Psalme, took occasion thence in his Sesmon[sic], to Vent bitter imprecations against the Round-heads (that is, Gods faithfullest servants and gracious Saints, and the Kings and Parliaments loyall and fastest friends) charging them with faction, rebellion, and such like opprobrious scandals, adding withall in expresse termes, that the Powder-plot, and the treasons that have been practised by the Papists, were nothing to this their late Round-new-invention. At which words (having stood hardly halfe his time) he gasped and gaped as he stood in the Pulpit, and stared in his Auditors faces, but could not speake a word more for a good space after, the people all that while being amazed at this so suddain and strange a dumbe shew in him. At length, he (the said Master Morton) stooping down, as it were to take up somewhat at his feet, re-erected himself, and then said, let us give thanks for what we have heard, which he accordingly did, in a fumbling and hardly intelligible manner, and soon made an end. Richard Morton M.D. (presbyterian minister of Kinver) 1637-1698 G28

Morton, christened on 30 Jul 1637 at Ribbesford, was a son of Robert Morton (parochial curate of Bewdley in Ribbesford, Worcs) and (his ?3rd wife) Mercy. He studied at Oxford where in 1652 he was a batteler at Magdalen Hall and matriculated on 17 Mar 1653.4. Shortly after he migrated to New College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 30 Jan 1656.7 (M.A., 5 Jul 1659). In 1658 he was a fellow of New College and also served as chaplain. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 9 Feb 1658.9 when he was admitted as presbyterian minister of Kinver independent parochial chapelry. About Jul 1659 he "became Chaplain in the family of Foley of Worcestershire". (Thomas Foley of "Witley Court", Worcs esquire 1617-1677 was a friend of Richard Baxter 1615-1691 [ODNB].) In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto parochial curate. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. In the years 1662-1670 Morton presumably studied medicine for on 20 Dec 1670 on the nomination of Prince William of Orange he was created M.D., Oxon. Morton had probably moved to London by 16 Dec 1668 when his first child was christened at London Clerkenwell. He subsequently moved to Greyfriars Court in Newgate Street where he spent the rest of his life with his wife Sarah. Her unmarried brother Edward Tyson M.D. of London 1651-1708 [ODNB] lived with them. On 20 Mar 1675.6 Morton was admitted C.R.C.P. (candidate of the Royal College of Physicians) and on 23 Dec 1679 was elected F.R.C.P. (fellow). His Oxford degree of M.D. was incorporated at Cambridge in 1680. In 1690, 1691 and 1697 he was a college censor and sometime physician-in-ordinary to King William III to whom he had dedicated his book Phthisiologia ... in 1689. This work "established his reputation at home and abroad for over a century". Morton, died aged 61, on 30 Aug 1698 and was buried on 7 Sep in the middle aisle of the nave at London Christchurch Newgate Street. The flag stone over him bears his arms and the following inscription: "HSJ | Richardus Mortonus MD | Coll Med Lond Socius | Obiit xxx August salutis MDCXCVIII Anno aetatis LX" His will made on 30 Aug 1698 was proved under PCC on 3 Jan 1698.9. His personalty apparently exceeded £4,000 which was the sum to be settled on his son Richard with property in Surrey and London. He also writes "Item I give and bequeath unto my said son Richard Morton all my Books and manuscripts" Morton married about 1668 to Sarah Tyson dau of Edward Tyson of Bristol, Glos mercer c1613-1667 and Margaret Foley dau of Richard Foley of Stourbridge, Worcs ironmaster 1580-1657 by whom he had 1 son and 3 daughters. In his will Morton appointed (his wife's cousin) Philip Foley of Prestwood in Kingswinford esquire 1648-1716 as a trustee. Calamy records in 1702: "Mr. Richard Moreton. A Man of great Gravity, Calmness, sound Principles, of no Faction, an excellent Preacher, of an upright Life." Morton was the author of *Phthisiologia seu exercitationes de phthisi tribus libris comprehensae. Totumque opus variis historiis illustratum (*1689); Pyretologia: Seu exercitationes de morbis universalibus acutis (1692) and Pyretologia, pars altera: Sive exercitatio de febribus inflammatoriis universalibus (?1694). Morton's father Robert Morton c1590-1658 married in 1624 to Hopestill Wheatley 1604-1629 dau of William Wheatley (vicar of Banbury, Oxon) 1583-1639 who in his will bequeathed a "dozen of bookes ... to ... my said sonne in lawe Mr Robert Morton". Robert lived at Stafford from 1628 to 1634 where Hopestill was buried in 1629 and where in 1634 his twin girls by his next wife Mercy were christened. Perhaps in this period Robert was ordained for about 1635 he was appointed parochial curate of Bewdley in Ribbesford, Worcs and from 5 Feb 1643.4 may have continued as compliant minister. On 7 Jul 1646 he was insituted compliant minister of Church Lawford, Warwicks. Richard Morton's sister Deborah was the wife of Richard Stretton M.A. presbyterian minister c1635-1712. Richard Morton's son Richard Morton F.R.C.S. 1668-1730 [ODNB] was the executor of the will of his uncle Edward Tyson M.D. (above). In his will Tyson made bequests to his sister Sarah (Morton's wife) and to Richard junior and to two of Richard's sisters.

Morwen 'became renowned among the academics for his great knowledge in the Latin and Greek tongues' (Wood, Ath. Oxon., 1.454). He translated a pharmaceutical treatise by the German apothecary Conrad Gesner into English, published in 1559 under the title The treasure of Eũonymus conteyninge the wonderfull hid secrets of nature touchinge the most apte formes to prepare and destyl medicines. At the instigation of the London printer Richard Jugge he undertook a translation of Joseph ben Gorion's history of the Jews from Hebrew, published in 1561 as the Historie of the Latter Times of the Jewes Commune Weale. Translated to make accessible the history of the Jewish people 'unto our vulgare and familyar communication' (Morwen, Historie, sig. A iiv), this popular work went through five editions. [ODNB]

"MAD" SIR JOHN MOSLEY
Sir Oswald Mosley: Mosley Family Memoirs 1849
"Having died unmarried [1757], Sir Oswald [2nd. Bart. of 2nd. Baronetcy], was succeeded by his only surviving brother, the Rev. Sir John Mosley, Baronet, whose eccentricities were so frequently the topic of village conversation, in my youthful days, that I cannot forbear noticing a few of them. But I would previously hazard a conjecture as to their probable origin. In early life, he appears to have suffered a disappointment in love, of a nature so serious that he never afterwards recovered from the shock which his nervous system then sustained. He secluded himself in a great measure from all society, and the presence of females was particularly obnoxious to him; yet he occasionally visited two maiden aunts, the sisters of his mother, who resided at Warsop, in the County of Nottingham.
One of his peculiarities was, that he would never permit any of his servants to remove the ashes from the grate of his sitting-room, and they were usually cast through the window with his own hands, or lay in neglected heaps upon the spacious hearth. Of money he was so careless that gold and silver were sometimes found among these heaps of ashes, and arrears of rents accumulated among his tenantry for many years, unpaid and uncalled for. His daily orders were given to his housekeeper through a grated partition. He became negligent of his person from this habitual dislike to female society; and somewhat misanthropic in his disposition.
There lived at the same period another reverend baronet, Sir John Every of Eggington, who formed a perfect contrast to ours at Rolleston, both in external appearance and in general disposition. The latter was fond of society, something of a coxcomb, and by no means proof against the bewitching smiles of the softer sex. It so happened that they occasionally met each other, being both of them trustees of the Rolleston Hospital, and it cannot surprise us, that between two persons so totally dissimilar, there was little accordance; in short, they never met without quarrelling. In some respects, however, their situations were similar: both were in holy orders, - both had succeeded their elder brothers in title and estate, and were succeeded in their turns by distant cousins.
The intentions of the Rev. Sir John Mosley were benevolent, although his actions were strange. For the purpose of employing the poor, whom he paid liberally for their work, he caused a number of bricks to be made at a kiln which he had erected near his mansion, and after piling them up in large heaps, he caused them to be burnt a second time, until they were vitrified and became harder than any stone. A large hollow wall, sufficiently spacious to admit a person to walk within it, formed one of the singular erections in his pleasure ground; and he is also said, but I suspect upon very doubtful authority, to have sown a field with pepper, and to have mixed sugar with his seed wheat. Once, and but once, I have heard of his having attended a county meeting at Stafford, which had been summoned for the purpose of raising a fund for some charitable object: many of the nobility and leading gentry of the county had advocated the cause, and put down their names for various sums. When at length an elderly man, dressed in a threadbare coat which had once, no doubt, been black, rose from his seat in the remote corner of the room, and addressed the assembly in language not of compliment but of reproach, - "I have ridden," said he, "four-and-twenty miles upon one horse to attend this meeting with fifty pounds in my pocket, with the intention of giving it in this good cause; but when I see upon the subscription-list which has been handed round, the names of noble lords and wealthy gentlemen with such paltry sums attached to them, I fear that I should be shocking their feelings were I to carry my intentions into effect; and I am therefore constrained to replace in my pocket the greater part of it, which I shall reserve for some future occasion, when a spirit of liberality may be more prevalent among them." All eyes were directed towards the speaker; and inquiries of "Who is he?" proceeded from all parts of the room; but before such inquiries could be satisfactorily answered, the object of them had again mounted his horse, and was quietly proceeding on his way back to Rolleston.
Thus he lived, unknowing and unknown, except to his dependents and relations, some of whom ventured now and then to disturb his solitude; and there were not wanting occasions when advantage was taken of his hospitality by those whom selfish motives induced to visit him. Among others of this class, a clergyman named Cartwright, whose living had been sequestered for some misconduct or neglect, came to his house without invitation, with his wife and child, and continued to stay there longer than either decency or politeness allowed. A distant female relation, also, who had married and survived the last baronet of the name of Compton, as well as her brothers Charles and William, were all large claimants upon his bounty; and by their depraved conduct proved themselves little deserving of the liberal entertainment they met with.
The Reverend Sir John Mosley held for some time the living of Fenton, in the County of Nottingham; and in May, 1777, upon the death of the former rector, the Reverend Michael Ferebee, he presented himself to the living of Rolleston. Here he continued to officiate without the aid of a curate until his decease, but he neglected to make any entries in the register of baptisms, weddings and burials, that took place during his incumbency; and it may easily be imagined, that under such careless management the other concerns of the parish were not very sastisfactorily regulated. He died unmarried in the month of May, 1779, in the seventy-seventh year of his age; and by his death the second baronetage which had been conferred upon our family became extinct. He was buried in the vault which had been erected by his father in the parish church of Rolleston."

Moss, Thomas (c. 1740–1808), poet, was the only son of Francis Moss, a chandler and soap-boiler of Wolverhampton, Staffordshire. He went to school in Wolverhampton and Rugeley before matriculating in 1757 at Emmanuel College, Cambridge, where he graduated BA in 1761. After taking holy orders he became minister of Trentham, Staffordshire, and he was afterwards for many years minister of Brinley Hill Chapel in Worcestershire, and from 1767 to 1808 he was the perpetual curate of Brierley Hill Chapel in the parish of Kingswinford, Staffordshire.

Moss published anonymously Poems on Several Occasions at Wolverhampton in 1769. In an 'advertisement' to this small volume it is stated that most of the poems were written when the author was about twenty. The first piece is the pathetic and popular 'Beggar's Petition', beginning with the line 'Pity the sorrows of a poor old man'. A Latin translation of this poem, 'Mendici supplicatio', was published by William Humphries in 1790, together with a Latin version of Goldsmith's 'Deserted Village'. Moss also published some occasional sermons and The Imperfection of Human Enjoyments (1783), a poem in blank verse. He died on 6 December 1808 at Stourbridge, Worcestershire.

John Mott (presbyterian minister of Kings Bromley) e1623-1671 G29

Mott, born (perhaps) about 1623 at Kings Bromley, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade - although he might be the man of this name who matriculated sizar from St Catharine's College, Cambridge at Easter 1649. On 24 May 1654 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by the London 4th Classis likely just prior to his appointment as presbyterian minister of Kings Bromley ~~parochial curacy~~. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto parochial curate. He paid a clerical subsidy of 5/0 in Jan 1661.2. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. He remained at Kings Bromley where he took a lease of £60 pa on a farm. On 24 Apr 1664 it was reported "Swinfin and Mott, two ejected ministers, ride about frequently, day and night". In his will made on 6 Apr 1665 Samuel Hall (presbyterian minister of Barlaston) c1635-1665 requested that he "be carried to my place of buriall by [four] worthy friends" which included "Mr Swynfen and Mr Mott". [Richard Swinfen 1630-1691 QV had been presbyterian minister of Mavesyn Ridware.] In 1665 "Mr.Mott" was assessed on 4 hearths at Kings Bromley. Later that year Mott's lease was terminated and he and his family went to live at Stafford with his wife's mother. Under The five mile act (31 Oct 1665), which prohibited nonconformist clergy from entering within 5 miles of parliamentary corporations such as Stafford, he was forced to move. In 1669 he was a preacher at the house of William Smallwood at Ranton and also at Newborough. Mott died, aged about 48, and was buried on 1 Dec 1671 at Stafford St Mary. Mott married about 1653 Eleanor by whom he had (perhaps) 3 sons and 4 daughters. About 18 Nov 1672 "The house of the Widd: Mott of Kings bromley" was licensed as a meeting-place. Pearse writes in 1683:

> After St. Bartholomew, he took a farm of sixty pounds per an. in the said parish, on which he lived handsomly four years, and was a good tenant. But behold what a crime it is to be a Nonconformist! He was threatned, and sued by a gentleman in the parish, and one of his landlords turned against him, saying, It was not fit a rebel against the king should live so near the church: And another of them, or the same, after he had made him a promise to sell him a lease for sixteen years, as soon as he returned from London; at London let the estate to another, at the very same rent, only he had a watch in earnest of the bargain; which bargain stood, and the new tenant turned out Mr. Mott, and his family, to his great loss, and at once was forced to leave the place where his relations lived, himself was born, and had been a painful minister. After this, he was accommodated with a part of his wive's mother's house in Stafford, where he lived in a very afflicted, troublesom condition, frowned upon by the magistrates (regulated Magistrates could do no less) threatning him with a prison, (for the bold offence of living in a corporation, when he could live no-where else.) When his wife was big with child, (of her sixth), he was committed to the marshal's hand, because he would not give in bond, wherein he was required to renounce the Covenant, (no doubt that Bond was drawn by the Advice of Counsel learned in the Law, or rather did not the Arbitrary Spirit act in those Counsels ?) and further threatened to be sent to Tutbury Castle, to be safe there. But he was at about a fortnight's end discharged, when Reason and good Nature advised together, only paying his fees, and the charges of the house. After this, the Corporation Act [intending The five mile act (31 Oct 1665)], came out; and what malice without law could not do before, this law gratified the malice of them, that thought a corporation could not be safe, whilst one Nonconformist was in it. He was then forced from his wife and children, came to them sometimes privately; and if for many years he appeared openly, information was presently given to the magistrates, and he brought before the mayor, and commanded to be gone, or stay in prison. Once he was brought before the deputy lieutenant; some told him (strange news) that he was in a plot; but he was dismissed, upon his promise of appearance whenever required. So vigilant was the eyes of some upon him, or severe was their inspection, that he hardly durst attend the funeral of his own child, or stay to comfort his wife under her motherly grief, occasioned by that loss. These troubles, and cessation from his former work and business, did affect him into a decay of health, and oppression of spirits, that it hastened his death as is verily believed." Nathaniel Mott M.A. (vicar of Abbots Bromley) c1628-1699 H85
Mott, born about 1628, was a son of Henry Mott of Lichfield "gentleman" c1593-a1670 and Elizabeth. He studied at Oxford where in 1648 he was a student at New Inn Hall. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 1 Jun 1649 (M.A., 18 Nov 1652). In 1649 he was elected a fellow of University College. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman before 31 Mar 1652 when he was in office as presbyterian minister of Longdon vicarage and the Committee for the reformation of the universities granted him an augmentation of £16/6/8 to his annual salary of £55. In 1658.9 he certified the fitness of candidates for the ministry. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto vicar but, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was displaced from office when Hugh Humphreys c1610-1693 QV was restored here. Next he was briefly in office as de facto vicar of Abbots Bromley. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0 but, since he was not ordained, he must shortly afterwards have been disqualified from office. On 19 Dec 1662 he was ordained deacon and on 21 Dec 1662 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield and the same month licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. On 27 Apr 1665 after presentation by (the lord of the manor) William Paget 6th Baron Paget of Beaudesert K.B. 1609-1678 he was instituted vicar of Abbots Bromley and inducted there on 7 May. That year he certified the hearth tax for Abbots Bromley, Bagots Bromley and Bromley Hurst constablewicks and was assessed on two hearths at Abbots Bromley. He resigned Abbots Bromley before 28 Jul 1668 when after probable presentation by (the lord of the manor) Sir Theophilus Biddulph of Elmhurst in Lichfield 1st Baronet c1614-1683 he was instituted vicar of Lapley and inducted there on 31 Jul. In office at Lapley he died, aged about 71, and was buried here on 14 Apr 1699. His will made on 20 Jan 1698.9 was proved under Lichfield on 12 Dec 1699. His personalty was valued at £35/7/6. Mott married on 24 Nov 1653 at Stafford St Mary to Mary Abberley daughter of Walter Abberley of Stafford "gentleman" c1586-.... by whom he had 4 sons and 1 daughter. His son John Mott 1671-1737 succeded him as vicar of Lapley.

(1915, Longdon) oc. 1651.2-59 Nathaniel Mott M.A. 13 - 13 Mott. Son of Henry Mott of Lichfield; fellow of University College, Oxford in 1649; M.A. 1652 (Foster); married at Stafford 24 Nov 1653 Mary dau of Walter Aberley of Admaston; certified the fitness of many candidates for the ministry in 1658.9 (LMS 999); became vicar of Abbots Bromley c1660; paid subsidy of 10/0 as vicar there Jan 1661.2; resigned that vicarage to former incumbent in 1662; conformed; ordained both deacon and priest 21 Dec 1662; again vicar of Abbots Bromley 1665-8; vicar of Lapley from 1668. On 1 Nov 1648 the committee for plundered ministers found that this vicarage was but worth £40 pa and granted an augmentation of £16/16/8 thereto from the impropriate tithes of Longdon that were reserved to the prebendary. (Bodl MS 325 p278) [This last before Mott took office] On 31 Mar 1652 the committee for the reformation of the universities found that this vicarage was but worth £55 (sic) pa and ordered that Mott should receive the aforenamed augmentation, which seems to have been paid to him until he left. LEAVE TEXT

William Mould *1560-
(prebendary, Lichfield)

The Mould family who took over the rectory in the early Stuart period, were much better placed. This was made possible by a change in the right of presentment to the living during Hugh Blith's incumbency. William Mould, prebend of Lichfield and Coventry and chaplain to the earl of Huntingdon, purchased the Appleby advowson and sole patronage of the church around 1600, instituting his son Thomas into the rectory in 1610 when the living became vacant. The Moulds subsequently consolidated their hold on the rectory through several generations as Thomas, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob each became rector in turn, interrupted only by an intruder minister during Abraham's incumbency (1642-84). This long, hereditary association undoubtedly contributed towards an increase in family fortune, and a noticeable improvement in the rector's social standing.
In 1642 when Thomas Mould drew up his will after thirty-two years as rector, he left sufficient to provide generous portions to each of his seven children, including his eldest son, Thomas 'if be will behave himself and not at any time lay claim to the rectory, advowson or patronage'. His second eldest son, Abraham, enjoyed an even longer period in office. When the time came for him to write his will in 1684 he promised each of his two youngest daughters £500 giving his eldest son Thomas several closes and parcels of ground. The size of his investments are revealed in his widow's inventory, appraised in 1686, which lists some £678 or about three quarters of her worldly goods and chattels, as 'money out on securitie'. When Thomas Mould's daughter Rebecca married Charles Moore, the lord of Little Appleby, in 1643 it confirmed their elevation to gentry status. An alliance was forged between the rectory and the manor house which set the seal on the Moulds' secular fortune. This marriage coincided with gentry moves to purchase more land in the parish, and probably helped to heal the rift brought about by Thomas Mould's Star Chamber litigation. Further evidence of the rector's closer identification with and links to 'the better sort', can be found in subsequent marriages and settlements as for example in 1688 when Abraham Mould's youngest daughter, Ann, married John Wilde of Longwhatton, the younger son of a Leicestershire gentry family. Abraham Mould's second son, who like his father was both rector and patron of Appleby, married Susanna Leving of Twycross, a gentry widow.

{Appleby Magna} the chancel contains mural monuments to the Rev. A. Mould, a former rector (1683), the Rev. Thomas Mould (1642) and to Elizabeth, wife of Edward Dawson (1765) : there is a similar memorial in the south aisle to the Rev. Thomas Mould, many years master of Appleby Grammar School (1796), a

(Rushton) The living is a perpetual curacy, in the patronage of the vicar of Leek, and incumbency of the Rev. George Mouncey, of Fairfield, Derbyshire, for whom the Rev James Turner, MA, of Meerbrook, officiates. [WHITE (1851)]
(Rushton) The vicar of Leek presented in 1750 and 1790, and in 1804 his nominee was appointed rather than a man nominated by the trustees. Thereafter the vicar's right to present went unchallenged. [VCH]

In 1837 Fairfield was made a separate parish from Hope, having full parochial rights from 1852. Little happened until 1838 when the Reverend George Mounsey, Curate of Fairfield who was also Schoolmaster of the Fairfield Free School along with Joseph William Swann, schoolmaster, led an appeal for the total rebuilding of the church and within ten months demolition began. $Thomas Mountney M.A. (compliant minister of Ilam) ?1598-1656
Mountney, (? christened on 21 Aug 1598 at Shackerstone, Leics), was second son of William Mountney of Newbold Verdon, Leics gentleman. He studied at Oxford where during Lent 1615.6 he was a pensioner at Queens' College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. in 1618.9 (M.A., 1622). He was likely ordained deacon and priest before 1633 when he was appointed master of Ashbourne Grammar School but was only in office until 1635 when the governors apparently took court action to have him removed. On 25 Jun 1639 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted vicar of Ilam. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Thomas Mounteneys Minister of Ilam". Still in office he died, aged about 58, and was buried here on 18 Apr 1656. Mountney married perhaps about 1628 to Dorothy widow of Robert Reynolds of Leicester (no known children).

He was so good a Lyrick Poet, that he could imitate Horace so exactly as not to be distinguish'd without Difficulty. He was Chaplain to Sir William Brereton in this County. Afterwards he preach'd at St Hellen's Chappel near Warrington in Lancashire where he met with much Trouble from Dr. Bridgman Bp. of Chester for his Nonconformity to the Ceremonies. He staid there till about 1637 that a Citation for him was hung upon the Chappel Door, and then he rode away in a disguise for Bristol where he took Shipping for New-England; and upon his arrival there became Pastor to the Church at Springfield. He return'd to Old England in the Year 1653 and became Pastor to a Congregational Church at Astbury. Both Mr John Machin and he liv'd in the Parsonage House with their Families and preach'd one the one Lord's Day and the other t'other. When it was Mr Machin's turn to Preach at home Mr Moxon preach'd at Rushton on the edge of the Moorland Parts of Staffordshire. He continu'd at Astury till 1660 when the Old Incumbent return'd to Possession. Then Mr Machin remov'd to Whitley and Mr Moxon preach'd at Rushton till August 62. After 2 or 3 removes of his Habitation he liv'd in Congleton in 67 and continu'd his Pastoral Relation to his People and preach'd privately as he had opportunity in his own House and elsewhere to his own Congregation and others till 72; and then he got a License for his House in Congleton and preach'd openly as long as the Licenses were in force and for some time after; till he was unable by reason of Age and some strokes of the Palsie. He was a Man of a blameless Conversation and not of a contentious Spirit. He was very useful to Persons under Spiritual Trouble. He dy'd Sept 15 1687 Aetat 85. His Funeral Sermon was preach'd by Mr Eliezer Birch in the new Meeting-House in Congleton which was the first Sermon that ever was preach'd there. He had the Notes of some Sermons of Self-denial prepar'd for the Press but never Printed them nor any thing else.

Ralph Murhall M.A. (parochial curate of Barlaston) c1626-1696 H86
Murhall, born about 1626 in Staffordshire, was a son of John Murhall. He studied at Cambridge where on 27 Jun 1645 he was admitted as a sizar at Pembroke College and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1648.9 (M.A., 1652). He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 4 Jul 1655 when he was approved by the Commission for approbation of public preachers as presbyterian minister of Talk-on-the-Hill dependent parochial chapelry. Here he received an augmentation of £30 to his annual salary. On 6 Oct 1655 he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by a ?Surrey classis at Bermondsey St Mary Magdalene. By 1659 he had left office and had been replaced. In early Jun 1660 he may not have been in an office. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before about Jan 1661.2 when after probable presentation by Walter Fowler of St Thomas (by Stafford) esquire 1620-1684 he was in office as parochial curate of Acton Trussell and paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 21 Aug 1662 and was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield in Sep 1662. At Acton Trussell he was replaced in office the following month. Perhaps in 1663 after probable presentation by Richard Fowler of Harnage Grange, Salop esquire c1618-1687 qua guardian of his under-age son Francis Leveson Fowler of Harnage Grange, Salop esquire 1641-1667 he was licensed parochial curate of Barlaston. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Barlaston constablewick but was not assessed there. About 1678 he left office at Barlaston and is not known to have held further offices. He died, aged about 70, and was buried on 13 Aug 1696 at Caverswall. His will made on 5 Aug 1696 was proved under Lichfield on 23 Oct 1696. His personalty was valued at £112/5/0 and included "Bookes £1". Murhall married on 25 Jul 1666 at Burslem to Ann Malkin (d 1699) by whom he had 4 sons and 1 daughter.

[ODNB] [SIMMS*]

(Lichfield Cathedral) Sacred to the memory of Robert Nares, M.A. F.R.S. Archdeacon of Stafford, Canon Residentiary of Lichfield, and rector of Allhallows, London Wall, who departed this life in hope of the resurrection to life eternal, March 23d, 1829, aged 75. His unaffected piety and profound learning, were embellished by suavity of manners by kindness of heart, and by every social virtue.

Pious, but unaffected—kind—sincere,
Who can record thy name without a tear
Of sad remembrance? shall we then repine,
When honoured age and lettered fame were thine?
No! but the lonely widow may deplore
Years of affection, she can know no more;
And sigh, as ever thinking on thy knell,
"Friend of my life farewell, a long farewell."
WM. L. BOWLES

$Edward Neville B.A. (compliant minister of Standon) c1615-1672 (H87)
Neville, born about 1615, was a son of Thomas Neville of Wetwood in Eccleshall "gentleman". He studied at Oxford where on 18 Jun 1630 he was a "commoner" at Pembroke College and matriculated. Later he migrated to Oriel College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 15 Feb 1633.4. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 25 Sep 1636 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 9 Mar 1636.7 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield and the same day licensed as parochial curate of West Bromwich. In Feb 1643.4 he (? probably refused to sign the Solemn league and covenant and) was removed. By 29 Apr 1644 Neville, after a request from the parishioners, had been appointed compliant minister of Baswich independent parochial chapelry. Here he sometimes received an augmentation of up to £38 to his annual salary of £8 or £10. Perhaps on 3 Apr 1648 he was appointed compliant minister of Standon rectory and on 22 Jun paid first fruits. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Edward Nevill Minister of Gods Word at Standon". In 1657 he certified the fitness of a candidate for the ministry. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de jure rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2/10/0. At Wolverhampton Assizes on 8 Mar 1661.2 he was found not guilty on an indictment "for refusing to read the book containing the proclamation". He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 28 Aug 1662 (four days late). In 1665 the rectory was valued at £50. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Standon constablewick but was assessed on 3 hearths at Standon township. Still in office he died, aged about 57, and was buried there on 1 Mar 1671.2. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 18 Apr 1672. His personalty was valued at £412 and included "His closett of Bookes printed & manuscripts £30". Neville married on 19 Dec 1655 at Baswich to Elizabeth Goldsmith by whom he had 2 sons and 1 daughter. Calamy in 1702 states in error that Neville was removed in Staffordshire.

Jonathan Newey B.A. (parochial curate of Kinver) ?1637-1716 H88
Newey, (? christened on 6 Apr 1637 at Chaddesley Corbett), was probably a son of John Newey of Chaddesley Corbett, Worcs "gentleman" and Deanes (Stanley). He studied at Oxford where on 25 Jul 1655 he was a student at Pembroke College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 12 Feb 1658.9. On 17 Sep 1661 he was ordained (?deacon and) priest by Galloway. About Sep 1662 after presentation by Kinver parishioners he was appointed parochial curate of Kinver. On 10 Dec 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Kinver constablewick but was assessed on 6 hearths at Kinver township. About 26 Jun 1704 he was, jointly, instituted non-resident rector of Doverdale, Worcs on condition that he employed a stipendiary curate-in-charge. Still in both offices he died, aged about 79, and was buried at Kinver on 27 Aug 1716. Newey married about 1663 to Mary (d ?1719) by whom he had 2 sons and 8 daughters. Newey was noticed as "a little man but a Brave one" and as "a worthy man". He and his wife Mary gifted a large silver chalice engraved "J N M" to Kinver church. In 1717 his widow Mary assisted trustees in the purchase of property in the parish which was in part, as desired by Newey, to provide an income for a parish charity school (which may never have been established). The maiden name of Newey's wife Mary is undiscovered but she may have been an heiress for she appears to have died in posession of assets amounting to nearly £1,000. Newey's sons were John Newey (dean of Chichester) 1664-1735 (who at his death had £7,400 in the bank of England) and Samuel Newey of London draper 1681-.... Of his daughters - Catherine was the wife of William Trimnell (dean of Winchester) c1673-1729 and Frances was the wife of Edward Waddington (bishop of Chichester) c1670-1731. On 17 Aug 1677 Newey was the author of a brief note regarding John Duncalf - which was published as a postscript to James Illingworth A just narrative or account of a man whose legs and arms rotted off in the parish of Kingswinford, Staffordshire (1678).

Bordesley abbey was surrendered to the Crown in 1538, and in 1543 the king granted Kinver church to William Whorwood, and the right of nominating a curate then descended with the rectory until 1630. The lease of part of the tithes secured that year from John Whorwood by the Feoffees for the Purchase of Impropriations included the right to nominate the curate. It was considered to be held in trust for the parishioners, who exercised it several times in the mid 17th century. In July 1662, however, William and Catherine Hamerton, lords of Kinver manor, described themselves as true patrons and conveyed what they called 'the next advowson' to William Talbot of Whittington Hall; similarly Wortley Whorwood conveyed the advowson with the manor and part of the rectory to Philip Foley in 1672. Meanwhile, in the autumn of 1662, the curacy being vacant after the ejection of William Moreton, some 20 leading parishioners met at William Talbot's home and nominated Jonathan Newey. When Newey died in 1716, a dispute arose between the Foleys and the parishioners, both sides claiming the right to appoint a successor. Rival candidates were nominated. In 1721, after two Chancery decrees in favour of the parishioners, the House of Lords ordered the right to be vested in 13 trustees appointed by Chancery, the same number as in 1630. The Lords also recommended that the parishioners' candidate Richard Bate, the master of the grammar school, should be nominated, directing that he should officiate in the meantime. The trustees were appointed in 1723 and duly nominated Bate in 1724. The curacy was called a perpetual curacy from the later 18th century and a vicarage from the early 1860s. The patronage remained with trustees until 1935 when it was transferred to the Lichfield Diocesan Board of Patronage, still the patron in 1981. [VCH XX p153-4]

(1665) Joseph Eccleshall (presbyterian minister of Sedgley, Staffs) c1633-1692 ... The succeeding vicar for some years was hot, and filled his sermons with railing invectives, which put many of the people upon persuading Mr E. to preach to them, which he yielded to at times different from the public service. The Oxford-act [Five-Mile Act OR Oxford Act (1665)] forced him to Kinfare [Kinver], where he also preached in private, and went afterwards with his hearers to church, to hear Mr Jonathan Newey a worthy man, who succeeded Mr Mortan.

In 1717 Mary Newey provided an income for a charity school in accordance with the wishes of her late husband. There is no evidence that the school was established. [VCH XX p159]

By deed of 1717 Mary Newey, widow of Jonathan Newey, minister of Kinver, sold three cottages in Whittington to trustees who raised the necessary £70 from £50 of parish stock, partly given by Longworth Crosse, and from a gift of £20 by Mary Newey herself. Of the income from the property 2os. was to be spent on a parish charity school in accordance with Jonathan Newey's wishes and the rest on the poor of Kinver parish. There is no evidence that the school was established; in the 19th century, and probably by 1758, the cottages were used as poorhouses. [VCH XX p160] $Sampson Newton M.A. (compliant minister of Chebsey) 1603-....

Newton, christened on 21 Mar 1602.3 at Weston-upon-Trent, was a son of Francis Newton of Weston-upon-Trent c1570-1612 and Catherine. He studied at Oxford where on 19 Oct 1621 he was a "commoner" at Merton College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 4 Nov 1622 (M.A., 6 Jul 1625). He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 1638 when he was probably in office as parochial curate of Cannock. Here about 1638 he was styled "Sampson Newton of Canck - minister of the gospel", when he testified to the honest life and conversation of a local preacher Humphrey Vincent ?1595-.... From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued here as compliant minister. On 1 Oct 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him compliant minister of Chebsey vicarage and granted him an augmentation of £40 to his annual salary of £50 or £60. However he did not obtain possession until after 16 Jan 1646.7 when the Staffordshire parliamentary committee was "to assist Mr Newton to take possession ...". Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Sampson Newton Minister of Chebsey". His augmentation was paid up to Oct 1650. About this time he was removed "for praying for the Kings Children in Exile". Next Newton was appointed compliant minister of Weston-under-Lizard rectory probably soon after Jun 1652 (when a predecessor left office). In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Calamy records in 1713 that "he was Ejected by the Act of Uniformity, notwithstanding that he was Episcopal in his Judgment, and for a Liturgy, because he could not intirely conform." Newton may not have married.

(1889) SAMPSON NEWTON (temp. Commonwealth-1662). He was educated at Merton Coll., Oxford, where he matriculated 19 Oct. 1621, being then aged 18. He took his B.A. degree 4 November 1622, and that of M.A. 6 July 1625. Dr. Edmund Calamy tells us that Sampson Newton was ejected from Chebsey for praying for the King's children in exile, and that from thence he removed to Weston under Lizard, where he was ejected by the Act of Uniformity, notwithstanding that he was an Episcopal in his judgment and for a Liturgy. Sampson Newton was one of the 2,000 ministers ejected from their benefices for refusing to comply with the Act of Uniformity, which was passed 24 August 1662. In the Salt Library at Stafford is the following note from Gregory King's MS .: "Weston a Tower and Parish and Rectory. Biterton 5 ho. or 6 in Weston Parish. Tho: Dickin ye present Incumbent. Sampson Newton his predecessor outed upon ye Restoration at Barth: 1662."1 [SHC 1899 p392-3]

(LMS 979 p358; cf BodlMS 326 p297; Shaw II p543) Signed the testimony in 1648 and is said to have been ejected from here for praying for the King's children. Became rector of Weston-under-Lizard, whence ejected in 1662 for non-conformity. (Calamy, III, 245; Foster; S. H. C., II, NS p302) [SHC (1915) p57] (Weston-under-Lizard) 8 Newton. John Nickins B.A. (rector of Blymhill) c1628-1668 D89

Nickins, born about 1628, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 17 Mar 1645.6 he was admitted as a pensioner at Trinity College and in 1647 matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1649. Probably during that year he qualified as a presbyterian clergyman and was appointed presybyterian minister of Blymhill. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1. On 20 Aug 1662 he subscribed to the Act of uniformity and was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield on (the next day) 21 Aug 1662 and perhaps then instituted rector. He was licensed as a preacher in Jan 1663.4. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £60. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Blymhill & Brineton constablewick and was assessed on 3 hearths there. Still in office he died, aged about 40, about Sep 1668 and was likely buried here. Nickins married about 1653 Mary by whom he had 2 sons and 1 daughter. His administration was granted under Lichfield on 27 Apr 1669. Nicholas Nickins (head schoolmaster of Walsall Grammar School and vicar of Rushall) 1659-1729 was his second son.

His aunt Mary Falconer had married the Rev. John George Norbury, prebendary of Lichfield, on 5 Jan., 1791. She died 23 Jan., 1797, aged 31 ; her husband on 6 Oct., 1800, aged 42. In the Cathedral is a monument to their memory. In 1795 Mr. Norbury occupied the Friary, where Johnson had used to visit Mrs. Cobb. In a letter to Mrs. Powys on 13 June, 1797, Miss Seward remarked: "I wonder that tidings of poor Mrs. Norberry's death, which happened in the winter, did not sooner reach you.
A melancholy instance of the trustless flattery of youth and prosperity. Yet her long, though very patiently endured sufferings made their close desirable to those who loved her most." [JOHNSONIAN GLEANINGS]

In a Vault neat this Place in the Church Yard are interred the Remains of MARY the Wife of the Revd J.G. NORBURY & Daughter of the Revd. JAS. FALCONER Prebendaries of this Cathedral. She died Jany 23d 1797 Aged 31. In the same Vault are likewise deposited the Remains of her two Children WILLIAM and MARY who died in their Infancy. ----- In the same Vault are deposited the Remains of the Revd. J.G. NORBURY who died October 6th 1800 Aged 42 [SCD 10.0007]

Charles Norwood (parochial curate of Fulford) e1614-.... H90
Norwood, born perhaps about 1614, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade and was likely ordained deacon and priest about 1638. [Indeed he may be the man of this name who was on 23 Sep 1638 ordained deacon by Lichfield and was sometime parochial curate of Osmaston, Derbys.] He may not have been in an office during the presbyterian intrusion (1644/60). Possibly after presentation by the parochial curate of Stone then James Hancox 1637-1707 QV he was in office as parochial curate of Fulford on 13 Oct 1662 when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity . In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Fulford and Hilderstone constablewicks but was not assessed at either. He had been succeded in office by 23 Nov 1676. Norwood may not have married. No further record has been discovered.

John Nott M.A. (presbyterian minister of Sheriff Hales) 1625-1702 G31
Nott, christened on 13 Mar 1624.5 at Shelsley Beauchamp, was only son of Charles Nott M.A. (rector of Shelsley Beauchamp, Worcs) c1594-1664 and Mary (Wympe). He studied at Cambridge where on 28 Nov 1642 he was admitted a student at Emmanuel College and matriculated that year. On 29 May 1645 he was admitted, as a pupil of Mr Akehurst, to Trinity College where he was a scholar in 1646. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1646.7 (M.A., 1650). In 1647 he was elected a fellow of Trinity. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1650 when he was a presbyterian assistant minister at Wolverhampton where (his future brother-in-law) Ambrose Sparry 1613-1679 was minister. After presentation by the Commissioners of the great seal on 30 May 1650 he was appointed presbyterian minister of Sheriff Hales vicarage where he paid first fruits on 6 Jan 1652. On 28 Aug 1654 he was appointed an Assistant Commissioner for the ejection of scandalous ministers in Staffordshire. By early 1656 as "teacher of Sheriff Hales" he was a member of the Worcestershire Association. He frequently certified the fitness of candidates for the ministry. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. In 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £1. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Whilst at Sheriff Hales he had occupied a house with 3 hearths which in 1665 was occupied by his successor William Pierce c1638-1673. After ejection he is said to have preached at a chapel "near Hadly" - no county is mentioned. He was reported on Sunday 25 Dec 1664 for preaching "at an upholsterer's in Bartholomew Close, London". On 6 Sep 1665 Robert Greville 4th Baron Brooke of Beauchamps Court c1638-1677 (then Lord Lieutenant of Staffordshire) reported that he had "secured" four ejected ministers in Staffordshire - Nott QV, Richard Hincks e1622-1683 QV, Richard Hilton c1625-1706 QV and William Fincher c1628-1691 QV. Probably soon after Nott became domestic chaplain to Richard Hampden of Great Hampden, Bucks 1631-1695. Hampden was an M.P. with presbyterian views who was married to Letitia Bagot dau of William Paget 6th Baron Paget of Beaudesert K.B. 1609-1678. Whilst in Buckinghamshire Nott had an annual salary of about £15 for preaching to a small group in a chapel at Wooburn the property of Philip Wharton 4th Baron Wharton 1613-1696 (also a presbyterian). In the same county he also preached at Wendover. After the passing of The toleration act (24 May 1689) he moved to Thame, Oxon. The Common Fund survey of dissenting ministers taken about 1690 has under Thame - Nott "has newley sett up a constant meeting ... the people as yet cannot promise £15 pa". The meeting place may have been in New Thame. Nott received an annual grant from the Common fund of £10 from 1690 which was reduced to £8 from 1695 until his death. Nott died, aged 77, on 20 (or 28) Dec 1702 and was buried at Thame where a monument was placed in the church (below). His funeral sermon was preached by John Troughton (presbyterian minister of Bicester, Oxon) c1637-1681. His will dated 6 Apr 1695 was proved under PCC on 6 Apr 1695. He bequeathed his manuscripts to his son-in-law Richard Mayo. He married on 26 Sep 1650 at Wolverhampton to Elizabeth Sparry 1621-1703 daughter of John Sparry of Old Swinford, Worcs by whom he had 4 sons and 5 daughters. John Nott B.A. (stipendiary curate of Stanford-upon-Teme, Worcs) c1664-?1702 was his youngest son. His daughter Sarah married Richard Mayo B.A. (vicar of Great Kimble, Bucks) c1662-1717. Ambrose Sparry (minister of Wolverhampton) 1613-1679 was his brother-in-law. In 1645 his father Charles Nott, then compliant minister of Shelsley Beauchamp, is said to have been a leader of the one thousand Clubmen who gathered on Woodbury Hill, Worcs to protest at the violence of local royalist soldiers and presented a declaration to Henry Bromley (Sheriff of Worcs). The Nott family coat of arms is recorded as "Azure a bend between three leopards faces or ".

Charles Nott, the Parson of Shelsley, was a leader of the Clubmen who in 1645 drew up the Woodbury Declaration, which listed the grievances that local people had at the behaviour of Royalist forces in the area. [3]
In March 1645, 1,000 Clubmen gathered on Woodbury Hill in Worcestershire under the leadership of Charles Nott, the parson of Shelsley Beauchamp. The Clubmen drew up a Declaration protesting at the violence of local Royalist soldiers and attempted to establish a league for mutual defence and protection. Despite their opposition to local troops, the Woodbury Clubmen professed loyalty to the King and presented the Declaration to the Royalist High Sheriff, Henry Bromley, whom they acknowledged as the lawful legal authority in the county.

Merionethshire, ended with the children of Evan Evans (d. 1680). His son Robert Evans (d. post-1724) was an imbecile, and in 1680 one of his daughters, and heir, Catherine Evans (d. 1732), married Robert Gruffith (d. 1729) of Bachysaint, near Cricieth, Caernarfonshire, who moved to Tanybwlch. Evan Evans's other daughter, Ann, married Thomas Meyricke (d. c. 1722) of Berth-lwyd, Merionethshire. In about 1717 Evan Griffith (d. c. 1730), son of Robert Gruffith and Catherine his wife, married his cousin Jonet Meyrick (d. 1721), one of the two daughters and sole heir of Thomas Meyrick and Ann his wife, thus uniting Tanybwlch and Berth-lwyd. Jonet died in 1721 giving birth to triplets. Margaret Meyricke, the other daughter, married Thomas Lloyd Anwyl of Hendremur in the parish of Llandecwyn, Merioneth. In the next generation Robert Gruffith (d. 1750) of Tanybwlch married his cousin Ann Anwyl. Their son Evan Gruffydd of Tanybwlch married his cousin Mary Anwyl (d. 1781) daughter of William Anwyl of Hendremur, the brother of Ann. Their daughter Margaret Gruffydd (d. 1809) married William Oakeley (1750-1811), the son of the Rev. William Oakeley of Forton, Staffordshire. In 1817 their son William Gryffydd Oakeley (d. 1835) married Louisa Jane Ness (d. 1879) of Bath, but died without issue and was succeeded in the Tanybwlch estate by his second cousin William Edward Oakeley, son of William Oakeley of Glan William, Merioneth, and grandson of Sir Charles Oakeley, governor of Madras, the brother of William Oakeley (1750-1811).[INTERNET]

Gabriel Offley D.D. (rector of Mucklestone) 1611-1683 H91
Offley, christened on 16 Oct 1611 at London St Peter-le-Poer, was 4th son of Sir Robert Offley of London knight 1583-1623 and Mary (Lowe). He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1629 he was admitted as a pensioner at Trinity College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1632.3 (M.A., 1636) (D.D., lit. reg., 1660). In 1633 he was elected a fellow of Trinity College. He was (presumably) ordained deacon and on 3 Oct 1642 ordained priest by Durham pro Lichfield. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. About Jun 1656 after presentation by his kinsman John Offley of Madeley esquire c1619-1658 he was appointed compliant minister of Mucklestone rectory and paid first fruits on 12 Jun 1656. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £6. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 8 Jul 1662. On 6 Oct 1662 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Longdon. In 1665 Offley who was a chaplain to King Charles II was "noted as being on the King's business". That year he certified the hearth tax for Mucklestone constablewick and was assessed on 5 hearths. On 10 Oct 1665 after presentation by George Evelyn gentleman he was, plurally, instituted as rector of Abinger, Surrey. He was replaced in office at Mucklestone on 17 Feb 1666.7. Then on 9 May 1670 after presentation by the Crown he was, plurally, instituted as rector of Worplesdon, Surrey. Still in office at Lichfield Longdon, Abinger and Worplesdon he died, aged 72, in Feb 1683. Offley married about 1656 to Frances (d ?1716) by whom he had 2 sons and 4 daughters. Robert Offley (rector of Abinger, Surrey) 1666-1743 was his second son. His daughter Elizabeth was the wife of Thomas Crawley (rector of Abinger, Surrey)....-1685.

(1656) This was a year of much exercise to me for some of my friends that knew my condition and thought I drooped under it began to advise about removal perceiving that Gausworth was not like to supply me The first motion that was made was of Mucklestone in Staffordshire a considerable living now void in the gift of Mr Offley and who intended his kinsman Mr Gabriel Offley to it But after a time the Major General at a meeting of his commissioners wrote to Mr Offley that he would be pleased to present me to the living This was done about May and I knew nothing of it till Mr Hall of Newcastle came to me with the letters and acquainted me how far they had proceeded The commissioners had sent the letter to the patron by their own messenger and he came to me and we the week after met at Knutsford where I advised with the two Mr Langleys in the case and that which we brought it to then was only this that in case Mr Offley granted I must then take further advice about an And so it pleased God he stood stiffly to his right and would not he terrified beside his own resolution [The autobiography of Henry Newcome]

Edward Oldfield

Oldfield, Edward Will of Uttoxeter clerk (Lichfield) 9 Dec 1675

Francis Redfern "History and Antiquities of Uttoxeter", 1865, page 225-6, states: "I do not find any one of the name of Oldfield as either owners or occupiers of property in Uttoxeter in 1775, but in the first half of the previous century a Humphrey Oldfield had a little land, and an Edward Oldfield was the owner of about 23 acres of land in the parish, and I have no doubt Oldfields, a villa residence near the town, on the site of which a fine mansion now supercedes the old one, took its name from that family who were doubtless owners of the place ..."

[ODNB, for fuller account]

1494-5, January 30. Hugh Oldham, on Smyth's resignation. He was born at Manchester; went first to Oxford, and removed to Cambridge, where he became S.T.P. In 1493, Margaret, Countess of Richmond, presented him to the rectory of Swinshead, in Lincolnshire, and, in 1494, to the rectory of Cheshunt, in Herts, He was rector of St. Mildred, Bread Street, London; prebendary of St. Paul's; in 1495, of Sarum; and, in 1499, of York. He was also Canon of Lindoln. In 1504, he was advanced to the See of Exeter; adjoining to which Cathedral he built a Chapel, in which he was buried, in 1519. He was a great Benefactor to Corpus Christi College, Oxford; and founded, and endowed, a Grammar School at Manchester. He is represented to have been a man of little learning, though a great admirer and promoter of learned men. He had a long suit with the Abbot of Tavistock, concerning the Rights of the Church. He was the first Master of this Hospital, upon Bishop Smyth's. [Harwood (1806) 558]

John Orford (presbyterian minister of Arley) ?1639-.... B32
Orford, (? christened on 20 Jan 1638.9 at Bromsgrove son of Nicholas Orford of Bromsgrove, Worcs and Margery), was born in Worcestershire. He studied at Cambridge where on 20 Jun 1656 he was admitted sizar at Trinity College but is not known to have graduated. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 28 Oct 1658 when he was nominated by the Trustees for maintenance as presbyterian minister of Arley independent parochial chapelry. On 10 Nov 1658 he received certificates of fitness from Henry Osland (of Bewdley, Worcs), Richard Fincher (of Worcester), Thomas Badland (presbyterian minister of Willenhall) c1634-1698 QV, John Wheeler, Fr Bromwich (? Thomas Bromwich of Kempsey, Worcs), John Women and John Tayler. He was then appointed and received an augmentation of £40 or £55 to his annual salary. On or shortly after 11 Mar 1659.60 he signed the parish register "John Orford, presbyterian Minister". In Jun 1660 he may have continued in office as de facto parochial curate. It would appear that Burford coercively resigned here before 5 Mar 1661.2 when a successor Edward ?Marker e1622-.... QV was in office. Orford may not have married. No further record has been discovered.

1728. Declaration of trust as to Edward Orme's charity. By John Fenton and Henry Hatrell, both of Newcastle under Lyme, gentlemen, executors under the will of Edward Orme late of Newcastle under Lyme, clerk Recital of the will of the late Edward Orme, clerk (23 Feb 1705), devising a cottage in Newcastle ... [D4452/3/2/1/2]

The Orme School was founded under the will of the Revd. Edward Orme (d. 1705), at one time master of the borough school, who left various lands in trust, the revenue to be applied to educating and apprenticing the poor children of Newcastle. After his term as master of the borough school the character of the school had been altered by William Cotton's endowment of 1692 from that of an English school to a grammar school, and Orme's endowment was designed to remedy the lack of a school where more elementary education could be provided. [VCH]

EDWARD ORME, SCHOOLMASTER In this minute Richard Orme is described as "our godly, diligent, and learned schoolmaster ", and as he had intimated that he wished his son Edward Orme, who had taken his Bachelor of Arts degree at Cambridge University, to succeed him, the corporation wrote to William Cotton of Bellaport acquainting him with the facts and asking for his approval to the appointment. Having received a favourable reply, the corporation thereupon granted to Edward Orme all the lands and revenues belonging to the borough schoolmaster. He was then twenty-five years of age, for his baptismal entry in St. Giles's register occurs on 31 May 1629. Edward Orme's mother did not long survive his father ; the burial entry of " Mrs. Orme " is entered on 17 March 1655. The Rev. Edward Orme's first marriage, in accordance with the 1653 Act of Cromwell, is thus entered in St. Giles's register in the year 1656 : Mr. Edward Orme and Mrs. Marie Beardmore, daughter of Mistress Bridget Brereton, of this town, widow, were published in the church, the last day of publishing being the tenth of ffebruary, and married the 25th of ffebruary, In witness of Mr. Raphe Hall, minister, Mrs. Elizabeth Sherwin, widow, and Edward Sherwin : by Thomas Wood, Mayor. Among the christenings for 1657 is this entry : " Richard, the son of Mr. Edward Orme and of Mary his wife, March 1st ". In the same year Edward Orme's first wife died : " Mrs. Mary Orme, wife of Mr. Edward Orme, buried September 1oth, 1657 ". Soon after the Restoration Edward Orme in 1661 was elected a burgess gratis for the love and affection of the capital burgesses towards Mr. Richard Orme, their late schoolmaster. On 23 July 1661 Edward Orme took the oath of a burgess without payment and his son Richard was to be likewise sworn when he attained the age of 21 years. There are several documents of the seventeenth century, some only copies but others the originals, which bear the name of Orme as a witness. In the first book of the corporation minutes, not in chronological order but at the end of the book, there are several interesting dated records. Three of them relate to investments made by the corporation and trustees in a burgage tenement and lands in Newcastle from legacies left by Raphe Brereton in 1630 of f100, by Alice Cleyton, widow of Thomas Cleyton, alderman, of {10, and by Randle Astbury of Trentham, blacksmith, of f10. One of these transcripts, dated 1639, relates to the purchase for f25 from James Colebourne of two day-works of arable land in Stubbs common field. Another, also dated 1639, records the N-U-L. 113 1

(1931) THE LATER MINISTERS. On 23 October, 1662, Mr. Rippon was offered the appointment but he would not accept, nor would Mr. Porter in April, 1663, so Mr. Thomas Oulton was appointed in 1663. His name occurs as the minister of Newcastle right on to 1692 and yet for a short period Mr, Sherratt served the cure. In 1685 the church clerk was to be allowed a gown at the town's charge at Mr. Sherratt's discretion. Also in June, 1687 it was ordered that a sum of £15 should be paid to Mr. Sherratt if within a fortnight be quitted his ciaim as minister to the town & satisfied Mr. Orme for supplying the cure in his absence. It is significant that when Edward Orme, who had been the borough schoolmaster from 1654 to 1668, died his burial entry is thus recorded in the parish church register: "Mr. Edward Orme, curate, buried February 28th, 1705." I think he was an assistant to the Rev. Egerton Harding for after Edward Orme's death the rector of Stoke recommended Mr. Totty as the curate. In 1677 the town authorities agreed to build a loft and library at the bottom of the church. John Snowe and Thomas Fernyhough were allowed £9o to do this work in 1678. The work was evidently completed by November, 1679, when the Corporation regulated the prices for the seats in the "new erected gailery in Newcastle Church." When Egerton Harding became the minister in 1698 a house was built for him on land in the Ironmarket. He died in 1717 and Thomas Fernyhough was appointed in the same year. During his ministry the church was rebuilt. At the end of the fifth church register there is this item: "The New Church in this Town was rebuilt and finished and Divine Service was preached first in it on November the 5th, 1721, John Hordern being Mayor, Thos, Fernyhough Curate, Wm. Hassels and Thos, Dawman Churchwardens." Thomas Fernyhough died in 1731, and the later Curates and Rectors are as follow:- 1731-1760. Robert Fenton; 1760-1803. John Fernyhough; 1803-1807. Clement Leigh. [Newcastle printed PR (1931) piv]

Richard Orme (?presbyterian minister of Bucknall) c1599-1654
Orme, born about 1599, is of unknown parentage. (In 1621 a man of his name graduated B.A. at Trinity Hall, Cambridge.) On 24 Jul 1621 Newcastle corporation agreed to appoint Orme as master of Newcastle town school with an initial quarterly payment of £5 and thereafter a salary of £13/6/8. In 1625 the town school was replaced by Newcastle endowed school and Orme continued as master until his death. He is not known to have been ordained as a deacon or priest but was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1651.2 when he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Bucknall. Orme died, aged about 55, and was buried on 24 May 1654 at Newcastle. Orme married about 1628 to a woman (d c1655) by whom he had 1 son - Edward Orme (rector of Stoke-upon-Tern, Salop) 1629-1705 who succeded his father as master of Newcastle endowed school.

(17 Mar ?1654.5, Newcastle) Mrs Orme (buried)
(1938) RICHARD ORME, SCHOOLMASTER Mrs. Cicely Cleyton, widow, probably died in 1625, for in June of that year the corporation agreed that Mr. Ottiwell Stubbs, Mr. Raphe Keeling, Thomas Jenyns and James Swynnerton should appoint 30 poor scholars to be taught gratis. In the following March the corporation agreed " that Mr. Orme, our schoolmaster, shall as well have that benefit now accruing by the gift of Mr. Richard Cleyton, as all lands formerly purchased with the gift of Mr. John Cotton, for the benefit of the school, when it shall happen ". Of course John Cotton's legacy would benefit the school when Mrs. Hexsan's life interest in the lands at Knutton ended. Perhaps Mr. Thomas Smith of Cambridge, who died in 1628, was an old pupil of the borough school at Newcastle, for by his will, proved 30 June 1628, he left the sum of five pounds to Mr. Richard Orme, schoolmaster, at Newcastle. Not until 1640 did Richard Orme benefit by John Cotton's legacy. Then in December the mayor and capital burgesses, in confirmation of their 1626 agreement, granted to Richard Orme the messunge or tenement in Knutton, and the lands, tenements, and hereditaments thereon so belonging, whereon John Wedgwood doth now inhabit, purchased with the gift of Mr. John Cotton for the use of the school, and that he shall have a lease of it for seven years, if he so long live and continue schoolmaster, and at the end thereof a further term during such time as he shall be schoolmaster, giving security for repair and upholding the buildings, and paying yearly the proportionable part of the money covenanted to be paid to John Brett, Esq., and his heirs, Lord of the manor of Knutton, for an heriot. As 46s. 8d. had to be paid to the Bretts every twenty-one years in lieu of the heriot, the proportionable part due from Richard Orme every year would be rather more than two shillings. After Orme had leased the Knutton lands for seven years they were granted on lease to his brother William in 1648 for twenty-one years, he paying each year 20 marks and 2s. per annum towards the heriot, etc. The lease was not actually made out until 8 June 1649. The burial entry of Richard Orme, schoolmaster, occurs in the church register under the date 24 May 1654, and in the corporation minutes five days later there is a long paragraph relating to the death of the old schoolmaster and the appointment of his son Edward Orme to succeed him. John Orton M.A. (vicar of Harborne) c1616-1665
Orton, born about 1616, was 1st son of William Orton (rector of Sheldon, Warwicks) c1589-1628 and Sarah Allen dau of William Allen of Sheldon "gentleman". He studied at Oxford where on 13 May 1631 he was a student at New College and matriculated but likely left soon after for on 19 Aug 1634 he was (again) a student at New College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 8 Jul 1636 (M.A., Magdalen Hall, 8 Jul 1641). On 4 Jun 1637 he was ordained deacon by Hereford pro Lichfield and on 1 Mar 1640 ordained priest by Lichfield. By 1644 he was probably in office as compliant minister of Elmdon rectory, Warwicks. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 19 Aug 1662. On 3 Oct 1663 he was appointed vicar of Harborne and is said to to have paid first fruits. However he may never have been instituted, no licence for plurality was issued and on 4 Dec 1663 another man was appointed. Orton continued in office at Elmdon. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £30 pa. Still in office he died, aged about 49 on 17 Aug 1665 and was buried here on 19 Aug. His will made on 2 Jul 1665 (codicil, 16 Aug) was proved under Lichfield on 15 Nov 1665. His personalty was valued at £303/10/8. Orton married first perhaps about 1642 to Mary by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. He married second on 23 Jun 1657 at Elmdon to Ann Tompson of Erdington, Warwicks by whom he had 1 daughter. Two of Orton's brothers - James and Philip - were clergymen.

Thomas Orton (parochial curate of Fradswell etc.) c1639-?1701 H92
Orton, born perhaps about 1639, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. On 27 Sep 1663 he was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield and in Sep 1663 licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. Shortly after he was probably jointly licensed parochial curate of Fradswell (after probable presentation by the vicar of Colwich then Augustine Schoolecroft 1633-1700 QV), of Gratwich and of Kingstone. (At Kingstone he might have been in office on 1 Sep 1662 apparently before his ordination). In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Fradswell constablewick and was assessed on 2 hearths at Gratwich constablewick. He was likely in office at Fradswell until at least 1667, at Gratwich until 1701 and at Kingstone until 1693. Orton may have died, aged about 62, (with burial on 9 Feb 170o.1 at Walsall). Orton married on 6 Jul 1694 at Chebsey to Sarah Belcher (d ? 1729) by whom he had 1 daughter.

(1810) The houfes in Wolverhampton being many of them run out of repair, the prefent lord Gower this month, October, 1739, fold them, and fome lands belonging to them, to one Charles Osborn, a quaker of this town, for £5000. This man's grandfather was parfon of Bilfton. His fon went as a common foldier with major Levefon into Scotland, &c. After the Revolution, he fettled in Wolverhampton, turned quaker, and, by keeping a fhop of workmen, who made tobacco-boxes, and afterwards by taking in goods by commiffion, he acquired a very confiderable fum of money from nothing, fome faid more than £10,000. This his son continues to improve, by carrying on the fame bufinefs, and returning money as a banker. [Shaw (1810) II i p163]
(1893) He died in 1640, and was buried in Wolverhampton Church. To him succeeded a clergyman named James Osborne. During his curacy he strenuously exerted himself to obtain the consecration of his Chapel and yard for burial purposes. But the times were unpropitious. The country was in a state of warlike ferment for one thing, and for another he had to contend with the uncompromising opposition of the Dean and prebendaries of Wolverhampton, because (1) at this time all burials, christenings, &c., were performed in the Mother Church, the Dean and Chapter receiving the fees; (2) The Chapel was more immediately under the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of the Dean : and on these grounds they opposed the application. Thus, from selfish motives, the inconvenient customs of christening and burying at the Mother Church were continued, to the great dissatisfaction of the inhabitants. This must have been very disappointing to the curate, who appears to have been a very able and faithful minister, as is proved by his being untroubled by the two parties in the State. He died in November, 1659. Shaw, says, in his History of Staffordshire :- A grandson of this parson purchased some property at Wolverhampton from Earl Gower, in October, 1739, for 5000. This person whose name was Charles Osborne, left a legacy to this town, as is seen by the annexed extract from the Church register :- Oct. 24, 1748. "At a Vestry meeting held at the Bull's Head, &c., it was unanimously agreed that the Rev. Edward Best, together with Edward Kempson and William Smith, Chapelwardens, of Bilston, shall give a power to Mr. Samuel Redhead, Merchant, of Antigua, to receive a legacy left to the liberty of Bilston, by

Brutus Ottey (parochial curate of Kings Bromley) c1605-1666 H93 Ottey, born about 1605, was 1st son of Thomas Ottey (vicar choral of Lichfield Pipa Minor) c1580-1627 and Dorothy (who married 2nd (as his ?2nd wife) Nicholas Crosse (parochial curate of Kings Bromley) e1589-1635). As a literate on 31 May 1629 he was ordained deacon and on 1 Jun 1629 ordained priest both) by Peterborough. He may not have been in an office during the presbyterian intrusion (1644/60). About Aug 1662 after probable presentation by the prebendary of Alrewas then Richard Harrison (rector of Blithfield) c1611-1676 QV he was licensed parochial curate of Kings Bromley and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 21 Aug 1662. In 1665 he did not certify the hearth tax for Kings Bromley constablewick and was not assessed there. He may have been living with (? his son) Thomas Ottey who was assessed on 2 hearths. Still in office he died, aged 61, and was buried here on 19 Feb 1665.6. Ottey married on 3 Nov 1638 at Alrewas to Joyce Shemmonds (d ?1670) by whom he may had a son Thomas. In 1665 the hearth tax for Kings Bromley constablewick was certified by John Betts e1618-1677 likely acting as stipendiary curate-in-charge for Ottey. Thomas Ottey (vicar choral of Lichfield Brewood) e1607-1670 was probably Brutus's younger brother.

Thomas Oulton B.A. (parochial curate of Newcastle) ?1637-1704 H94
Oulton, (? christened on 10 May 1637 at Nantwich), was probably a son of Edward Oulton of Nantwich, Cheshire "gentleman". He studied at Cambridge where on 26 Jun 1658 he was admitted as a sizar at Clare Hall and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1661.2. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 26 Jul 1663 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 27 Jul 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. That year he was appointed by Newcastle corporation parochial curate of Newcastle. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Newcastle constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths. Between 1685 and 1687 at a period when Newcastle was experiencing political problems Oulton was kept out of office but then returned. On 4 Jul 1698 he was replaced in office. Oulton died, aged about 67, and was buried on 17 Jan 1703.4 at Newcastle. His will made on 13 Aug 1703 was proved under Lichfield on 14 Jun 1704. His personalty was valued at £36/14/11. Oulton married on 11 Nov 1663 at Newcastle to Jane Kirke (d 1723) by whom he had 2 daughters.

(1931) THE LATER MINISTERS. On 23 October, 1662, Mr. Rippon was offered the appointment but he would not accept, nor would Mr. Porter in April, 1663, so Mr. Thomas Oulton was appointed in 1663. His name occurs as the minister of Newcastle right on to 1692 and yet for a short period Mr. Sherratt served the cure. In 1685 the church clerk was to be allowed a gown at the town's charge at Mr. Sherratt's discretion. Also in June, 1687 it was ordered that a sum of £15 should be paid to Mr. Sherratt if within a fortnight be quitted his ciaim as minister to the town & satisfied Mr. Orme for supplying the cure in his absence. It is significant that when Edward Orme, who had been the borough schoolmaster from 1654 to 1668, died his burial entry is thus recorded in the parish church register: "Mr. Edward Orme, curate, buried February 28th, 1705." I think he was an assistant to the Rev. Egerton Harding for after Edward Orme's death the rector of Stoke recommended Mr. Totty as the curate. In 1677 the town authorities agreed to build a loft and library at the bottom of the church. John Snowe and Thomas Fernyhough were allowed £9o to do this work in 1678. The work was evidently completed by November, 1679, when the Corporation regulated the prices for the seats in the "new erected gailery in Newcastle Church." [Newcastle printed PR (1931) piv]
(1963) the borough council in 1663 (fn. 100) appointed Thomas Oulton who, save for an interruption of three years (1685–7) held the living until 1698. (fn. 101) His ejection in 1685, however, was probably for political, not religious, reasons connected with the overthow of the old council. (fn. 102) On its return to power in 1688 Oulton was reinstated. (fn. 103) During his incumbency the church in Newcastle seems to have been in a strong position, for in 1676 it was recorded that there were 1,000 conformists in the town, only 5 dissenters, and no papists. He was responsible for bringing glass-making to Staffordshire, having as a canon of Chichester become acquainted with several leading Huguenot glass-making families. They apparently followed him to Buckholt, near Salisbury, when he became a canon there in 1570, and then to Eccleshall, after his appointment to Coventry and Lichfield. He fuelled their furnaces with timber from his own estates and the industry proved highly profitable locally. [ODNB]

William Overton (?compliant minister of Audley) c1615-1661 B33

Overton, born about 1615, was a son of John Overton of Checkley ?yeoman c1585-1662 and Catherine. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He may have been ordained as a deacon before 6 Jul 1639 when he was appointed as schoolmaster of Kingsley parish school but was probably not ordained as a priest. Perhaps on 1 Feb 1649.50 he was appointed ?compliant minister of Audley vicarage. Here he received an augmentation of £20 to his annual salary. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. About Sep 1660 he was displaced in office by a former stipendiary curate John Kelsall 1604-1669. An undated entry in Audley parish register reads "Here William Kelsall & his Curate John Kelsall were sequestered and ejected for adheringe to the Kinge Charles 1. p.m. and Kinge Charles 2. returneing to his throne John Kelsall returned to his vicariage August. 9. 1660 ..." After his displacement Overton returned to his birthplace Checkley where he died, aged about 46, and was buried on 13 Aug 1661. His will made on 1 Aug 1661 was proved under Lichfield on 11 Apr 1662. His personalty was valued at £181/18/8 and included "2 Books of general sorts £3". Overton married on 2 Aug 1641 at Checkley to Dorothy Ford by whom he had (perhaps) 1 son and 3 daughters.

... longest serving was Francis Paddy, who arrived in 1577 and was then described as farmer of the vicarage. He was described as minister and curate at the time of his marriage in 1586. He was officiating at Alstonefield c1603, but he was stated to be not licensed to preach and without a degree. In 1604, when he was at Longnor, he was described as 'a mere worldling'. At his death in 1617 he was described as minister of Alstonefield. [VCH]

(Elford) In his own parish of Elford, Paget implemented in a practical way the ideas advocated in his fiction. As with other Tractarian clergy he introduced the practice of daily morning and evening prayer in the church, and began to increase the frequency with which holy communion was celebrated. He raised funds to restore the building, including the collection of pennies from the children for a new font. The reopening of the restored church was celebrated on 2 August 1849, during which Paget preached a sermon published as The Destinies of God's Temples (1849). The annual dedication festival became, in subsequent years, an important meeting place for Staffordshire clergy. Further restoration work in 1869 was followed by his published account of the church in 1870. [ODNB]

Rev William Seymour Tremenheere Parker attended Lichfield Theological College. He was ordained as a deacon in 1916 and as a priest in 1917. After working in a number of parishes in Staffordshire and Suffolk he became the incumbent of Hasfield in 1932, to which was added the parish of Tirley in 1934. Mr Parker retired in 1956, and moved to Cheltenham. He delivered sermons at a number of services in St Peter's parish after that date, being a licensed preacher until c.1965 As well as providing an example of sermons preached during the mid-20th century, the sermons written during the Second World War are of particular interest. William Parkes (vicar of Sedgley) ?1602-1656
Parkes, (? christened on 19 Dec 1602 at Sedgley), was likely a son of William Parkes of Sedgley naylor c1572-.... He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon and priest before 23 Mar 1628.9 when after presentation by Thomas Parkes of Willingsworth in Sedgley esquire c1596-1660 he was instituted vicar of Sedgley. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. About 1654 some Sedgley parishioners requested Parkes "who was old and weak" to appoint Joseph Eccleshall 1633-1692 QV as his assistant. Later that year Eccleshall was appointed as presbyterian assistant minister and on 27 Oct 1654 was also appointed register. Still in office Parkes died, aged about 54, and was buried here on 12 Sep 1656. Parkes possibly married on 18 Jul 1629 at Sedgley to Elizabeth Mason (no known children). [NB: William Parkes M.A. (vicar of Belton, Leics) c1605-1661 was a contemporary clergyman. His father lived in Staffordshire.]

HALES OWEN [V.] Mr. Edward Paston. He was ordained by a bishop before the war, and yet could not be satisfied to conform. He did not, after his ejectment, keep up any stated meeting in Hales Owen, where he lived in great friendship with his moderate successor, and was not treated with any severity. He sometimes preached for his brother who conformed, in Kings Swinford church, and several other churches and chapels, where he could be connived at; but his labours were mostly employed at the meetings of Dissenters. He had a constant turn at Guarnal, in Sedgely parish, Staffordshire. He was not a popular preacher, but very judicious, solid, and practical. He was a grave, pious and peaceable man, of a humble, catholic spirit, and of a heavenly conversation. He was for some time steward to Philip Foley, Esq; and lived to a good old age. [CALAMY 3 148]

$Nicholas Paston M.A. (compliant minister of Kingswinford) c1599-1669 (H95)
Paston, born about 1599, was second son of John Paston of Kingswinford "gentleman" c1570-1636 and Elizabeth. He studied at Oxford where on 23 Oct 1618 he was a "commoner" at Magdalen Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 27 Jan 1620.1 (M.A., 9 Jul 1623). On 23 Sep 1621 he was ordained deacon by Oxford and on 18 Dec 1624 ordained priest by Lichfield. On 25 Jan 1625.6 after presentation by his father he was instituted rector of Kingswinford. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Nicholas Paston Pastor of Kingswinford". Still in office as minister in early Jun 1660 he was then reinstated as rector and, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was confirmed in office. On 11 Jul 1660 after presentation by Francis Elcock gentleman he was instituted rector of Rolleston but is not known to have been inducted. At Kingswinford in Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £3 and subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 29 Jul 1662. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £100. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Kingswinford constablewick and was assessed on 5 hearths. Still in office he died, aged about 70, and was probably buried at Birmingham on 26 Oct 1699. His will made on 18 Apr 1669 was proved under PCC on 1 Nov 1669. Paston married first on 25 Nov 1628 at Kingswinford to Jane Tymins by whom he had 8 sons and 5 daughters. He married second on 24 Jun 1659 at Kingswinford to Margaret (probably widow of Thomas Milward) (no known children). In 1621 Paston was bequeathed the advowson of Wombourn and Trysull (or more probably a turn or turns) by his uncle Nicholas Paston. Several close family members of Nicholas Paston were clergymen. Previous rectors of Kingswinford were his uncle Nicholas Paston c1547-1622 and (? another uncle) George Paston c1560-1630. Edward Paston (presbyterian minister of Halesowen, Worcs) 1617-1697 was his brother. Edward's son was John Paston (rector of Welford-on-Avon, Glos) c1656-1689. Nicholas Paston also had a son of the same name - John Paston (rector of Himley) c1639-1687. Another of his sons Joseph Paston 1643-.... may have been ordained. Yet another John - John Paston (of Kingswinford clerk) c1649-1677 - was probably a more distant kinsman.

Among past Sub-Chanters, the Rev. William St George Patterson will perhaps be longest remembered. He held office from 1845 until 1890. He was a clever man, and in many ways an enthusiastic and zealous church musician. Unfortunately, his zeal was not always tempered with judgment. A stained glass window has lately been erected as a memorial to him. [INTERNET]

Richard Peake (presbyterian minister of Ellastone) c1625-....
Peake, born about 1625, was a son of William Peake (rector of Sheinton, Salop) c1586-1652 and Mary. He studied at Oxford where on 20 Nov 1640 he was a student at St Alban Hall and matriculated. On 5 May 1641 he (again) matriculated at St Alban. He is not known to have graduated. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by Nov 1651 when he took office as presbyterian minister of Ellastone vicarage. On 26 May 1652 he was "settled" here by the Committee for plundered ministers. He received an augmentation (previously paid to his predecessor) of £80 to his annual salary of £20 pa. On 17 Nov 1653 his successor was appointed by the Council of State. No further record has been discovered. Peake may not have married.

(1915) On 30 May 1646 the committee for plundered ministers found that this vicarage was worth but £20 pa, so it granted to Langley all the tithes of this rectory, worth £63 pa, sequestered from Sir Richard Fleetwood, less £13 payable therefrom by Langley to the State. (BodlMS 323 p266) On 6 Jun 1651 this committee varied this order by granting Langley two-thirds of these rectorial tithes, then said to be worth £80 pa, which had been sequestered from Sir Thomas Fleetwood papist, son and heir of the late Sir Richard. [1915 p96]
(1915) 6 Peake. Perhaps matriculated 1640 St Alban Hall, Oxford. If so, son of William Peake of Sheinton, Salop? (Foster). "Settled" here by the committee for plundered ministers on 26 May 1652, but granted the £80 augmentation from the beginning of Nov 1651, the date when he first began to officiate here. This incumbent of St. Michael's supped with Johnson and Boswell at "The Three Crowns" in 1776. He also kept a pastoral eye on Johnson's step-daughter, Lucy Porter, in her old age. He became her principal legatee ; but, on one occasion, "Why, Mr. Pearson," said she, "you are just like Dr. Johnson, I think : I do not mean that you are a man of the greatest capacity ... but that you contradict one every word one speaks, just like him." [W.E. Foster 11]

(Croxall) Sacred to the memory of the Revd John Batteridge Pearson, LLB, vicar of this Parish during twenty-nine years, and prebendary of the Cathedral church of Lichfield. He died August 14th, 1808, in the 58th year of his age. He married Elizabeth, eldest daughter of the Rev James Falconer, DD, Archdeacon of Derby. Also James, his second son, who died of a decline, at sea off the Island of Ascension on the 27th of September, 1821, in the 27th year of his age; also, John, his third son, who died on the lst December 1855, in the 58th year of his age; also Elizabeth, relict of the above Rev John Batteridge Pearson, who died on the 8th December 1856 in the 93rd year of her age.

The Lichfield Cathedral cartulary contains ten relevant charters of Bishop Richard's, some in favour of the common fund, some the precentorship, and some the deanery. Richard seems to have been a man of fairly conventional piety and was remembered, erroneously as it happens, as the founder of the Augustinian house in Stafford dedicated to the memory of St Thomas, to which he retired, having become a canon, shortly before his death on 6 or 7 October 1182. Ananias Pecke (parochial curate of Cauldon) ?1609-1648
Pecke, (? christened on 30 Jul 1609 at Westminster St Margaret), was probably a son of Richard Pecke of Westminster. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1626 he was a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated but is not known to have graduated. On 4 Sep 1631 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and on 25 Sep appointed preacher and reader at Grindon where he may also have acted as stipendiary curate-in-charge. At this time the rector of Grindon was Simon Pecke c1599-?1646 QV who was likely Ananias's brother or cousin. On 25 or 26 Feb 1632 Ananias was ordained priest by Lichfield. By 1639 he was in office as parochial curate of Cauldon. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued here as compliant minister and was perhaps still in office when he died, aged about 39, and was buried on 28 May 1648 at (neighbouring) Waterfall. Pecke may not have married,

Simon Pecke M.A. (rector of Grindon) c1599-?1646 1631-?1646
Pecke, born about 1599 (perhaps in London), is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1617 he was a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated. By 1619 he was a scholar. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1619.20 (M.A., 1623). He was in office as master of Dronfield endowed school, Derbys on 21 Sep 1623 when he was ordained deacon by Lichfield. On 17 Sep 1626 he was ordained priest by Lichfield. He appears to have resigned as rector of Breadsall, Derbys before 31 Mar or 1 Apr 1631 when after presentation by William Cavendish [1st Duke of Newcastle-upon-Tyne] 1593-1676 he was instituted as rector of Grindon. He was also sometime master of the parish school. On 25 Sep 1631 Ananias Pecke ?1609-1648 QV was appointed preacher and reader at Grindon where he may also have been a stipendiary curate. Ananias (likely a kinsman of Simon) was also a sizar at Trinity and probably a son of Richard Pecke of Westminster. On 15 Jan 1639.40 Thomas Levinge of Parwich, Derbys "gentleman" c1567-1640 wrote in his will "And to my Worthy Nephew Mr. Simon Pecke parson of Grindon ffortie shillings in Gold and a paire of White long Gloves ffaced with Changeable Taffata - and I do desire him to preach at my buriall at Parwich and at his Convenient leasure after at Ashborne and Allhallowes in Derbie". From 5 Feb 1643.4 Simon Pecke continued at Grindon as compliant minister. Still in office he probably died, aged about 47, in Jan 1645.6. Pecke probably married on 24 Sep 1635 at Norton, Derbys to Mary Frogat by ?whom he had 1 son. His son John Peck M.A. c1639-1682 was a sometime esquire Bedell - a junior ceremonial officer - at Cambridge and also university printer. Thomas Levinge who styled

Pecke as "nephew" was probably 1st son of Thomas Levinge and Margaret Freeman dau of Thomas Freeman of Bolehall, Warwicks. One Dorothy Freeman married in 1602 at London St Mary-le-Strand to Thomas Pecke. It is then likely that the kinship between Pecke and Levinge was through the Freeman family. [NB: Simon Pecke (rector of Husbands Bosworth, Leics) c1598-1672 was a contemporary clergyman.]

Edward Penn (parochial curate of Bobbington, Staffs) e1605-....
Penn, born perhaps about 1605 (? in Staffordshire), was likely a son of Francis Penn of Bobbington "gentleman" e1575-1613 and Constance Braddock dau of Edmund Braddock of Adbaston gentleman c1537-p1614. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was (presumably) ordained deacon (? and priest) before 23 Apr 1640 when he was in office as parochial curate of Bobbington and was still there on 26 May 1641. Penn may not have married. No further record has been discovered. [NOTE: On 7 Oct 1613 Francis Penn made his will and bequeathed to his son Edward £10 pa from a lease on the prebend of Lichfield Ryton.]

----- [a poem by] in rhyming couplets, details the author's sense of utter desolation in the wake of an unspecified personal loss (presumably of a loved one) and his invocation of faith in God for future guidance. These moving lines were evidently composed during a time of acute personal distress. First line: "Why droops the head? Why languishes the Eye?" [INTERNET]

(rector, Barwick in Elmet, Yorks WR)
[? (vicar, Buxton, Norfolk) 1725]

The chief offender [for absenteeism] was the sacrist, Henry Perkins, 'nominal or pretended rector' of Barwick in Elmet (Yorks. W.R.). He was away from Lichfield for more than two-thirds of the year, seldom attended services when he was resident, and had infringed the cathedral statutes by not appointing another vicar to act as his deputy. ... the chapter ordered Perkins to return to his duties on pain of deprivation. [VCH]

(Shareshill) Memo: The Rev'd John Hayes Petit of Queens College Cambridge succeded the Rev'd Hamlett Harrison the 16th of Feb 1811 [PR]
hope you're well and flourishing. I've been scratting around for several weeks re the family of the Revd John Louis Petit, who crops up in the Clergy index as the son of John Hayes Petit. He served a curacy at St Michael's in Lichfield - this is in the C of E Clergy Database on line, where you can find e.g. Venn's entry. He seems also to have done a curacy of two places in Essex, 1828-34, according to them, though elsewhere the dates are 1840-8. If you could check your Crockfords - I'd love to clear up the confusion. (He has an ODNB entry, which just needs a tweak or two - I've written to them.) Some of these could do with going into the Gentry database, too, perhaps.

For part of the time he was supposed to be at Shareshill, John Hayes was living at nearby Hilton Park Hall. It was owned by the Vernons, the family of Harriet Astley's father's second wife (Harriet was the first child of his third marriage). He was at Coton from at least 1817.

I've also come across some tweaks for his father's entry. Harriet Astley's father John was a (mediocre) professional portrait painter who's in ODNB. John Louis was born at Ashton-under-Lyne, which is across the River Teme from Dukinfield, so I wonder if he was actually born there.

Of the children: John Louis m. Louisa Elizabeth, dau. of George Reid, Esq., of Trelawny, Jamaica, 17 June 1828 (Venn). She d. in Northamptonshire, in Abington Abbey, a 'private asylum', 16 October 1888. He d. in Lichfield, apparently after getting soaked on an outdoor painting expedition.

Harriet Letitia's husband Thomas Salt was the brother of the Staffs antiquarian, William.

Peter John became Colonel of the 50th Foot, and d. 1852, unmarried.

Emma Gentille d. 1893, unmarr., Lichfield RD. She and Elizabeth were baptized at Donington, near Albrighton, shortly after their births. Louis Hayes signs registers there as curate from 1807, though he's not officially licensed until he's about to leave in 1811. Maybe he was paid by the previous curate until then, and wasn't a stipendiary paid directly by Lichfield.

Elizabeth m. David Haig of Lochrin House and Glenogil as his 3rd wife, in 1844. He died four years later, and she seems to have come back to live with other members of the family in Redcourt, Lichfield. One source says she d. 5 July 1895 somewhere in the Weald of Kent, but she could be the Elizabeth Haig who d. SepQ 1895, Lichfield RD.

Louis Peter became a barrister, of Lincoln's Inn like his uncle (Louis Hayes Petit), and of Gray's Inn, but d. 28 May 1848, unmarr.

Maria Katherine m. the Revd William Edward Jelf (ODNB), SepQ (July?) 1849 (in Lichfield Cathedral - John Louis P officiated).

But I didn't have death dates for Louisa or Susanna. The IGI went virtually unusable after people were allowed to upload their own info, then it went virtually unobtainable.

On the Gentry database - you have the Hayes marrying John Peter Petit as Mary, but one of my sources says that's wrong, she was Sarah, and that ties in with documents naming her as a widow in e.g. 1751. I'm getting nowhere in sorting dates for her father and brother, both John, gent, of Wolverhampton. In the list, you could also do with the line of Theodosia Hayes (d. of Thomas?) who m. Revd Josiah Hinckes; one dau, Theodosia, a W'ton philanthropist in 19th C. The Hayes lady seems to have inherited property from her grandfather, of Nechell(s) - the W'ton one, it seems, not the B'ham one.

I'm quite surprised to see 'Petit of Little Aston' in the gentry list so early, and would like to explore that further. The family of John Peter and Sarah (Hayes) lived at Little Aston Hall (between Lichfield and Sutton Coldfield) between about 1743 and 1762. It had been built (rebuilt?) for Richard Scott in the 1730s, but after his death in 1734, his family never lived there, and after the widowed Sarah moved out, in 1765 someone else took out a 99-year lease. I haven't found any documentary link proving that the Petits had a direct link to Little Aston after 1762. Dr John Lewis Petit was born there, but trained as a doctor and lived in London, apparently all his life. He was the father of John, Peter and Louis Hayes Petit; two more children didn't survive infancy.

I'm also after Perrys of Wolverhampton, but your records for them don't go into 18th C. Were there but world enough and time . . .

Best,
Christine

Ralph Phillips (rector of Tixall) e1636-1687
Phillips, born perhaps about 1636, is of unknown parentage. He was only educated to literate grade. On 2 Aug 1661 he was ordained deacon and priest by Sodor & Man pro Lichfield. By 26 Sep 1662 he was, jointly, in office as parochial curate of Gayton and Weston-upon-Trent but probably resigned at both places before 1665. Daniel Bayley c1600-1676 QV, then, plurally, rector of Stafford St Mary and Tixall, appointed Phillips as stipendiary curate-in charge of Tixall before 1 Aug 1665. In 1665 "Ralph Phillippes, Minister" certified the hearth tax for Tixall constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths. In Oct 1676 shortly after the death of Bayley and after presentation by Walter Aston 2nd Baron Aston of Forfar c1609-1678 Phillips was instituted rector of Tixall. Still in office he died, aged about 51, and was buried there on 10 Jul 1687. Phillips married about 1666 to Mary by whom he had 5 sons and 2 daughters. [NB: Ralph Phillips (stipendiary curate at Fulford) e1640-.... was a contemporary clergyman.]

George Phillips (parochial curate of Okeover) e1632-?1683
Phillips, born perhaps about 1632, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon before 21 Aug 1662 when - described as a chaplain - he was probably in office as parochial curate of Okeover and subscribed to the Act of uniformity. He may be the man of this name whose administration was granted under Lichfield on 6 Sep 1683. No further record has been discovered.

Thomas Pickin M.A. (compliant minister of Swynnerton) c1613-?1653
Pickin, born about 1613, was a younger son of Thomas Pickin of Maer yeoman e1579-?1640 and Alice. He studied at Oxford where on 11 May 1632 he was a "commoner" at Magdalen Hall and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 11 Jun 1634 (M.A., 22 Apr 1637). About 1637 he was presumably ordained deacon and priest. About 1639 (his father-in-law) John Beardmore (rector of Blithfield) c1572-1658 QV probably appointed him as stipendiary curate-in-charge of Blithfield and on 5 Feb 1643.4 he probably continued as compliant assistant minister-in-charge.
He had probably resigned before 3 Sep 1645 when he was admitted compliant minister of Swynnerton rectory where he paid first fruits on 19 May 1647. On 24 Jul 1647 the Committee for plundered ministers investigated - but apparently dismissed - a claim by Joseph Sonde ?1598-1672 QV (Pickin's successor here) that he had been settled into Swynnerton rectory. Still in office Pickin appears to have died, aged about 40, and was probably buried on 7 Jan 1652.3 at Adbaston. Pickin married on 4 Nov 1639 at Blithfield to Elizabeth Beardmore 1620-1640 daughter of John Beardmore (rector of Blithfield) c1572-1658 QV by whom he had 1 daughter.

(1915, Swynnerton) 3 Sep 1645 oc. 1651.2 Thomas Pickin M.A. 9 - 9 Pickin. Son of Thomas Pickin of Maer; M.A. 1637 Magdalen Hall, Oxford (Foster); curate at Blithfield c1635-1645; married 4 Nov 1639 at Blithfield Elizabeth Beardmore; paid the first fruits for this rectory on 19 May 1647. On the 24 Jul of that year the committee for plundered ministers enquired into a complaint made by Joseph Sound, who asserted that he had been settled into this rectory. The committee ordered that Sound be confirmed in this rectory unless Pickin could show good cause to the contrary before 9 Nov 1647. Apparently Pickin did show such good cause, for he was still minister here in 1651.2 (Add. MS 15671 p162, 240). Walker states that he was sequestered, but this seems doubtful. [1915 p265-6]
(1919) It is not known what it was that terminated his connection with Blithfield, but it appears from the Register of 1639 that Thomas Picken married Elizabeth Beardmore on Nov. 4th of that year, and about this time became Curate. Picken baptized a daughter Nov. 22nd 1640, and remained in charge of the Parish till 1645. His wife was buried at Blithfield Nov. 24th 1640 and his daughter Elizabeth Feb. 1644/5. On Sep. 3rd 1645 he was instituted Rector of Swynnerton, for which, benefice he paid "first-fruits" May 19th 1647 ; but a certain Puritan Minister, Joseph Sond [fn3. Brit. Mus. Add. MSS. 15671, folios 162 and 240. On July 24 1647 the " Commissioners for plundered ministers " enquired into a complaint made by Joseph Sound, who asserted that he had been settled into the Rectory of Swynnerton. They ordered that he should be confirmed in the possession of that Rectory, unless Picken could show cause to the contrary before November 9 1647. Apparently he did show such cause, for he was still incumbent of Swynnerton in 1651-2, and Sond became Curate of Newcastle, where he remained till April 24 1654, when Oliver Cromwell presented him to the Rectory of Swynnerton. (Warslow) A house south-west of Warslow village was built in 1829 for the newly appointed curate, Richard Pidcocke. It is a large, stone house with a central porch and Gothick windows. It was sold in 1982. [VCH]

PIDCOKE, TEXAS. Pidcoke is on U.S. Highway 84 West and Farm Road 116, just south of Cowhouse Creek and fifteen miles from Gatesville in southwestern Coryell County. Its name is derived from that of the Rev. Richard Burton Pidcocke family from England, who immigrated in 1850 with a group of colonists to found a city in Central Texas. The proposed townsite was on Cowhouse Creek, where the Pidcoke community is located today. After the area was rejected by their agent because it was too hilly, Hartley and Reginald, the two older Pidcocke sons, bought land near the proposed site in 1857 and began the operation of Pidcock Ranch. [INTERNET]

On the same boat there was an English clergyman, Rev. Richard Burton Pidcocke, rector of Warslow Church, Staffordshire, England. Pidcocke had obtained a two-year leave of absence from his church to come to America with his boys, who were to settle in Texas. His wife was with him, Harriet Millicent Burton Pidcocke, eldest daughter of John Gisborne of Millers Dale, County Derby, England, and their five children,—the sons who were drawing the parents to America, Hartley, twenty-one years old at the time, Reginald, nineteen, two younger boys, John and Charles, and Isabella Ann, pretty and pink cheeked and twenty, as fresh as any English peach that had ever grown beyond a rectory garden wall. .... In the winter of 1850, the Pidcockes had gone to Belton in Bell County, and in the spring of '51 they moved to Cowhouse Creek, now in Coryell County, then attached to Bell, twenty miles southwest of Fort Gates and Gatesville. In the middle of that July Rev. Pidcocke completed his two-year leave of absence from Wardslow Church by dying. Frontier hardships and exposure had been too much. His wife died the next day, and was buried with him in a strange land. Reginald Pidcocke lived until a few years ago in Waco, leaving a number of descendants who are residents of that city at the present time. [INTERNET]

William Pierce B.A. (vicar of Sheriff Hales) c1638-1673 H96

Pierce, born about 1638, was of Shropshire parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 9 Jun 1656 he was admitted as a sizar at King's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1659.60. On 13 (OR 14) Dec 1662 he was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield and on 15 Dec 1662 licensed as a preacher also by Lichfield. On 15 Dec 1662 after presentation by Richard Fowler of Harnage Grange, Salop esquire c1618-1687 qua guardian of his under-age son Francis Leveson Fowler of Harnage Grange, Salop esquire 1641-1667 he was instituted vicar of Sheriff Hales and inducted on 1 Jan 1662.3. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £45. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Sheriff Hales constablewick and was assessed on 3 hearths at Sheriff Hales township. Still in office he died, aged about 35, and was buried here on 19 Jan 1672.3. Pierce may not have married.

"The diocese has to lament the death of a Clergyman whom we can ill spare—the Rev. Charles Francis Corbet Pigott, M.A., rector of Edgmond, Rural Dean, and prebendary of Wolvey in the Cathedral. His father was rector of the same parish, and in the house where he was born Mr. Pigott died, aged 67, on the morning of Sunday, January, 22nd. He was educated as Shrewsbury School, and at Christ Church, Oxford, and was ordained in 1840. For eight years he worked in Handsworth, first as Curate of the Parish Church, and afterwards as Incumbent of S. Michael's. Subsequently he served two parishes in Monmouthshire, and in 1865 he succeeded his brother, the Rev. John Dryden Corbet, now of Sundorne Castle, as rector of Edgmond. To that parish he devoted energy and powers far above the average. The fabric of the Church was put into a thorough slate of repair at a large cost; and daily service has been the rule for many years. The parish schools received constant oversight from the late rector, who studied thoroughness rather than variety in the instruction given in them. He encouraged also among his parishioners allotments of land. Although a Clergyman and a Parish Priest above all things, he was eminently a man of the world, and he was practically conversant with the present difficulties of the farmer. As a link between the Clergy and Laity, Mr. Pigott stood in a position which few can fill. He was, moreover, a good and forcible speaker, enunciating his opinions fearlessly and logically, nay, almost eloquently; and at Conferences and other meetings he always secured marked attention. Those who knew him in private life will not soon forget his cheery manner and hearty laugh, and the zest with which he threw himself into topics of interest. Mr. Pigott was a good Classical Scholar, and a volume of sermons from his pen, published in 1857, makes it a matter of regret that he did not leave other writings behind him. He was promoted to the Prebendal Stall of Wolvey by Bishop Selwyn in 1867 [?recte 1876], and preached in the Cathedral on the occasion of his turn, on the 19th Sunday after Trinity, October 16th, 1887. Such a man leaves a void not easily filled." [Lichfield Diocesan Magazine, March 1888]

(the bulk of his estate passed to his wife Frances and then to his nephew Thomas Pilkington, there being no surviving children of his marriage)
[ODNB]

Pilkington's earliest known publication was The Evangelical History and Harmony (1747). This was followed by a sermon, The Passages on Moses and the Prophets which are Expressive of Eternal Life, which he preached on the occasion of the bishop of Lincoln's visit to Derby in 1756. His Remarks on an Address to the People called the Quakers and aSermon on Baptism (1762) drew several responses, including a short discourse from the Revd John Johnson (1705/6–1791) of Liverpool. Pilkington's most significant work was A Rational Concordance, or, An Index to the Bible (1749), which, though it did not rival Alexander Cruden's Concordance, contained many words not included in Joseph Priestley's Index to the Bible (1804). He also published Remarks upon Several Passages of Scripture (1759). [ODNB]

(Stanton-by-Dale) Against the south pier of the chancel arch, is a mural monument, thus inscribed : — "In the middle of this Chancell amongst many of his Ancestors and other Relations Lie the Remains of Matthew Pilkington LL.B. prebendary of Lichfield who departed this Life November ye 4th 1765 in the 61st year of his age. No Character is Given His Acquaintance may Speak it and the Righteous Judge shall pronounce it."
On the fly-leaf of the Church Bible, between the two Testaments, is written "A gift to the Church of Stanton-by Dale in the county of Derby, July the 31st, 1763, by Matthew Pilkington, Minister of said parish, the son of Middlemore, born 167[?], died 1752, buried at Stanton." A pedigree is then given, as it were backwards, of the lineal descent of Matthew Pilkington, the earliest named being Sir Roger Pilkington, of Pilkington, Lancashire, temp. Henry III. Geoffrey Pilkington, the fifth in descent from Sir Roger, was, according to this pedigree, the first who resided at Stanton, where he was buried in 1494. On the monument is the following coat of arms :—Quarterly, 1st and 4th, arg., a cross patonce voided, gu. (Pilkington), 2nd and 3rd, gu., a chevron, or, between three escallops, arg. (Sallow ?); on an escutcheon of pretence, arg, on a bend, gu., between three ogresses, three swans of the first (Clarke). Crest, a mower holding a scythe, proper. The wife of Matthew Pilkington was the daughter and heiress of Clarke; she survived her husband, and left Stanton on April 5th, 1779, as we find mentioned in an indenture in the parish registers. They had no children, and he was the last of this branch of the family. The arms quartered with Pilkington on the monument are rather puzzling, as no heiress mentioned in the pedigrees of Pilkington bore them. We find, however, that George Sallow, who died 5 Henry V., seized of a capital mansion, etc., at Stanton, left an only daughter and heiress, Agnes. She conveyed the property in marriage to one of the Pilkingtons, probably to Sir Thomas, the father of Geoffrey. We believe the quartered arms to be those of Sallow. From the time of their marriage with the heiress of Sallow down to 1779, when the widow of Matthew Pilkington married again, Stanton manor-house was their residence. It is rather remarkable that, of the numerous generations of this family buried in Stanton Church, no monuments remain, except the one described, and two eighteenth century stones on the chancel floor. [COX IV 418-9]

Pole certainly seems to have been free from serious constraints in 1565, when Bishop Bentham of Lichfield complained that his residence just outside Stafford with Brian Fowler (the founder of a famous recusant family) was unsettling the area, through the visits of 'diverse lewd priests' to Pole. Michael Pollard B.A. (parochial curate of Trentham) ?1609-1667
Pollard, (? christened on 15 Feb 1609 at Kilve) was probably 1st son of Lewis Pollard of Kilve, Soms c1579-.... and Joan (Michell). He studied at Oxford where he was a "commoner" at Christ Church College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 8 Jun 1630. He is sometimes styled M.A. but no record has been found of his award. On 23 Sep 1632 he was ordained deacon and on 23 Dec 1632 ordained priest (both) by Oxford. On 9 Apr 1633 he was appointed as a stipendiary curate at Forest Hill, Oxon. By 1639 he was in office as parochial curate of Trentham. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister and was still in office in 1651.2. A successor was appointed on 10 Dec 1656. After presentation on 15 Oct 1659 by John Doddington he was appointed compliant minister of Dodington rectory, Soms. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto rector. On 5 May 1663 after presentation by Eton College he was, plurally, instituted rector of Holford, Soms and (on the same day) appointed preacher throughout the diocese of Bath & Wells. Still in office at Dodington and Holford Pollard died, aged about 68, and was buried on 8 May 1667 at Holford. Pollard may not have married. [NB: Kilve, Dodington and Holford are close neighbours in Somerset]. [NB: It is possible that two men are here conflated.]

(Burntwood) George Poole, appointed in 1852, decided that he should devote himself to the growing population of Burntwood, and he gave up Hammerwich in 1858. About then he started a mission at Chasetown, and he was preaching in the open at Boney Hay in 1883. He introduced the singing of psalms and hymns. He was friendly towards nonconformists, speaking at Primitive Methodist meetings and contributing towards the cost of a new Primitive Methodist chapel. He was an advocate of temperance and became a teetotaller, and he persuaded colliers to speak at temperance meetings in Burntwood and Chasetown. [VCH (BURNTWOOD)]

Thomas Poole B.A. (presbyterian minister of Talk-on-the-Hill) c1637-1707

Poole, born about 1637 in Staffordshire, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where on 13 May 1654 he was admitted as a sizar at Jesus College and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1657.8. He was presumably ordained as a presbyterian clergyman about 1659 when he was in office as presbyterian minister of Talk-on-the-Hill dependent parochial curacy. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto parochial curate. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. After deprivation Poole moved to Brerehurst in Wolstanton where he died, aged about 70, but was buried on 1 Dec 1707 at Church Lawton, Cheshire. His will made on 20 Nov 1707 was proved under Lichfield on 24 Sep 1708. His personalty was valued at £26/4/6 which included a sum of £5 for books. Poole married perhaps about 1660 to a woman by whom he had 1 daughter. Calamy records in 1713 that "His [Poole's] Father left him a little Land, in which he had dug twenty Years before, and could find nothing: But the Son after his Non-conformity found a Mine of Coals there, which (says my Author, Dr Sampson) in the Years 1674, and 75, clear'd him £800." Perhaps Sampson confused Poole with some other man for Poole does not appear to have ever been a wealthy man. In his will Poole states that money for his daughter should be given "in such manner that her husband Samll Burslem may have no benefitt or advantage whatsoever thereof".

James Povey M.A. (vicar of Lichfield St Mary) ?1571-e1646
Povey, (? christened on 26 Feb 1570.1 at St Albans), was possibly a son of Hugh Povey of St Albans, Herts c1533-1597 and Ellin (Chasdsleye). He studied at Oxford where on 5 Jul 1587 he subscribed as an anglican. Then or subsequently he was a student at Trinity College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 8 Jun 1591 (M.A., 1 Apr 1595). He was ordained deacon and priest before Dec 1601 when after presentation by the ?Crown he was instituted rector of Willey, Warwicks. On 1 Jan 1624 he was appointed domestic chaplain to Thomas Morton (bishop of Lichfield, 1619-32) 1564-1659. In Sep 1625 he had a dispensation (? for plurality). The same month, probably after presentation by the dean of Lichfield then Walter Curle D.D. c1575-1647 (who was born in Hatfield, Herts), he was instituted vicar of Lichfield St Mary and inducted. On 20 Nov 1637 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Bishopshull. Under An act against the enjoying of pluralities ... (16 Jan 1642.3) he was required to resign from one of his parishes. From 5 Feb 1643.4 his prebend was abolished but he may have continued as compliant minister at Willey and/or Lichfield (where he was replaced in Sep 1645). It is unclear whether Povey resigned or was ejected from either Willey or Lichfield. Povey may have died, aged about 75, in 1646 or shortly after as no further record of him has been discovered. Povey married perhaps about 1602 to Audrey Archdale (d 1636) dau of Barnard Archdale of Oxford c1534-1578 and Ann (Ferne) (no known children).

John Povey (?presbyterian minister of Dunston) ?1618-....
Povey, (? christened on 6 Nov 1618 at Baswich), was probably son of John Povey of Baswich c1582-.... and ?Catherine. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman before about 1646/50 when after probable presentation by the minister of Penkridge then Nathaniel Hinde M.A. ?1605-1673 he was in office as presbyterian minister of Dunston parochial chapelry. Here Povey left office before 1651.2. No further record has been discovered. Povey may have married on 25 Apr 1639 at Baswich to Dorothy Ashbourne.

Edward Powell M.A. (compliant minister of Marston) c1614-....
Powell, born about 1614, was a son of John Powell of Southwark, Surrey. He was educated at London St Paul's school where he was an exhibitioner from 1629 to 1636. He studied at Oxford where on 22 Jun 1632 he was a "commoner" at St John's College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 11 Feb 1633.4 (M.A., Balliol College, 4 Nov 1637). On 22 Dec 1638 he was ordained deacon and on 9 Jun 1639 ordained priest (both) by Oxford.
In 1640 he was appointed as an assistant schoolmaster (sub-usher) at London St Paul's school and in 1641 became the second schoolmaster (or "sur-master"). Powell may be the man of this name who (as Ed. Povvel) addressed a complimentary verse "To my very Worthy and most Ingenious Friend, Mr. JA. SHIRLEY" - James Shirley 1596-1666 - which was published in his Poems &c (1646). On 25 Mar 1647 he resigned at St Paul's. This might be the date that he was appointed as head schoolmaster of Stafford Grammar School. Powell was certainly living in Stafford by 1649 and about this time was a friend of Isaac Newton 1593-1683 the author of The compleat angler... (1653). For this book Powell wrote a commendatory verse first included in the second edition of 1655 and there signed "April 3, 1650. EDW. POWEL, M.A.". Powell was in office as compliant minister of Marston parochial chapelry in 1651.2. In Jun 1660 he likely continued in office as de facto parochial curate. On 10 Mar 1661.2 Powell preached a sermon "The danger of the errors of the rulers" at the Staffordshire assizes then being held at Wolverhampton. The sermon was published later that year under the byline "Edward Powel, Master in Arts and chief school-master in Stafford". On 21 Aug 1662 he subscribed to the Act of uniformity. At Marston a successor was in office on 26 Sep 1662 but Powell was apparently still in office at Stafford Grammar School on 26 Nov 1662 (when his son matriculated) but was replaced in office on 14 Aug 1663. It is undiscovered if he died or resigned. No further record has been discovered. Powell married before 1643 to Mary by whom he had 2 sons and 1 daughter. Charles Powell B.A. (rector of Cheddington, Bucks) c1645-1684 was his older son. Edward Powell M.A. (rector of Chiddingstone, Kent) c1605-.... was a contemporary clergyman.

(26 Oct 1643) In the " Fifth Report of the Historical MSS. Commission " (Appendix, p. 111), there is noted an "application for a pass for Mrs. Mary Powell, wife of the schoolmaster of St. Paul's School, into Berkshire and back, with a manservant and maidservant, a coach and four horses and a saddle horse." The date is October 26th, 1643. But the occurrence of an Edward Powell, as surmaster of St. Paul's (Colet's) School from 1641 to 1647, shows which school was meant. See Mr. Gardiner's " Admission Registers," p. 36. s. p. [INTERNET]

(1655) TO THE READERS OF MY MOST INGENIOUS FRIEND'S BOOK, "THE COMPLETE ANGLER." HE that both knew and writ the Lives of men, | Such as were once, but must not be again; | Witness his matchless Donne and Wotton, by | Whose aid he could their speculations try: | He that conversed with angels, such as were | Ouldsworth and Featly, each a shining star | Showing the way to Bethlehem; each a saint, | Compar'd to whom our zealots, now, but paint. | He that our pious and learn'd Morley knew, | And from him suck'd wit and devotion too. | He that from these such excellencies fetch'd, | That he could tell how high and far they reach'd; | What learning this, what graces th' other had; | And in what several dress each soul was clad. | Reader, this he, this fisherman, comes forth, | And in these fisher's weeds would shroud his worth. | Now his mute harp is on a willow hung, | With which when finely touch'd, and fitly strung, | He could friends' passions for these times allay, | Or chain his fellow anglers from their prey. | But now the music of his pen is still, | And he sits by a brook watching a quill: | Where with a fixt eye, and a ready hand, | He studies first to hook, and then to land | Some trout, or pearch, or pike; and having done, | Sits on a bank, and tells how this was won,--- | And that escap'd his hook, which with a wile | Did eat the bait, and fisherman beguile. | Thus whilst some vex they from their lands are thrown, | He joys to think the waters are his own; | And like the Dutch, he gladly can agree | To live at peace now, and have fishing free. | April 3, 1650. EDW. POWEL, M.A. [THE "COMMENDATORY VERSES." It is somewhat curious that although the first edition of the Angler was published in 1653, the second, published in 1655, contained commendatory verses from seven of Walton's friends not in the first, although one of these addresses, "To the Readers of my most ingenuous Friends Book, The Compleat Angler," written by Edward Powel, M.A., is dated April 3rd, 1650. In these verses the writer refers to Walton's "matchless Lives of Donne and Wotton "; "but the latter was not published until 1651, so that there appears to be a mistake in a date ; and yet "April 3rd, 1650," appears again with Powel's verses in the fifth edition in 1676, and surely would have been corrected had it been an error of the printer.]

John Poynter (parochial curate of Maer) 1632-1710
Poynter, born on 25 Feb 1631.2 and christened on 2 Mar 1631.2 at Wootton Wawen, Warwicks was 1st son of John Poynter B.A. (canon of Oxford Christ Church) c1600-1684 and Rebecca Harris dau of Robert Harris D.D. (president of Trinity College, Oxford) 1581-1658 [ODNB]. In 1632 his father was lecturer at Wootton Wawen. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 11 May 1663 when he was appointed as parochial curate of Maer and subscribed to the Act of Uniformity. Here he probably resigned before 2 Jul 1663 when after presentation by Robert Burden gentleman he was instituted rector of Alkerton, Oxon. Still in office he died, aged 78, on 24 Dec 1710 and was buried here. Poynter married about 1664 to Elizabeth Hobel (1644-1709) daughter of John Hobel of London merchant and Elizabeth (Webb) by whom he had 2 sons and 2 daughters.

John Poynter M.A. (rector of Slapton, Northants) 1668-1754 [ODNB] was his older son and Malachias Poynter M.A. (rector of Alkerton, Oxon) 1673-1720 was his younger son and his successor at Alkerton. His daughter Elizabeth was the wife of John Haynes (rector of Catstock, Dorset). In his will Poynter's father bequeathed John property in Keresley, Warwicks which appears to have passed to his son John.

POYNTER, JOHN. Canon of Christ Church, Oxford. 1660. Preached for Peter French at Whitehall, on whose death, 17 June 1655, 'without any seeking for it, Cromwel gave him the Cannon's Place that was vacant by the Doctor's Death, but not without making him promise that he would take as much Pains in the Ministry, as he had done at Huntingdon; which Promise he fulfill'd, by Preaching once in six Weeks in the College, and every Lord's Day at St. Thomas's Church gratis. He kept his Turn also at St. Mary's, and in four Towns in the Country. ... He never preach'd after he was ejected; but visited the Sick whom he was officious to serve.' Resigned canonry, succeeded by John Dolben 27 July 1660. (Kennett, 213: Cal. 70, 102.) School, Coventry. Brasenose, Oxf., mc. 28 March 1617, age 17, arm .: B.A. 1618. On leaving Oxford boarded with John Dod at Canons Ashby, Northants., with whose son Timothy (q.v.) he went to Leiden for a year. Ord. dc., London, pr., Lichfield, 18 Dec. 1625 (Wood, v. i. 379). Lecturer at St. Mildred's, Bread Street, London, for two years. Removed to Hanwell, Oxon. Lecturer at Wootton Wawen, Warws., 1630-1. Removed to Hornton, Oxon., and a year later, with his wife and 3 children, to Warwick. On the advice of 'his father', Dr. Harris, applied to the Mercers' Company, who appointed him lecturer at Huntingdon, where he remained for 11 years, till the War forced him to remove to London. Did not take the Covenant. V.of Bures St. Mary, Suff., 4 April 1646 (Add. MS. 15670. 58). R. of Houghton Conquest, Beds., 13 Oct. 1654, presented by Cromwell (L. 997. 2. 226: Carlyle, Cromwell, ed. 1869, iii. 436). Assistant to Hertfordshire Commission, 1654. After ejection lived in New Inn Hall Lane, Oxford. Died 2 Jan. 1683-4, buried at St. Peter le Bailey. Will, as J. [son] John Poynter (John Pointer 1668-1754) Born at Alkerton, Oxfordshire, on 19 May 1668, he was son of John Pointer, rector there from 1663 till his death in 1710, and Elizabeth (d. 1709), daughter of John Hobel, a London merchant. He was educated at Banbury grammar school, and then at Preston Deanery school, Northamptonshire. He matriculated at Merton College, Oxford, on 24 January 1687, graduating B.A. 1691, and M.A. 1694. Pointer took holy orders, being ordained deacon on 24 December 1693, and priest on 23 September 1694, and from 1693 until he resigned the office in 1732 he was chaplain to his college. According to Thomas Hearne, Pointer was removed for sodomy. Instituted in September 1694 to the rectory of Slapton, Northamptonshire, Pointer retained the post for life. He was lord of the manor of Keresley in Warwickshire, and in December 1722 he came into other property in the parish. He died on 16 January 1754 in the house of his niece, Mrs. Bradborne of Chesterton in Worfield, Shropshire, and was buried in the chancel of Worfield parish church on 19 January. A tablet was erected to his memory. ... [ODNB] In 1738 Pointer sent Richard Rawlinson a 'Vindication' of his grandfather John Pointer, canon of Christ Church (MS Rawl. J., fol. 4, 224–8), wishing Rawlinson to correct Anthony Wood's aspersions in his planned continuation of Wood's Athenae Oxonienses.

He was nephew of Mr. Preston [Charles Henry Coote 7th Earl of Mountrath had by Mary Preston an illegitimate son Charles Preston b 30 Jul 1761 [see CP IX 361 fn]], a favourite and companion of the Earl of Mountrath, and through his influence obtained the appointment. He is described as "a preacher whose discourses were delivered in a dignified, yet unaffected style, and from their piety and eloquence, were calculated to have the desirable tendency of reclaiming the vicious and strengthening the Christian hearer in his faith." He died September 10th, 1822. The following account of his funeral is taken from Glew's History [p123] and it would appear from it that he was held in high esteem by all his fellow townsmen "The corpse was preceded from the Vicarage by the Beadle, Sergeant-at-Mace, and members of the Corporation, in their robes; six Clergymen, and nearly one hundred of the principal inhabitants, all attired in deep mourning, with silk hatbands and gloves (provided at their own expense.) The coffin, resting on a bier, and covered with a pall, was borne by eight bearers, and supported by six relatives of the deceased. The body was taken into the Church, which was densely crowded on the occasion, and service was read in the most affecting manner, by the Rev. Joseph Harting (Curate). It was then interred underneath the north-east porch. No death in Walsall ever excited more genuine sympathy, not only on account of the virtues of the deceased, but his distressed family. The gentlemen attending the funeral afterwards adjourned into the Chancel, and there most cheerfully subscribed, for the benefit of the bereaved widow and orphans, £340 and upwards, to their everlasting honor, humanity, and benevolence." Stephen Prentis (presbyterian minister of Harlaston) e1622-....
Prentis, born perhaps about 1622, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1651.2 when he was in office as presbyterian minister of Harlaston. No further record has been discovered.

John Presbury M.A. (parochial curate of Newborough) c1599-1667 H97
Presbury, born about 1599, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1616 he was admitted as a sizar at Queen's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1620.1 (M.A., 1624).
On 8 Jun 1623 he was ordained deacon by Lichfield and on 23 May 1624 ordained priest by Peterborough. On 12 Apr 1630 he was a stipendiary curate at East Leake, Notts. For a period about 1634 he was living at Watford, Herts.
On 11 Dec 1638 he was appointed master of Hanbury parish school and stipendiary curate-in-charge of Hanbury as assistant to the pluralist vicar Joseph Leigh c1594-1642. On Leigh's death he might have continued as master and as a stipendiary curate. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he might have continued in office as compliant assistant minister until 25 Jun 1646 when the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him as compliant minister. He was removed about 1651. In early Jun 1660 he may not have been in an office. Perhaps later that year after presentation by the vicar of Hanbury he was licensed parochial curate of Newborough. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Newborough constablewick but was not assessed there. Still in office he died, aged about 68, and was buried on 6 Jun 1667 at Hanbury. Presbury married first in 1632 at London St Dunstan-in-the-West to Ann Burgess by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter. He married second about 1639 to Hannah (d 1641) by whom he had 1 son. He married third about 1643 to Mary (d 1683) by whom he had 1 son and another child perhaps a daughter.

Richard Pretty M.A. (rector of Aldridge) c1611-1682

Pretty was born about 1611 the son of Thomas Pretty of Yardley, Worcs gentleman. He studied at Oxford where on 20 Jun 1628 he matriculated from Oriel College. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 30 Apr 1631 (M.A., 29 Mar 1634). Probably in 1635 he was ordained deacon and on 13 Mar 1635.6 was ordained priest by Lichfield. On 21 Jun 1636 after presentation by the Crown he was instituted vicar of Hampton-in-Arden, Warwicks and on 22 Sep 1636 after presentation by Thomas Fox and George Peirson (likely) on behalf of William Scott of Great Barr gentleman c1584-1644 he was (plurally) instituted rector of Aldridge. From Feb 1643.4 he continued here as a prebsbyterian minister in both parishes but was not allowed to continue as a pluralist and about Dec 1646 resigned Hampton-in-Arden. He continued here at Aldridge and then in Jun 1660 again became vicar of Hampton-in-Arden and rector of Aldridge. On 6 Sep 1660 he was installed as prebendary of Lichfield Bobenhull and subscribed to the Act of Uniformity on 9 Aug 1662. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Aldridge and was assessed on 7 hearths. Still in all his offices he died, aged about 71, and was buried on 16 Mar 1682 at Hampton-in-Arden. His administration was recorded at Lichfield on 30 Mar 1682 . His personalty was valued at £257/14/4. Pretty married first about 1634 to Elizabeth (d 1645) by whom he had a son and daughter who may not have survived infancy. He married second in 1646 to Ann Wythe a widow (d 1684) by whom he had three sons and probably a daughter. His son Gamaliel Pretty 1647-1673 was rector of Mavesyn Ridware.

(gaoled for slandering carpet manufacturers of Kidderminster) 1829-30

(Kidderminster) During the strike a Staffordshire parson came to the fore on the weavers' side. The Rev Humphrey Price, who was born in Kidderminster in 1775, bitterly attacked the intransigence of the employers. For his pains he was tried for sedition at Hereford Assizes. A body of weavers marched 45 miles to support him, but to no avail. He was sentenced to a year in Stafford jail.

The propaganda became more embittered when the Rev. Humphrey Price got involved on behalf of the weavers. Born in Kidderminster, he was parson at Christchurch, Barton-under-Needwood, near Lichfield. Although undoubtedly well intentioned, his verses only exacerbated the situation and served to prolong the dispute. He was to pay a heavy price for his involvement, eventually serving one year in gaol, and his mental state was later called into question. The second of his numerous verses was penned in the guise of a carpet weaver's wife.

Hush thee, my babe! thou wilt not see
Thy mother sink in misery;
Thy father too - all gone his bloom,
And his heart's blood upon the loom

His third poem, A Kidderminster Weaver's Wife's Dream, resulted in a charge of libel against Price by John Broom, descendant of the owner of the first carpet factory, was widely thought to be the owner of the house mentioned in the following verse.

Because he said - now I will build
Myself a spacious house, and gild
It for my daughter, wife or son,
And paint it with vermilion?

John Price B.A. (presbyterian minister of Mavesyn Ridware) e1623-....
Price, born perhaps about 1623 is of unknown parentage. He may have graduated B.A. about 1644. On 6 Oct 1648 (after presentation by ----- Stanley) he was classically ordained as a presbyterian clergyman by the 1st London Classis and approved as presbyterian minister of Mavesyn Ridware rectory. Probably in early 1657 he was sequestered reputedly "not so much for his Affection to the Church and King as for very great Immoralities". Price married perhaps about 1654 to a woman by whom he had 2 daughters. No further record (of him or his family) has been discovered.

Thomas Pyott B.A. (parochial curate of Stowe) c1602-1654
Pyott, born about 1602, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where during Lent 1618.9 he was a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1622.3. On 8 Jun 1623 he was ordained deacon and in Feb 1627 ordained priest (both) by Lichfield. By Mar 1632.3 he was in office as parochial curate of Stowe. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. On 11 Nov 1646 the Committee for plundered ministers granted Pyott an augmentation of £30 to his annual salary of £15. On 25 Sep 1650 the augmentation was increased to £40. Still in office he died, aged about 52, and was buried here in Oct 1654. Pyott married on 20 Oct 1638 at Stafford St Mary to Mary Cliffe by whom he had 1 daughter. His widow may have married on 10 Apr 1656 at Stafford St Mary to Thomas Rushton (?presbyterian minister of Fulford) e1602-.... QV.

(1915) oc. 1632 bur. 9 Oct 1654 Thomas Pyott B.A.? 8 - 8 Pyott. Probably B.A. 1622.3 Trinity College, Cambridge (Venn). Married at Stafford 1638 Mary Cliffe. On 11 Nov 1646 the committee for plundered ministers ordered that a rent of £30 payable out of this impropriate rectory to Mrs Fowler papist, should be paid to Pyott to augment his stipend of £15. This order was confirmed in 1647 and in the following year a further? sum of £3/19/0 was granted to him from the impropriate glebe land of this rectory (Bodl MS 323 p360; 325 p216 279; 327 p483; Compounding p1894). On 25 Sep 1650 the aforesaid committee increased his augmentation from £30 to £40 out of this rectory, but make no reference to the grant of £3/19/0 (SPDI F2 pt ii p300). Walker states that he was sequestered in the time of the Grand Rebellion, but this cannot be correct in view of the augmentations he received, and of the fact that he is stated to be minister here in the winter of 1651.2 (return of that date) and was buried here as minister. [1915 p263-4]

Peter Radnor

(Staffs) Magister Peter de Radenore, the Official of the Bishop of Coventry and Lichfield, and Robert, Chaplain of Pattingham, were summoned to show cause why they had suspended the Church of Claverlegh which is a chapel of the lord of the King, and had sequestered the goods and corn of Peter de Rivallis (Rivaux), the rector of the Church; and they did not appear, and the Sheriff returned they held no lay fee by which they could not be attached. The Bishop was therefore commanded to produce them; and the Bishop neither produced them nor sent a writ. The Bishop was therefore summoned for the Octaves of Michaelmas, and to bring with him the said Peter and Robert. [SHC 1883 92]

Peter-de-Radnor, as King's Clerk and Papal Chaplain, was an ecclesiastical lawyer by profession, in his Orders a subdeacon. Before coming to Lichfield he held two livings and was made Canon of Lichfield and Archdeacon of Salop, Chancellor, Bishop's Official. It may be that he held these preferments to Hugh-de- Patishull. In 1241 a papal indult empowered him to hold the Herefordshire Church of Stotesdon, and a Prebend in the King's Chapel at Bridgnorth. Peter had a most eventful career and was involved in many lawsuits. [? SOURCE]

John Ravensdale (?compliant minister of Cauldon) e1609-.... 1651
Ravensdale, born perhaps about 1609 (? in Staffordshire), is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He is probably the man of this name who was (presumably) ordained deacon and priest before 10 Jun 1639 when after presentation by Francis Mundy he was insituted as vicar of Mackworth, Derbys. Here the parish register records "1642, Mr John Ravendale went away". By 1651 Ravensdale was in office as ?compliant minister of Cauldon parochial chapelry. No further record (of him or his family) has been discovered. Ravensdale sometimes named as Ransdale may have been a member of the family of these names who lived at Cauldon in this period and later.

James Rawlin (vicar of Alton, Staffs) c1586-....

Rawlin, born about 1586, was a son of Thomas Rawlin (vicar of Alton, Staffs) c1539-1610. He was only educated to literate grade. On 18 Dec 1609 (? then of Lincoln diocese) he was ordained deacon by Chester at Chester and probably on 23 Dec 1610 then of Lichfield diocese ordained priest by Chester at Chester. In 1618 he may again have been ordained as priest by Lichfield. On 26 Dec 1610 he had a faculty office grant or dispensation to hold Alton in succession to his father. Then on 29 Dec 1610 after presentation by the Lord Chancellor then Thomas Egerton 1st Viscount Brackley 1540-1617 he was instituted vicar of Alton. He was still in office in 1639 and is probably the man of this name who signed Caverswall parish register shortly after 11 Jun 1643. No further record has been discovered. In 1651.2 William Armett c1609-1667 was in office as compliant minister of Alton. Rawlin may not have married.

George Reeve (?compliant minister of Caverswall) e1615-1665
Reeve, born perhaps about 1615 probably in Staffordshire, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He could have been ordained a deacon about 1640. On 3 Oct 1649 he was in office as ?compliant minister of Caverswall vicarage when the Committee for plundered ministers granted him an augmentation of £12 to his annual salary of £20. He probably resigned here before 8 Aug 1655 when he was appointed ?compliant minister of Donington, Salop where he compounded on 24 Mar 1656.7. On 28 Sep 1660 he was presented at Bridgnorth Assizes "for refusing to read common prayer, but a surety promising on his behalf that he would read the service, no case was found against him". About Sep 1660 he was (to be) displaced in office by the former rector John Chapman c1581-1660. Calamy writes in 1713 "He preached afterwards for some time at Talk-Chappel". [There is no evidence that he conformed in 1662 or later held any office.] On 16 Nov 1665 when he wrote his will Reeve was living at Ewtree in Wolstanton where he probably died, aged about 50, in Dec 1665 but was buried at Audley on 1 Jan 1665.6. His will made on 16 Nov 1665 was proved under Lichfield on 15 Nov 1666. In his will Reeve requests to be buried "in the parish church of Audley neere to my mother" and mentions many Staffordshire kinsmen. His personalty is said to have included “plate and a library worth £30”. Reeve married perhaps about 1645 to Ann (no known children). [NOTE: Two men of his name matriculated at Cambridge in 1640 and 1646 but are not known to have had Staffordshire connections].

(2013) Poole's successor was George Reeve, the ejected minister of Donnington (Salop.), who must have conformed to the restored Church of England and who may have provided the chapel at Talke with its 1663 silver sweetmeat dish, perhaps intended for use as a bread plate or for collecting alms. Evidently a man of some private means as his belongings at death in 1665 included plate and a library worth £30. [VCH XI (2013) p85 Quoting LRO, B/C/11 and SRO, D 3483/1/1]

Humphrey Repton (parochial curate of Norton-in-the-Moors) ?1620-1695 H99
Repton, (? christened on 6 Apr 1620 at Tatenhill), was probably a son of Humphrey Repton of Tatenhill "gentleman". He studied at Cambridge where on 7 Nov 1639 he was admitted as a pensioner at Jesus College but did not graduate. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 22 May 1651 ordained priest by Thomas Fuller (bishop of Ardfert and Aghadoe) 1593–1667 pro Lichfield (probably at London). On 5 Dec 1651 the Committee for plundered ministers appointed him compliant minister of Weston-upon-Trent independent parochial chapelry, where he received augmentations of £30 and £17 to his annual salary of £6/8/8 and may have served until 31 Dec 1658. Likely in 1659 after probable presentation by the rector of Stoke-upon-Trent then John Mainwaring c1605-1692 QV he was appointed compliant minister of Norton-in-the-Moors dependent parochial chapelry and in early Jun 1660 continued here as de facto parochial curate. By An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) he was confirmed in office. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 6/8. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 20 Aug 1662 and was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield on 21 Oct 1663. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Norton-in-the-Moors constablewick but was not assessed there. Still in office he died, aged about 75, about May 1695, and was probably buried there. His will made on 4 Feb 1683.4 was proved under Lichfield on 11 Oct 1695. His personalty was valued at £292/16/2 and included "all bookes in his Library". Repton married about 1650 to Dorothy (d ?1701) by whom he had 3 sons and 4 daughters. John Repton (rector of Stoke-upon-Trent) 1657-1730 was his youngest son and succeded him at Norton-in-the-Moors.

John Reynolds M.D. (presbyterian minister of Wolverhampton) 1632-1683 G35
Reynolds, christened on 14 Feb 1631.2 at Kings Norton, was 1st son of Thomas Reynolds of "Barnbrook End", Kings Norton, Worcs yeoman c1593-1667 and Sybil. He was probably educated at Kings Norton Grammar School under Thomas Hall 1610-1665. He probably studied at Oxford, on 22 Feb 1650.1 matriculated as a student from Pembroke College and graduated B.A. on 14 Feb 1653.4. (His son John was a member of Pembroke College and so he is less likely to be the man of the same name that graduated on 29 Jan 1652.3 from Balliol.) He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by May 1654 when he was in office as presbyterian minister of Whitacre, Warwicks. By 1657 Reynolds was an assistant presbyterian minister at Wolverhampton ?vicarage. After nomination on 12 Nov 1657 by the Trustees for maintenance he was on 11 Feb 1657.8 appointed presbyterian minister of Wolverhampton at an annual salary of £100. He also acted as register. Whilst at Wolverhampton he is said to have been a member of the Worcestershire Association. In Jun 1660 he may have continued in office as de facto ?vicar. About Sep 1660 he voluntarily resigned. In 1662 Thomas Taylor (quaker minister) c1618-1682 [ODNB] published Ignorance and Error reproved: being an answer to some Queries that one John Reynolds wrote to two of the People called Quakers. On 3 May 1663 Reynolds held a conventicle at Walsall with seven inhabitants for which he was later presented at the Stafford Quarter Sessions. Later in the month

(29) he is said to have been preaching at a conventicle when old soldiers and officers were present "a thing he ever did when plots were in agitation". He married at Wolverhampton in 1663 and in 1665 was assessed on 7 hearths at High Green Street. He is said to have been the first pastor of the "Old Meeting House in Wolverhampton". About this time he is said to have remarked to a Wolverhampton apothecary that "the Nonconformists were not so contemptible for Number and Quality as he made them, that most of the people were of their mind, that Cromwel tho an Usurper had kept up England against the Dutch, &c. And that he marvelled that he would be so hot against private Meetings, when at Aston the Dean suffered them at the next door." After the death of his father in 1667 Reynolds returned to his birthplace Kings Norton where he was living in 1669 when he published A discourse upon prodigious abstinence ... About this time he probably wrote a manuscript life of his schoolmaster Thomas Hall (minister of Kings Norton) 1610-1665 entitled "A briefe narrative of the Life and Death of Mr. Thomas Hall, late Pastor of King's Norton in Worcestershire ... published by John Reynolds, late minister of Wolverhampton and sometimes pupil to the aforesaid author". By 1674 he had moved to Stourbridge, Worcs where he is said to have "preach'd in his own House, and many other Places freely". On 24 Jun 1682 John Reynolds was appointed an overseer of the will of Thomas Willesby M.A. (presbyterian minister of Wombourn) 1618-1682 QV. He was admitted as a medical student at Leyden on 4 Aug 1682 and from there graduated M.D. on 10 Aug 1682 with the thesis "De spiritibus animalibus" which was dedicated to Edward Ward 7th Baron Dudley 1631-1701 [CP] and is said to have been published. In Aug 1683 he moved to London. His son John Reynolds later wrote of his father:

> [He] left the Country, and purchas'd a House in the Parish of St. Giles, London, to which there also belong'd a private Meeting-House ... and went there to reside in the Year 83, expecting that he might there Preach with less Danger and Trouble, and procure the most Advantages to his Family, by the practice of Physick; but in about half a years Time it pleased God by a Pleuritick Fever to remove him from his Family. ... A Wife and five Children were deprived ... Upon his Death, Mrs. Reynolds the disconsolate Widow, remov'd into the Country again, where she thro Grief and Trouble brought herself into a Consumption, and quickly follow'd her beloved Huband.

Reynolds died of "a Pleuritic Fever", aged 51, in Dec 1683, at London and was buried at London St Giles in the Fields. His nuncupative will was made on 22 Dec 1683 and proved under PCC on 24 Jan 1683.4. His personalty apparently exceeded £2,000. Richard Serjeant (presbyterian minster of Stone, Worcs) c1622-a1696 was a trustee. Reynolds married on 8 Jul 1663 at Wolverhampton to Elizabeth Hanbury 1647-?1684 dau of Robert Hanbury of Wolverhampton gentleman c1600-1651 by whom he had 3 sons and 3 daughters. John Reynolds (presbyterian minister) 1668-1727 [ODNB] was his oldest son and left a manuscript of memoirs (quoted above). Calamy records in 1727:

> He was a Man of a great Genius; eminent for his Skill in Divinity, Physick, and Law, and other Parts of Knowledge. He was liberal and free in doing Good in every Capacity, to all Persons that came within his Reach. ... and that with his Gifts, and Parts, and Estate, (which was about £150 per An,) besides what came from noble and rich Patients, that made use of him as a Physician. ... In short he was a singular Man. When Endeavours were on Foot for a Comprehension and Indulgence, he was written to for his Judgment, not only by Mr. Baxter, but also by several Members of Parliament ...

Reynolds was the author of: "R.I." An answer to Mr. Humprey's remarks ....[on reordination] (1661) not identified and a pamphlet of 37 pages A discourse upon prodigious abstinence: Occasioned by the twelve moneths fasting of Martha Taylor, the famed Derbyshire damosell: Proving that without any miracle, the texture of humane bodies may be so altered, that life may be long continued without the supplies of meat & drink: with an account of the heart, and how far it is interessed in the business of fermentation ... (1669).

At this time [1669] our Parson Dean Rive got this following advantage against me (As I had it from his own mouth). At Wolverhampton in Staffordshire where he was Dean, were abundant of Papists, and Violent Formalists: Amongst whom was one Brasgirdle an Apothecary, who in Conference with Mr. Reignolds (an able Preacher there silenced and turned out) by his bitter words tempted him into so much indiscretion as to say that "the Nonconformists were not so contemptible for Number and Quality as he made them, that most of the people were of their mind, that Cromwel tho an Usurper had kept up England against the Dutch, &c. And that he marvelled that he would be so hot against private Meetings, when at Aston the Dean suffered them at the next door." With this advantage Brasgirdle writeth all this greatly aggravated to the Dean. The Dean hastens away with it to the King as if it were the discovery of a Treason. Mr. Reignolds is questioned, but the Justices of the Country to whom it was referred, upon hearing of the business found meer imprudence heightened to a Crime, and so released him: ... (1915) (Wolverhampton) The exclusion of the Republican ministers of Wolverhampton after the Restoration can hardly be called an "ejectment." John Reynolds, like his friend Richard Baxter of Kidderminster, was a man of exceptional ability, broadminded and peaceloving. He gracefully surrendered his position to those who claimed it in Nov 1660, being content to preach in the churches of the neighbourhood, when desired, until the Act of Uniformity was enforced. The following note appears in the parish register under 20 January 1661: '"This day ye Register came againe into ye Curates hands haveing bin taken from them since ye beginning of ye rebellion 1642. ..." [SHC 1915 p328] ... "Ministers and Registers" John Reynolds appointed 11 Feb 1657.8 res. Nov 1660 [p332] "Assistant Minister" in office Mar 1656 [p334] ...
91 Reynolds. (Previously Sparry's assistant) Was recommended by the trustees for this post on 12 Nov 1657 (LMS 993 p379) and was formally constituted and appointed thereto on 11 Feb 1657-8, at the same stipend of £100 (ibid. 995 p83, and cf 981, p20; 994 p142; 998 p198). He was the son of John Reynolds of Bournebrook End, and was bapt at Kings Norton 14 Feb 1631-2. ~~He probably graduated from Caius Coll. Cambridge (M.A. 1654)~~ and took his degree in medicine later abroad. He notifies his departure from Wolverhampton in the marriage register (Nov 1660) by the following: "here endeth the exercise of Mr Reynolds"; but he remained in the neighbourhood until Aug 1662, when he returned to his patrimony at Kings Norton. He married, apparently, 8 Jul 1663, Elizabeth, younger dau. to Robert Hanbury of Wolverhampton, gent. (cf SHC v, II 167), and the birth of his daughter Elizabeth (bapt 30 Dec 1665) and of his son John (19 Feb 1667) renewed his association with the town. A sketch of his life is given by Dr Edmund Calamy in his Continuation of the Account of the Ministers .... ejected and silenced (1727), which is quoted in his son's Life (1735). A medical work of his, hitherto unnoticed, which contains several of his views on science and religion, is the Discourse upon . ... the famed Derbyshire Damosell "(London, 1669 reprinted Harl. Misc. iv) . Tradition gives him the credit of being the founder of Nonconformity in Wolverhampton. His name is jotted down in the Register Book of the Old Meeting House (No 72, Stafford, in Somerset House) as the congregation's first pastor; and in the controversy of 1818 he is again referred to (Congreg. Magazine, I, 275) as "the father of this congregation of Dissenters." He died in London Dec 1683. [SHC 1915 p347-8]

Taylor (D.N.B.) in Ignorance and error reproved (1662). Presented at Quarter Sessions, 1663, with 7 inhabitants of Walsall, for holding a conventicle there 3 May 1663 (Sessions Records, Stafford). Indirectly responsible, 1669, for getting Baxter into trouble by remarking in an altercation with Ric. Bracegirdle, an apothecary of Wolverhampton, that 'the Nonconformists were not so contemptible for Number and Quality as he made them, that most of the people were of their mind, that Cromwel tho an Usurper had kept up England against the Dutch, &c. And that he marvelled that he would be so hot against private Meetings, when at Acton the Dean suffered them at the next door.' Bracegirdle reported this to Bruno Ryves, who was both Dean of Wolverhampton and R. of Acton, Middx., who in his turn reported it to the King with the result that Baxter was sent to prison: Reynolds was examined by the local justices, but dismissed (R.B. iii. 48: Wolverhampton Antiquary, i. 394 ff.). Living at Stourbridge, Worcs., in 1674 (see 4 letters of his to Baxter in D.W.L. Baxter Lrs.). [ODNB] Reynolds, John (1668–1727), Presbyterian minister, born at Wolverhampton, Staffordshire, on 19 February 1668, was eldest of five children of John Reynolds (bap. 1632, d. 1683), who was ejected from his Wolverhampton ministry in 1660, and his wife, Elizabeth Hanbury. His father, a friend of Richard Baxter, was skilled in law and physic as well as divinity, and had taken the degree of MD. Reynolds was educated at the free school of Stourbridge, where the family mainly lived from 1661 to 1683, when they moved to a house in the parish of St Giles-in-the-Fields, London. His father, died intestate in December 1683, but Reynolds equitably shared the property with his four siblings.

Thomas Reynolds B.A. (parochial curate of Gnosall) c1633-1674 H100
Reynolds, born about 1633, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Oxford where on 9 Nov 1650 he was a student at Balliol College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 19 Jan 1653.4. When Reynolds married at Haughton on 6 Apr 1659 he was styled "Clercke" and was then presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman. He may then have been in office as presbyterian minister of Gnosall and in Jun 1660 may have continued as de facto parochial curate. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0 for Gnosall. On 12 Jul 1662 he subscribed to the Act of uniformity and on (the next day) 13 Jul was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Gnosall, Knightley and Moreton & Wilbrighton constablewicks which all lay within the parish of Gnosall. At Gnosall township he was assessed on 2 hearths. Still in office he died, aged about 41, and was buried here on 10 Apr 1674. His will made on 12 Mar 1673.4 was proved under Lichfield on 6 May 1674. His personalty was valued at £45/16/0 and included a number of books valued at £8/8/0: "The 2 first Tomes of Pooles Synopsis £3; Scapula's Lexicon 15/0; Fla??ius illyrirus ?chanis Scriptura 15/0; Carthusianus upon Job etc 5/0; Sir Walter Rowley's history upon the world £1; Cotton's Concordance 5/0; Erasmus paraphrase upon St Pauls Epistles 3/0; Bullinger & Ursinus 5/0; His Bible & Common=prayer=booke and other small bookes £2". Reynolds married on 6 Apr 1659 at Haughton to Margaret Fletcher (d ?1697) dau of Thomas Fletcher B.A. (rector of Haughton) c1594-1684 QV by whom he had 1 son and 1 daughter.

(as Impropriator of the tithes of Church Broughton, Derbys, surrendered them to the patron Richard Bate of Foston on condition all future vicars were presented to the Bishop for presentation) 1702 [COX III 83] school-house was erected, at the expense of the Earl of Macclesfield, in the beginning of the last century, for a free grammar school, but it has no endowment, except from a benefaction by the Rev. George Roades, who, in 1712, bequeathed property which was invested in the three per cents., and produces £9. 13. 10.per annum, which sum is paid to the master for teaching English to six poor boys of this parish. Eight almshouses for single women not under sixty years of age were founded and endowed by Elizabeth Ash, in 1676, with a rent-charge of £40 per annum. Additional benefactions to this charity make the total income £78. 3. 6. per annum.

One of the 1777 chalices is inscribed as the gift of George Roades, rector of Blithfield, in memory of his father George, vicar of Leek; the younger George, however, died in 1713: S.H.C. 1919, 122.

George Roades B.A. (vicar of Leek) c1627-1695 H101
Roades, born about 1627, was a son of John Roades of Leek "gentleman" c1597-.... He studied at Cambridge where on 21 Jun 1645 he was admitted as a sizar at Clare Hall and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1648.9. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 1649 when he was appointed presbyterian minister of Repton parochial chapelry, Derbys. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto parochial curate. He was presumably ordained deacon and on 27 Oct 1661 ordained priest by Chester. That year after probable presentation by the vicar of Leek (then ? Thomas Whinnell c1600-?1662 QV) he was licensed parochial curate of Rushton. He was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield on 16 Jul 1662 and still in office on 1 Sep 1662 but had been succeded by 1664. By 25 Jan 1661.2 he may have been in charge at Leek when as "vicar" he is said have paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. On 12 Aug 1662 after presentation by Thomas Rudyard of Rudyard in Leek esquire c1628-1696 he was, jointly, instituted vicar of Leek and on the same day subscribed to the Act of uniformity. In 1665 the vicarage was valued at £12. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Bradnop, Horton and Leek constablewicks and was assessed on 4 hearths at Leek township. Still in office he died, aged about 68, shortly before 17 Jun 1695 with burial perhaps as requested in the chancel at Leek. His will made on 14 Mar 1691.2 was proved under Lichfield on 24 Jun 1695. His personalty (which included "In bonds bill and other securities for money some whereof being deperate £600") was valued at £735/15/2 and included (in the kitchen) "Three old Bookes 2/0" and (a separate item) "His books new and old £15". In his will he bequeathed to Michael Ward (rector of Leigh) 1681-1744 (son of his daughter Hannah) £100 "£20 yearly for five years maintaining of him at the University" and all his books. Roades married first about 1649 to Dorothy by whom he had ?3 sons and 3 daughters. He married second on 11 Oct 1688 at Leek to Ann Malkin (d 1697) (no known children). In 1664 some Leek parishioners complained to John Hacket (bishop of Lichfield, 1661/70) of "nonconformity and disorder" in the conduct of Roades. In a letter to Hacket, dated 14 Mar 1663.4, Roades made a detailed defence of his various practices which appears to have settled the matter. George Rhodes (rector of Blithfield) 1652-1713 was his first son and Josiah Roades (vicar of Alstonfield) 1656-1684 his second son. Roades qua vicar of Leek was patron of the parochial chapelries of Cheddleton (where he had probably presented John Fletcher QV about 1665), Horton (where he had probably presented Thomas Meakin QV about 1663), Ipstones (where he had probably presented Richard Goulden QV about 1665), Meerbrook, [? Onecote] and Rushton (where he had probably presented John Kelsall 1637-1687 QV in 1664 or 1665 and Thomas Meakin QV about 1671).

(1970) Particularly in areas of the country where the church's influence was already tenuous, the misdemeanors of a resident incumbent could go unpunished so long as he made earnest efforts to reclaim the lost sheep. In 1664, for example, certain inhabitants of the vast north Staffordshire parish of Leek complained of "nonconformity and disorder" in the conduct of their vicar, George Roades. Replying to Bishop John Hacket, Roades denied the charges, protesting that he had "publickly and chearefully" assented to the Act of Uniformity. He went on to refute specific accusations, confidently if not wholly convincingly. "My usual practice is to read the first and second service, the lessons, the Epistle and Gospel appointed for the day. . . . [T]hough not every Sunday Yet I dare say I have not omitted the - "Devon R. O., Moger PR 519, Plymstocke (1671), (1) Thomas Carew to Lord Bishop, 11 January 1670/1. Carew was able to muster only four signatures on his own petition to the bishop. Moger PR 519, Plymstocke (2) 16 January 1670 [1], (3) Carew to Cooke, 18 January 1670/1. Ibid., (3). In this somewhat desperate letter to the diocesan registrar, Carew enclosed a "small token of my love." ... Letany 3 Sundayes these twelve Months." As to his alleged offense of administering the sacrament to some who received it sitting, he stated only that "this is more then I know and I am as like to know it, if so, as another." Roades emphasized that he had been diligent in seeking out alienated members of the parish. As a result, he claimed, "very many have Come to the Book of Common Prayer early and Constandy after so many yeares declaring against it and turning their backes upon it." In the end, Roades seems to have depended upon the bishop to excuse his lapses in conformity. He did continue in the parish until 1698 which might be seen as a sort of punishment in itself - but he escaped any action to suspend or deprive him. On reflection, Bishop Hacket was probably thankful to have a dedicated pastor in such a remote setting, where Quakers formed a considerable presence. Moreover, Hacket was tolerant of mild departures from conformity within the church. When he was criticized for permitting the congregation in Lichfield cathedral to sing a psalm instead of listening to a choral anthem, he responded that the establishment "must gain souls to Christ by all means that are lawful. Too much rigidness brought our late confusions upon us." Thus to discipline the Anglican clergy leniently was to lessen the risk of alienating their wavering parishioners from the church. Even the more ambitious goal of "reducing" nonconformists to parish worship was possible, though it might not be shared at the local level. This conclusion is suggested by the career of Charles Sumptner, Roades to[John Hacket], Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry, 14 March 1663/4. Bodleian Library, Tanner MS. 131, fo. 9 Roades aid he would welcome an episcopal visitation "into our barren parts," in the hope that his congregation "might heare and see that some Reverend Fathers of the Church did owne and conferme what I did preache and practice." Hacket is an interesting example of a bishop who was willing to conciliate "tender consciences" while treating all other dissenters with suspicion. In 1660-62, he had tried unsuccessfully to win several Puritan ministers to conformity before depriving them. On the other hand, he recommended sending spies into the congregations of partial conformists among the clergy (J. J. Hurwich, "Nonconformists in Warwickshire, 1660-1720," (Ph.D. diss., Princeton University, 1970); Spurr, Restoration Church, 189.

Nicholas Richardson (parochial curate of Newcastle) c1579-1646
Richardson, born about 1579, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained deacon (? and priest) before 1610 when (? after appointment by Newcastle corporation) he was probably in office as parochial curate of Newcastle. Here it is said he received a salary of £16 pa from the tithes. In 1615 Newcastle corporation agreed to pay him additional wages of £4 pa paid quarterly. On 3 Oct 1618 these wages had not been paid for one year and it was reported "manie other inhabitants of this borough either denied ye payment of his wages as formerlie it had beene paide or at leaste grudged theirat". The corporation ordered him to be paid what was owed. In Mar 1623 the corporation granted him a lease of a tenenement for 51 years at a yearly rent of 2/0 "provided he did not assign the tenancy to anyone except a burgess or his own wife and children". In 1624 payment of his wages was again suspended "until the reverend gentleman had cleared himself about certain abuses which he had attempted against the mayor and the rest of the town concerning the government of the corporation". By the next year he had evidently cleared himself and was again paid what was owed. He probably continued to receive his wages until his death. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Still in office he died, aged about 57, and was buried here on 18 Jul 1646. Richardson married perhaps about 1609 to Ann (d 1633) by whom he had 1 son and 2 daughters. [NB: Nicholas Richardson M.A. (rector of Slimbridge, Glos) c1595-1644 was a contemporary clergyman.]

(3 Oct 1618) Assembly in the Gildhall 3 October 1618. John Shawe, Mayor. One bailiff; capital burgesses: four aldermen and sixteen others. Whearas it was made known at ye assemblye aforesaide that ye towne was behinde with Mr Richardson our minister a whole yeares wages which ys iuste £4 and yt diuers of the saide Companie and manie other inhabitants of this borough either denied ye payment of his wages as formerlie it had beene paide or at leaste grudged theirat, It was theirfore ordered at ye assemblie aforesaide yt Mr Richardson shoulde bee paide by the Belman of this Borowgh the saide £4 alreadie due and also the saide Belman to pay quarterlie vnto ye saide Mr Richard son 20/- which ys £4 per annum. Fol. 37. [T. Pape Newcastle-under-Lyme in Tudor and early Stuart times Manchester University Press (1938) p255]

(1931) In 1615 the corporation agreed that Mr. Richardson, our Minister, shall have £4 paid each quarter, to be gathered by the churchwardens, and four men were chosen as assessors for levying the money. Mr. Nicholas Richardson was buried on 18 July, 1646. During Mr. Richardson's ministry it was enacted that the resident aldermen, the bailiffs and the town clerk should every sabbath both morning and evening come to the mayor's house and attend him to church & after service should also attend him back to his house, and for every default one shilling fine. Also in 1626 it was agreed that forms should be made for such as wanted seats in the church to sit upon & that the churchwardens should arrange where they were to be. Other enactments during this period provided that certain men would be admitted to their burgess rights on condition that they maintained the windows in the church, the schoolhouse and the steeple, or kept the bells supplied with ropes for five years. The communion cups were to be locked up and kept by the Mayor, and the Mayor and Churchwardens' consent had to be obtained before any person could be buried within the church. Regulations also were made about ringing the bells and forty marks were expended on new frames. The common warder was to clean the church gutters and whip dogs out of church. [Newcastle printed PR (1931) piii]
(1938) Between 1604 and 1615 we have no record of the minister of St. Giles unless the baptismal entry of Sara daughter of Nicholas Richardson in 1610 is a reference to the minister first mentioned in the borough minutes on 30 November 1615. Then it is recorded: "that Mr. Richardson our Minister shall have yearly £4 to be paid him quarterly and to be gathered by the churchwardens". This sum was £6/13/4 less than the town contribution to the salary of the Rev. Mr. Storer in 1601 and 1602. Perhaps the borough receiver's objection to the payment being made from any of the town revenues had proved effective. Certainly in the years 1601 and 1602 the town contribution to the minister's salary was to be paid only partly from the borough funds, the rest was to be paid from the bellman's office. Now in 1615 the churchwardens were made responsible for collecting the smaller sum of £4 per annum, which, no doubt, was in addition to £16 from the tithes. On 1 October 1616 four assessors were appointed to levy the quarterly payment. Two years later it is recorded in the corporation minutes that Mr. Richardson's salary of £4 for the last year has not been paid because some of the inhabitants denied the legality of the levy or "at leaste grudged theirat "; so the bellman was ordered to pay the minister 20/- each quarter. Then in March 1623 Mr. Richardson was granted by the corporation a lease of a tenement for fifty-one years at a yearly rent of 2/0 provided he did not assign the tenancy to anyone except a burgess or his own wife and children. Besides Sara, baptized in 1610, Mary daughter of Nicholas Richardson was baptized on 14 April 1616. In 1624 there was further trouble about the minister's salary, for on 3 May the capital burgesses agreed that the money expected by Mr. Richardson from the town which for some years had been paid as a gratuity should be stopped until the reverend gentleman had cleared himself about certain abuses which he had attempted against the mayor and the rest of the town concerning the government of the corporation. Evidently Mr. Richardson made his peace with the corporation, for on 19 November 1625 he was to receive from the town £4 yearly and to be paid all arrears. As the only other reference in the borough minutes to the minister's salary occurs twelve years later, when the sum of £4 is incidentally mentioned in connection with the bellman's duties, no doubt the Rev. Nicholas Richardson enjoyed this addition to his salary down to his death in 1646. [T. Pape Newcastle-under-Lyme in Tudor and early Stuart times Manchester University Press (1938) p117-8]

William Moore Richardson,

vicar of Ponteland, in the Diocese of Newcastle, is an Oxford graduate who had successively held the posts of Curate of Christ Church, Wolverhampton, Chaplain of All Saints Convalescent Home, Eastbourne, second master ot Bloxnam, Curate of Dorchester (Oxon), and vicar of Wolvercote. He accepted the Diocese of Zanzibar, saying he could at least be a stepping-stone. Spending little time in farewells, he hurried out to his diocese, and came in sight of Christ Church tower on August 3Oth. If he had Thenew few farewells, he had hundreds of greetings, for ??zM?
the Archdeacon of Zanzibar and the Rev. J. P. ^s- 301 *- Farler, who was paying a visit to old scenes, came on board with the English Consul. Christ Church bells were chiming for joy, and all the Mission seemed to be swarming on the beach. Suddenly a voice in the dusk said that the Bishop would go straight to the Cathedral before entering any house. The choir was scattered here and there, but by desperate efforts they were collected, and then the Bishop walked to the Cathedral, followed by hun dreds of people from Mbweni, Kiungani, etc. Solemn

----- ?Ridwater (?presbyterian minister of Biddulph) e1621-.... B36
----- Ridwater, born perhaps about 1621, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably ordained as a presbyterian clergyman in or before 1660 when he was probably appointed ?presbyterian minister of Biddulph vicarage. In Jun 1660 he likely continued in office as de facto vicar and was in office on 28 Feb 1660.1. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to The act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. A successor William Armett c1609-1667 was instituted on 14 Jan 1662.3. Ridwater's surname is uncertain - it might have been Rideway.

The Rev. Edward Roberts, who had been the curate of St Peter's for seven years under Mr Garbett, became vicar in 1858, and remained in the same church for a remarkable forty one years. His memorial is at the northwest corner of the church. In 1883 he gave the window in the south transept in memory of his mother; it shows the Good Shepherd, the foot-washing, and the Samaritan woman at the well. His wife was the schoolmistress and proprietor of the Vicarage Preparatory school, and after her death in 1890 one hundred and eighty of her former pupils subscribed to erect in her memory the lych-gate facing St Peter's Road. In the 1820s the cure was served for the absentee curate by James Roberts, the curate of Quarnford. He lived at Flash and was unable to visit Longnor as often as he would have liked. Pastoral care suffered, and in 1825 he complained that "Longnor has been like a furnace of affliction to me", mainly because of the activities of Methodists. [VCH] (Longnor) The financial arrangements of 1733 were made to secure a resident curate, and Robert Robinson was appointed in 1735. By 1751 Robinson was also the incumbent of Sheen and lived on his estate at Waterfall. He had resigned Sheen by 1760 but continued as curate of Longnor until 1768.

(Sheen) In 1751 Robert Robinson also served Longnor chapel in Alstonefield, officiating at one place at 10 a.m. and the other at 1.30 p.m. He left catechizing to the Schoolmaster except in preparation for confirmation. At certain times he preached on catechismal subjects, a practice which "in a country congregation I take to be the best way of instructing young and old". Communion was celebrated four times a year, but only c. 20 people attended on each occasion. [VCH (Sheen)] Josiah Rock (presbyterian minister of Rowley Regis) e1620-....

Rock, born perhaps about 1620, is of unknown parentage. He is said to have studied at Cambridge but is not known to have matriculated. Perhaps about 1640 he left university to travel overseas but failed to embark and returning to Cambridge stopped at Ashbourne, Derbys. Here he settled and became a schoolmaster. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by about Jan 1651.2 when he was in office as presbyterian assistant minister-in-charge of Enville rectory. On 24 Mar 1654.5 perhaps already in office as presbyterian minister he was appointed parish register of Rowley Regis dependent parochial chapelry. In 1655 he may have received an augmentation of £10 to his salary. Still at Rowley in late 1656 he was a member of the Worcestershire Association.
On 10 Sep 1656 he was admitted as presbyterian minister of Saundby rectory, Notts. On 11 Jan 1660.1 he was presented at East Retford quarter sessions for not reading the common prayer. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. Thereafter he may have worked again as a schoolmaster. By 1667 he had moved to Bole (adjacent to Saundby) and in May 1672 he was licensed as a presbyterian teacher at his house there which was then licensed as a presbyterian meeting-place. No further record has been discovered. However one Maria Rocke (perhaps his wife) was buried on 30 Dec 1683 at Saundby. Rock married perhaps about 1645 to a woman (? Mary d 1683) by whom he may have had 8 children (perhaps 4 boys and 4 girls). Henry Sampson presbyterian minister c1629-1700 reported a story that Rock, when an undergraduate at Cambridge, started to go on a sea voyage, the ship sailed without him and he had only 18d. wherewith to get back to Cambridge. He arrived at Ashbourne where an innkeeper got him to give some writing lessons to his daughter, with the result that he set up as a schoolmaster there and remained till he had a wife and six children. Calamy records in 1713: [Rock was] A good Man, and a painful profitable Preacher. After his Ejectment he taught School privately: But some Time before his Death, he got into a Priviledg'd Place in the Gift (I think) of esquire Disney, where he preach'd publickly without Conforming. [NOTE: At Rowley, Rock had a contemporary of the same name - Josiah Rock of Rowley Regis nailer c1626-1694. Perhaps Rock was himself from that area.]

William Rock (?presbyterian minister of Mayfield) 1620-1694 G37
Rock, christened on 5 Nov 1620 at Shrewsbury St Chad, was 2nd and posthumous son of Thomas Rock of Frankwell in Shrewsbury glover c1572-1620 and Gwen (?Blake). He was educated at Shrewsbury under Mr Chaloner. He studied at Cambridge where on 9 Apr 1640 he was admitted as a sizar at St John's College and matriculated that year but is not known to have graduated. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 1648 when, apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Shropshire testimony of 1648 as "William Rock Minister of Aston". By the winter of 1651.2 he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Mayfield vicarage. Here in 1656 and 1659 he received an augmentation of £18 to his annual salary. In Jun 1660 he continued in office as de facto vicar. In Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of 10/0. On 24 Aug 1662 he did not subscribe to the Act of uniformity and was thus to be deprived. In 1665 "Mr Rocke" was assessed on 3 hearths at Church Mayfield in Mayfield. The Common Fund survey of dissenting ministers taken about 1690 has under Staffordshire the entry "Ministers that have a Competent Supply - Mr Rock - [ejected Minister] Of Mayfield ~~all these~~ yet has £30 [allowance]. Rock died, aged 74, at Uttoxeter where he was buried on 27 Dec 1694. His will made on 22 Dec 1694 was proved under Lichfield on 18 Apr 1695. His personalty was valued at £59/7/8 and included "Item Books in his Closett £6/5/6". Rock married on 24 Jul 1651 at Tamworth to Mary Boyes (d ?1697) by whom he had 1 son and 2 daughters. In his will made on 11 Jan 1655.6 Thomas Blake (compliant minister of Tamworth) c1596-1657 bequeathed "to my nephew Mr William Rocke now minister of Mathfield my Junius and Tremelius Bible togther with anie of the ... booke or curmans works that he shall chose out of my studie ...". Samuel Beresford (presbyterian assistant minister of Tamworth) 1629-1697 who was also mentioned in Blake's will and also appointed a trustee in Rock's will was apparently his maternal cousin. Calamy records in 1702 "Mr. Joseph[sic] Rock. A very Calm, Humble, Sober, Peaceable, Godly and Blameless Minister, and of very good Abilities."

(Bakewell) A petition, dated 26 Dec 1614, to the Dean and Chapter from the Churchwardens and inhabitants of Bakewell, claimed that John Rowlandson had the support of Sir George Manners and that the late vicar upon his death bed desired him "to build upon his foundation". In a letter of 9 Jan 1615 the Dean of Lichfield noted the petition in John Rowlandson's favour and also recommended him writing "We can have but a laborious and Godly and painful pastor in the place, and therefore, I pray you, let him taste of our lawful favour'. [DAJ 1984 39]

According to Bagshaw he was an official of the peculiar and used his office to protect Charles Broxholme, the nonconformist curate of Buxton. However, on 11 May 1637 Edward Latham LLB was appointed Official of the Peak Peculiar by the Dean and Chapter. [DAJ 1984 39]

"sequestered by the Westminster assembly to the vicarage of Battle, Sussex, 1644, he left it shortly after and "returned to his benefice from whence he was before, thence driven by the forces raised against the parliament". [FOSTER, who states this might refer to the son]

(Bakewell) ... on 22 Apr 1648 the CPM ordered a grant of £50 pa to him and appointed him as assistant to his father "in regard of the greatness of the said charge which the said Mr. Rowlandson now cannot in regard to the infirmities of old age as formerly undergone without an assistant". Francis Rowley B.A. (parochial curate of Codsall) ?1625-1667 H102
Rowley, (? christened on 29 Sep 1625 at Astley Abbotts), was probably son of Francis Rowley of Astley Abbotts, Salop yeoman. He studied at Cambridge where on 23 Apr 1641 he was admitted as a sizar at Pembroke College and matriculated in 1642. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1646.7. On 13 Jul 1649 Francis Rowley of Astley Abbotts named a son "Francis Rowley clarke" in his will. Rowley (junior) may have been presbyterian lay reader of Chapel Chorlton in 1651.2. In Jul 1662 he was ordained deacon and priest by Lichfield. On 30 Oct 1662 he was appointed reader (and probably licensed parochial curate) of Codsall. In 1665, as "curate", he certified the hearth tax for Codsall and Oaken constablewicks but was not assessed there. Still in office he died, aged about 42, and was buried here on 6 Oct 1667. Rowley married about 1664 to a woman by whom he had 1 son. Francis Rowley (vicar of Eccleshall) c1576-.... may be a kinsman.

Nathaniel Royle M.A. (rector of Mucklestone) c1587-1656
Royle, born about 1587 at Walton-upon-Trent, Derbys, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Cambridge where at Easter 1604 he was a sizar at Trinity College and matriculated but later migrated to Clare Hall. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1607.8 (M.A., 1613). On 3 Jun 1610 he was ordained deacon by London. He was presumably ordained priest before 30 May 1613 when he was "appointed" (?instituted) vicar of Madeley. Here he probably resigned before 29 May 1635 when after presentation by Sir John Offley of Madeley knight c1587-1645 he was instituted rector of Mucklestone. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Still in office he died, aged about 69, on 31 Jan 1655.6 and was buried here on 1 Feb. Royle married on 21 Sep 1613 at Nottingham St Peter to Rebecca Salkeld (d 1651) by whom he had 3 sons and 1 daughter.

Thomas Rushton (?presbyterian minister of Fulford) e1602-....
Rushton, born perhaps about 1602, is of unkown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by 10 Apr 1656 when he was in office as ?presbyterian minister of Fulford. Rushton married on 10 Apr 1656 at Stafford St Mary to Mary (? Mary Cliffe widow of Thomas Pyott (parochial curate of Stowe) c1602-1654 QV) (no known children). He had been replaced in office by 26 Sep 1662. ~~No further record has been discovered.~~

He is remembered in the village as the last of the old-style vicars and a strict disciplinarian. Girls were expected to curtsey and boys to bow or touch their cap when he or his wife passed. Sunday school was held twice each Sunday in the present school building, and every child was expected to attend and to learn the Collect for the day. His daughter, Gladys, used to play the organ while village lads pumped. [SHARESHILL HISTORY W.I.]

He was thus enabled to deploy the same skills and vigour in a larger diocese rapidly being transformed by urbanization and industrialization. He organized a diocesan church building society, and in 1832 was able to announce that seats for an additional 36,000 people were being provided in new and enlarged church buildings and that significant improvements were also being made in the provision for education. The last Abbot of Hayles was Stephen Sagar, also called Whalley, because he was educated as a monk of that abbey. He was made King's chaplain in 1537, and obtained a pension of £100 and the use of Coscombe House for his lifetime after the surrender of the Abbey to the King's Commissioners in December, 1539. He was buried with his brother in Warmfield Church, near Halifax, and the following inscription was placed over their grave : — " We be two brothers, I pray you let us rest, Stephen Sagar, some time Abbot of Hayles, and Otho Sagar, vicar of this parish." [NOTE Otto Sagar was a secular chaplain and B.Canon.L., Oxford 21 Jul 1522]

John Sammon (?presbyterian minister of Abbots Bromley) e1616-....
Sammon, born perhaps about 1616, is of unknown parentage. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman by about 10 Dec 1646 when he was appointed by the Committee for plundered ministers after approval by the Westminster assembly as ?presbyterian minister of Abbots Bromley. Here he received an augmentation of £50 to his annual salary of £26/13/0. A successor William Beeby c1619-.... was in office about Mar 1649. No further record has been discovered.

(1915) 5 Sammon or Samon. Probably B.A. 1641 Glos Hall, Oxford If so, son of John Samon of Badsey, Worcs priest (Foster). Described as a godly and orthodox divine, when the committee for plundered ministers sequestered this vicarage to his use on 10 Dec 1646 and referred him for approval to the Westminster assembly of divines, which was duly given. (BodlMS 324 p137, 163, 396) On 4 Nov 1646 the committee ordered the salary (£26/13/0) of the minister here when appointed to be increased [augmented by £50] by the following rents, reserved to the dean and chapter of Lichfield from the following impropriate rectories, viz. £16 from Longdon rectory, £4/13/4 from Dilhorne rectory, £6/13/4 from this rectory and £22/13/4 from Brewood tithes. "The History and Antiquities of Shenstone, in the County of Stafford, illustrated. Together with the Pedigrees of all the Families and Gentry, both Antient and Modern, of that Parish. By the late Rev. Henry Sanders B.A. of Oriel College, Oxford, and Thirteen Years Curate of Shenstone," 4to. " The Village of Shenstone, situate in a pleasant part of the County of Stafford, rtnd by all Travellers admired as a beautiful and well-watered spot, has furnished copious materials for a description by the esteem and affection borne to its inhabitants by their faithful Pastor; whose Son has done ample justice to his memory in his account of him prefixed, and to the attachment of his Parishioners by a feeling Dedication to them. It is believed there were more posthumous works than the present, which would have been serviceable to the Publick if transmitted to the press; but, as he had bequeathed one to a noble Lord, in hopes that he would have condescended to have published it, there were together with it carried away very many manuscripts, which, we fear, are removed beyond the reach of recovery." Mr. Sanders was, maternally, fourth in descent from a refugee family in Lorrain. His father has long been known and respected in the Counties of Worcester and Stafford. Henry Sanders, of Stourbridge, who married a daughter of Thomas Rogers, an eminent dealer in glass at Stourbridge, had four sons and two daughters. Of these, Thomas, the eldest, was a very learned and ingenious Surgeon and Apothecary, much esteemed by the celebrated George Lord Lyttelton, as also by a very populous neighbourhood, for his great success in inoculation, his personal character, and his ability in his profession. Sarah, wife of William Grosvenor, of Kidderminster, Apothecary; Henry, Anne, Susannah, Daniel, and John. As their father died during the minority of the younger children, they came under the care of their brother Thomas, who disposed of each as circumstances and opportunities served. Henry seemed to be rather inoie favoured than his brothers Daniel and John, being, by education, good abilities, and the particular notice of the family of Rogers, well fitted for a somewhat superior rank in life. Though designed for the cloathing; business, his genius and inclination led him to the study of medicine. He was a noted and valuable Apothecary and Chemist at Dudley in Worcestershire, and was the inventor of a very useful medical composition, which, in that part of the world, is exceedingly admired, and for which receipt a considerable premium was offered by a learned Physician. This Henry married Miss Rebecca Hawkes, of a respectable family, the descendants of whose brother live in great credit, and one, if not two of them, in opulence at Dudley. Henry Sanders had by his wife Rebecca, eleven children living at one time, and at least nine at his decease; the eldest of whom was Henry, Author of the " History of Shenstone." Their father, with all his care and industiy, was unable to provide them any pecuniary advantages worth mentioning, having barely a competency to support himself and daughters in the decline of life. A circumstance particularly favourable, however, attended his three eldest sons, the benefit of a grammar-school, which was highly blessed with two succeeding Masters the former a relation, the Rev. Pynson Wilmott, M. A. afterwards vicar of Hales-Owen, Salop and the latter the Rev. Benjamin Clements, B.A.; afterwards prebendary of the Collegiate Church, Minister of St. John's, and Head Master of the Grammar-school, in Wolverhampton. Henry, having attained an excellent classical education, was well qualified for either of the three learned professions, and the clerical suited more the disposition of his mind while his two brothers decidedly chose the medical. At length a great difficulty arose how he could be supported at the University, even in the most frugal manner, since his father could spare but little from so large a family. A circumstance indeed occurred, which by many persons would have been eagerly embraced. There was a contest between two distinguished houses for the representation of the County in Parliament and it was confidently said, that a Nobleman made an offer to assist the education of Henry, and advance him in future life, if his father would consent. Such a friendship might be, perhaps, owing to his Lordship's esteem for a near relation but the father would by no means accept the offer, his interest and regard being entirely devoted to the service of the noble family at Himley. By dint of industry and ability, however, Henry procured an exhibition, or clerkship, in Oriel College and was appointed by that Society to perform duty in King Edward's Hospital, a small distance from Oxford, before he was in orders. By great prudence, many friends, and the favour of the College, he combated every pecuniary difficulty, and took the degree of B.A.; which when he had determined, he left the University, being desirous of encountering no farther trouble in the pursuit of academical degrees. But, although he had abandoned such inconveniences in the University, he had another still to struggle with immediately, and that was how to be admitted into Holy Orders. Not withstanding all his literary merit, he found it no easy matter to obtain a title, as Curacies were at that time scarce, and Dr. Maddox, then Bishop of Worcester, treated him rather ungraciously; so that, between his disappointments with the beneficed Clergy, his numerous journeys, many expences, and an almost empty purse, the whole story, as he related it, would incline the Reader to laugh, though it would be impossible not to lament His situation. Some time after, having been regularly ordained, he resided upon a Curacy at Wednesbury, about four miles distant from his native town, the annual income of which did not exceed £36?. Whilst he officiated at that place, a respectable and rather wealthy family attracted his esteem, which soon terminated in his marriage with the eldest daughter, Elizabeth Butler: but her family was not satisfied with her choice of a husband possessed of so small an income and they were compelled to support themselves, and afterwards their infant, more than two years, upon ?? stipend, and the Vicarage-house in an adjoining parish, West Bromwich. Providence at length, after such a contented struggle with adversity, interposed in their behalf and they were removed to Shenstone, a place not only delightful in its situation, but abounding with a number of worthy inhabitants. The Author was no sooner appointed to this comfortable Curacy, than he was invited to be one of the reading and domestic Clergymen to Samuel Hill, Esq. in whom he not only obtained a friend, but a considerable increase of income, inso much that the disobliged father abovementioned became so reconciled to his daughter as to settle upon her the portion of a child. But this felicity was of short duration: He not only lost by death his benefactor Mr. Hill, but his wife did not survive her going to Shenstone more than about four years. The evening efore she departed, she desired to see her only child, then not five years old. After giving some important instructions for his future life, she enjoined him "to choose no other than the clerical profession; that, be his fortune ever so small, he should disregard lucre, care of preferments, &c.; for that employment, properly discharged, was superior to any other in the world." The next morning, about seven o'clock, she sang an hymn, and instantly expired. Mr. Sanders still continued his Curacy of Shenstone in his own words, "loving and beloved by his Parishioners" till about the end of thirteen years, when, unhappily for himself, and disagreeably to all his flock, he accepted a station in King Edward the Sixth's school at Birmingham, with a design to superintend the education of his son, and obtain for him an exhibition to College. Within two years of his leaving the Curacy of Shenstone, he was engaged by Humphrey Minchin Esq. afterwards Member of Parliament for Bossiney, as private tutor to his two eldest sons, who, removing to Birmingham for education in that school, represented their former instructor in such a favourable view to the Rev. Mr. Brailsford, Head-master, that the then vacant place of Assistant-teacher to the upper boys proved an allurement, with a Curacy, and the idea of superintending his son's education, to withdraw Mr. Sanders from Shenstone. His heart, however, being with his beloved people, and uneasy from the place he so delighted in, he was frequently occupied in preparing the History of the Parish where he had spent the happiest part of his life, Though he afterwards gained a comfortable settlement as Master of the Free Grammar-school at Hales Owen, Salop, by the favour of George Lord Lyttelton, and through the recommendation of some friends, and also the perpetual Curacy of Oldbury Chapel, to which he was presented by the Rev. Pynson Wilmott yet no place afforded him consolation like Shenstone where, though he had it not in his power to end his days agreeably to his wishes, his will expressly charged that his remains should be deposited in the church where his pastoral duties had been so particularly acceptable. From the time of his appointment at Hales Owen, which was in 1771 till his decease in 1785, he had lain aside all thoughts of preferment, seemed little anxious about popular esteem, and devoted himself to retirement and study. He was tolerably conversant in almost every branch of Literature, more especially Theology, History, and the Classics and, had his abilities met with due encouragement in the early part of his life, he would have made a con spicuous character in the learned world. The " History of Shenstone," drawn up with great care and attention, after a long and painful discharge of the important duties of his sacred office, was prepared for the press during his residence at Birmingham, where he had an inclination to have printed it and was after wards from time to time improved during his residence at Hales Owen. At the distance of twenty years, it was submitted to public inspection, as left by the Author, except with the addition in a very few places of a date, and occasionally a supplementary link in the connexion of a Pedigree. His only son, the Rev. John Butler Sanders, Fellow of Worcester College, Oxford M.A. 1780 some time Chaplain to the British Factory at Gottenburgh; well known and respected as a worthy and conscientious Divine, is now (1814) Curate of St. Augustin and St. Faith; and Lecturer of St. Olave, Jewry, and St. Martin, Ironmonger-lane; and Second Grammar Master of St. Olave's School in Tooley Street.

John Saunders B.A. (rector of Colton) c1619-1682 H103
Saunders, born about 1619, was likely a son of William Saunders of Colton "gentleman". (This man studied at Oxford where on 24 Mar 1636.7 he was a student at Oriel College and matriculated. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 16 Nov 1640.) Saunders was likely ordained deacon and priest before 1643. On 5 Feb 1643.4 he may not have been in an office. In 1651 after presentation by Walter Aston 2nd Baron Aston of Forfar c1609-1678 he was appointed ?compliant minister of Colton rectory. In early Jun 1660 he continued here as de facto rector. By 23 Jul 1660 after probable presentation by Thomas Jones (vicar of Rugeley) e1610-1672 QV (? pro Walter Aston 2nd Baron Aston of Forfar c1609-1678) he was instituted rector. About Jan 1661.2 he paid a clerical subsidy of £2. He subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 19 Aug 1662. On 25 Nov 1663 he was licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 the rectory was valued at £60 (or £90 pa). In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Colton constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths. On 5 Feb 1672.3 he was collated prebendary of Lichfield Pipa Parva (and installed 22 Feb). Still in both offices he died, aged about 63, and was buried on 21 Jan 1681.2 at Colton. His will made on 25 Sep 1681 was proved under Lichfield on 6 Sep 1682. His elder son John Saunders (rector of Leigh) c1647-1717 placed a monument in the church at Ashbourne, Derbys in memory of his parents (below) but it should be noted that Saunders was not provost (proepositi) of Oriel College. Saunders married first about 1645 Dorothy Crompton c1610-1667 widow of Edward Sprott of Ashmore Brook in Lichfield gentleman c1605-1644 by whom he had 2 sons and 2 daughters. Dorothy Crompton was probably the daughter of Thomas (not John) Crompton of Stone Park c1573-1645 whose mother was Jane Aston first dau of Sir Walter Aston of Tixall Knight 1530-1589 (grandfather of Walter Aston 1st Baron Aston of Forfar 1584-1639). Saunders married second perhaps about 1670 to Elizabeth (no known children). His coat of arms is said to have been "Sable a chevron ermine between three bulls heads caboshed argent".

(1879) On a tablet, placed on the south wall of the chancel in Ashbourne Church hy his grandson, John Saunders, M.A., rector of Colton and prebendary of Lichfield, is described as " formerly Provost of Oriel College, Oxford ;" but this is an error, as the dates alone will clearly prove. The John Saunders who succeeded Dr. John Toulson as Provost of Oriel, A.D. 1644, was a Doctor of Physic. He married Dorothy Wentworth, sister of the Dean of Armagh, and dying in A.D. 1653, was buried under the high altar in Oriel College Chapel. His arms are thus given "Party per chevron, argent and sable, three elephants' heads erased counter-changed, impaling those of Wentworth (his wife' family). John Saunders, rector of Colton, was a Master of Arts, and married Dorothy Crompton, of Stone Park, a cousin of Lord Aston's. He became prebendary of Pipe Parva in Lichfield Cathedral in A.D. 1672, and dying in 1682, was buried at Colton. His arms were "Sable a chevron ermine, between three bulls' heads cabosed argent." The mistake has arisen from the names being identical, from their living about the same time, and from the curious coincidence that each of them married a wife named Dorothy. His monument at Colton states that he was provost of Oriel College, Oxford (in 1644), but this is clearly a mistake. Possibly son of William Saunders of Colton (sic, Coughton?), co. Warw. If so, B.A. 1640 Oriel College, Oxford (Foster). It seems unlikely that this last Saunders could have been elected provost within four years after taking his B.A., so he may have been the rector here, who certainly was an M.A. Another man of this name took his M.A. from Queens' College, Cambridge in 1652 (Venn). Simon Savage (parochial curate of Weston-upon-Trent) c1558-?1648
Savage, born about 1558, is of unknown parentage. He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 20 May 1582 he was ordained deacon by Chester at Chester. In 1592 he was in office as a stipendiary curate at Acton, Cheshire when he was one of a group described "no graduates nor preachers but catechizers". By 1627 he was in office as parochial curate of Weston-upon-Trent. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he may have continued here as compliant minister but had been replaced in office by 1645. He likely died, aged about 90, and was buried there as "Symon Savage senex" on 12 Jun 1648. Savage may not have married.

Sacred to the Memory of JOHN SAVILLE 48 Years vicar Choral of this Cathedral Ob: Aug 2nd 1803 Aetat 67 [long poem by Anna Seward]

Once in the Heart, cold in yon narrow cell,
Did each mild grace, each ardent virtue dwell;
Kind aid, kind tears for others want and woe,
For others joy, the gratulating glow;
And skill to mark, and eloquence to claim
For genius in each art, the palm of fame.
Ye choral walls, ye lost the matchless song
When the last silence stiffen'd on that tongue.
Ah! who may now your pealing anthems raise
In soul-pour'd tones of fervent prayer and praise?
Saville, thy lips, twice on thy final day.
Here breath'd in health and hope the sacred lay;
Short pangs, ere night, their fatal signal gave,
Quench'd the bright Sun for thee, and op'd the grave!
Now, from that graceful form and beaming face,
Insatiate worms the lingering likeness chase,
But thy pure Spirit fled from pains and fears
To sinless, changeless, everlasting Spheres.
Sleep then, pale mortal Frame, in yon' low shrine,
Till Angels wake thee with a note like thine."
[said to be composed by Anna Seward] [SCD 10.0008]

Over the course of her life Seward had many close friendships and dear correspondents, but she mentions four people as her deepest attachments: her sister, her father, Honora Sneyd, and finally John Saville, the vicar choral of Lichfield Cathedral, who had been a long-time friend of the Seward family. After her father's death in 1790, Saville, who was living, separate from his wife, in a small house in the cathedral close, became Seward's daily companion, her beloved 'Giovanni', with whom she shared many interests, ranging from their affection for her dog Sappho to their devotion to the music of Handel. After Saville's death in 1803, she paid his debts, supported his family, and had a monument built to his memory just outside the cathedral. [ODNB]

In John Saville, her music teacher, concert singer and vicar Choral at the Cathedral, though, she found her 'soulmate', her 'heart's darling' and they lived a rather 'open' and devoted life together at the Bishop's Palace, while his wife, 'a vulgar, abusive shrew', according to Anna, and their children lived a short distance away in The Close. They first met when her father asked Saville to teach his twelve-year-old daughter the harpsichord. He was twenty but this did not stop a growing friendship over time, which found him often closeted with Anna in her room yet returning to his wife each night. Their behaviour scandalised the Close. Now she was travelling everywhere with him, wherever he was to perform, even to Covent Garden. Once again, her disapproving parents confronted their daughter, who vowed that theirs was 'a love without sin' and that there was nothing untoward in the relationship. As a result, many shunned the Seward family in Lichfield but she would never give up her beloved 'Giovanni'. [INTERNET]

Samuel Scattergood is remembered as a preacher: his two published sermons were never reprinted, but from the rest his brother John collected Twelve Sermons (1700), later enlarged to Fifty-Two Sermons (1723). After Samuel's death his father's library was advertised for auction in London: almost two thousand items in a learned, mostly Latin, collection, to which Samuel had continued to add. Predictably it included Gouldman's Dictionary (1678), Hayes's Bible *(1683), and an annotated copy of Annotations upon All the Books of the Old and New Testament (1651) by John Downame and others; but it also included, without listing them, 'betwixt Fourscore and an Hundred Italian plays'. Augustine Schoolecroft B.A. (vicar of Colwich) 1633-1700 H104
Schoolecroft, christened on 3 Nov 1633 at Lancaster St Mary, was a son of James Schoolecroft of Lancaster St Mary clergyman c1603-?1688. He studied at Cambridge where on 12 Apr 1654 he was admitted as a sizar at St John's College and matriculated. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1657.8. He was presumably qualified as a presbyterian clergyman by about 27 Jul 1659 when he was "an assistant" to John Greensmith (presbyterian minister of Colwich) ?1629-1666. In early Jun 1660 he may not have been in an office. On 10 Mar 1660.1 (together with Michael Edge 1634-1683 QV) he was ordained deacon at "the chapel of his oratory at the Barbican" and on 13 Mar 1660.1 ordained priest at Aldersgate Steet, London (both) by Lincoln. He was parochial curate of Chilcote, Derbys when he subscribed to the Act of uniformity on 26 Jul 1662. In Feb 1662.3 after presentation by the prebendary of Lichfield Colwich then Alexander Fetherston c1617-1684 he was instituted vicar of Colwich and the same month licensed as a preacher by Lichfield. In 1665 he certified the hearth tax for Colwich constablewick and was assessed on 4 hearths at Colwich township. Still in office he died, aged 67, and was buried here on 16 Feb 1699.1700. Schoolecroft married on 6 Dec 1666 at Colwich to Sarah Greensmith ?1633-1687 probably daughter of Thomas Greensmith of Birmingham, Warwicks skinner c1599-1649 by whom he had 2 daughters. John Greensmith (presbyterian minister of Colwich) ?1629-1666, who was Schoolecroft's immediate predecessor at Colwich, was probably the brother of his wife Sarah. Schoolecroft qua vicar of Colwich was patron of the parochial chapelry of Fradswell (where he may have presented Thomas Orton c1639-?1701 QV).

Gilbert Seabrooke M.A. (compliant minister of Stafford St Mary) c1595-....
Seabrooke, born about 1595, is of unknown parentage. He studied at Oxford where on 23 Apr 1613 he (? was a student at Magdalen Hall and) subscribed as an anglican. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 4 Jul 1616 (M.A., 1 Jun 1619). On 18 Dec 1619 he was ordained deacon and on 19 Dec 1619 ordained priest (both) by Peterborough at Peterborough - he is then said to have been of Broadgates Hall, Oxford. In 1621 after probable presentation by the Crown he was instituted rector of Desford, Leics. Here a successor was instituted on 3 May 1627. By 1628 he had moved to Ireland where he is said to have been chaplain to the Lord Lieutenant. That year after presentation by the Crown on 15 Aug he was installed as prebendary of Elphin Ardagh and about the same time was instituted as vicar of Fuerty and Athleague, co. Roscommon and also Taghboy and "Aghascar". The Royal Visitors called him "a good Divine and a good Preacher." During the "Irish Rebellion" which started in October 1641 roman catholics attacked protestants and many protestant families sought protection in Dublin. A declaration made there on 15 Nov 1641 read "That many English ... thrust out of the habitations by the Rebels: comming to that cittie for releife and others being started in ther comming thither they had taken the men to serve in the warrs but the women and children they had sent into England ... Mr. Gregot Seborow a Minister of Gods Word sent with them ..." On 25 Feb 1641.2 in the Long Parliament "Upon MR. PYM's motion Mr. Seabrooke, a poor minister, is referred to the committee for contribution." In 1645 the Westminster assembly appointed him compliant minister of Hothfield rectory, Kent. On 17 Mar 1646.7 after presentation under the Great Seal of England Seabrooke was appointed compliant minister of West Ham vicarage, Essex (? and on 2 Apr 1647, as required, subscribed to the National league and covenant). A successor was in office by September 1650. During 1651 Seabrooke was in office as compliant minister of Weybridge rectory, Surrey. About Jan 1651.2 he was in office as compliant minister of Stafford St Mary rectory where a successor was in office in 1653. Seabrooke married (by London licence, 6 Nov) on 7 Nov 1622 at Chipping Barnet to Elizabeth Silverlocke dau of Richard Silverlocke of Chipping Barnet, Herts by whom he had 2 daus.

There appears to be some confusion here, between this prebend and that of Artagh, in the diocese of Killala. See above, p. 90. [Henry Cotton Fasti Ecclesiae Hibernicae p152]
(15 Nov 1641) MR. PYM desired that wee might on the day of the fast have a publike collection for the poore distressed women and children come out of Ireland, being despoiled of ther estates and to that end hee delivered upp a Declaration made by Sir William Parsons and Sir John Burlacie the two cheife Justices of Ireland had published bearing date at Dublin Castle, 15 Nov 1641. That many English of good wealth and place robbed and spoiled of ther goods, and thrust out of the habitations by the Rebels: comming to that cittie for releife and others being started in ther comming thither they had taken the men to serve in the warrs but the women and children they had sent into England not doubting but all godlie and well-disposed persons would be verie readie to commiserate ther calamitie and releive ther necessitie. Mr. Gregot Seborow a Minister of Gods Word sent with them to be the receiver of such contribution, that it might be distributed amongst such as had most neede. These particulars weere ordered to be drawen into heads, and to be added to our declaration, and Mr. Pym and some others of the Committee withdrew about it. GILBERT SEBROCKE (or Seabrooke, according to his own signature) was appointed to the vicarage , void by death, 17 March 1646.7 (Lords Journals ix 85). He subscribed 2 April. JOHN YATES was vicar by September 1650.
[Essex review v31-2 (1922) p179]
(1651) Meanwhile some temporary "ministers" appear and One of them, Gilbert Seabrook, signs the vestry minutes, appoints a churchwarden for 1651, and enters some christenings in the parish register, but is gone before the next meeting. In 1652 "John Turner Min'," signs the book and then vanishes. [Weybridge, Surrey - Surrey Archaeological Society 17 (1902) p47]

Thomas Sedgwick (parochial curate of Barton-under-Needwood) ?1585-1645
Sedgwick, (? christened on 2 Feb 1584.5 at Mancetter), was probably a son of Richard Sedgwick of Mancetter, Warwicks c1550-.... He was probably only educated to literate grade. On 18 Feb 1609 he was living at Sutton Coldfield, Warwicks when, having obtained letters dismissory, he was probably ordained deacon by Worcester. On 8 Mar 1612 he was living at Castle Bromwich, Warwicks when he was ordained priest by Oxford pro Lichfield at Nuneham Courtenay, Oxon. By 10 Dec 1613 after probable presentation by the rector of Tatenhill then Robert Blower 1611-1618 he had been licenced as parochial curate of Barton-under-Needwood. By 1 Oct 1615 he had been replaced in office by Thomas Naylor c1591-.... who was still there on 2 Feb 1617.8. During this period Sedgwick is said (on 26 Aug 1616) to have been curate of Rushton (perhaps intending Rolleston - close to Barton - where he would have been a stipendiary curate). On 11 Mar 1617.8 John Balcanquall c1588-1647 QV was appointed rector of Tatenhill. By 1 Nov 1618, after probable presentation by Balcanquall, Sedgwick had been re-licenced as parochial curate of Barton-under-Needwood. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as compliant minister. Still in office he died, aged about 60, and was buried here on 6 Jun 1645. Sedgwick probably married on 26 Sep 1611 at Sheldon, Warwicks to Ann Denton (d 1652) (no known children). Sedgwick witnessed as "Thomas Sedgewicke minister" the will of Thomas Orgell of Barton-under-Needwood c1558-1615 who was buried there on 7 May 1615. Orgell had been parish clerk. The entry in the parish register styles him "Thomasius Orgell et clericus erat hujus capellae".

John Selleck D.D. (rector of Clifton Campville, Staffs) 1612-1690
Selleck, christened c 6 Jan 1611.2, was second son of Robert Selleck of Over Stowey, Soms yeoman c1584-1637 and Theophila Cox dau of Henry Cox (rector of Nether Stowey, Soms). He studied at Oxford where about 1628 he was a student at Christ Church. At Oxford he graduated B.A. on 11 Feb 1630.1 (M.A., 29 Oct 1633). On 21 Sep 1634 he was ordained deacon by Bath & Wells and (presumably) ordained priest. Probably in 1643 he was instituted rector of Elworthy, Soms. From 5 Feb 1643.4 he continued here as de facto presbyterian minister but was soon ejected. Selleck evidently remained an anglican and was a royalist and supporter of Charles II who recommended him "he having suffered for loyalty and done great service for preservation of His Majesty's person when in danger".

On 21 Jul 1660 he was collated prebendary of Salisbury Ruscombe and on 1 Aug 1660 collated prebendary of Wells St Decuman. At Wells he was also a canon residentiary. By An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660) he was restored as rector of Elworthy. On 6 Jun 1661 he was collated as archdeacon of Bath. Probably on 4 Feb 1663.4 he was conferred D.D. by the archbishop of Canterbury. On 11 Nov 1664 after presentation by Sir John Coventry of Pitminster, Soms K.B. c1636-1685 he was (plurally) instituted rector of Clifton Campville. Still in all his offices he died, aged 78, and was buried on 1 Jul 1690 at Wells Cathedral. His will made on 10 Dec 1686 was proved at PCC on 9 Oct 1690. Selleck is not discovered to have visited Clifton Campville and likely appointed a stipendiary curate. In his will he did bequeath £40 to the poor here. Selleck married about 1641 Margaret Hallett (d 1654) of Corfe, Soms by whom he had three sons and two daughters. Nathaniel Selleck (rector of Clifton Campville, Staffs) c1648-1700 was his second son and succeded his father at Clifton Campville.

Seward had become a resident of the cathedral close at Lichfield in 1754, and he was acquainted with Dr Johnson, whom he used to entertain on his visits to Lichfield. Boswell described him as 'a genteel, well-bred, dignified clergyman, who had lived much in the great world'; and he was recalled by another as 'a lovely man, of fine person and frank communicative spirit' He had active literary interests and four of his poems were printed anonymously in Robert Dodsley's A Collection of Poems (1748). ...In 1779 Seward was portrayed as the canon in the novel Columella by Richard Graves. $Philip Sharpe B.A. (presbyterian minister of Kings Bromley) ?1624-....

Sharpe, born in Derbyshire (? and christened on 15 Apr 1624 at Derby All Saints) was probably a son of John Sharpe of Derby brazier c1592-1669 and Mary. (In his will made on 24 Dec 1668 John Sharpe mentions a property at Winshill (in the Derbyshire part of Burton-upon-Trent) and his son Mr Philip Sharpe.) Sharpe studied at Cambridge where on 28 Jun 1644 he was admitted as a sizar at Emmanuel College and matriculated that year. At Cambridge he graduated B.A. in 1647. He was presumably qualified to be a presbyterian clergyman before his appointment (? in 1647) as presbyterian minister of Armitage parochial chapelry and Kings Bromley parochial chapelry. At Armitage he received an augmentation of £6 (increased in 1651 to £46) to his salary. Apparently a committed presbyterian, he signed the Staffordshire testimony of Jul 1648 as "Philip Sharp Preacher of Gods Word at Bromley Regis". He resigned these offices before his appointment (? on 25 Dec 1651) as presbyterian minister of Burton-upon-Trent parochial chapelry. On 17 Mar 1651.2 he was granted by the Committee (? for the universities) an augmentation of £50 to his salary of £40. On 28 Aug 1654 he was appointed an Assistant Commissioner for the ejection of scandalous ministers in Staffordshire. In 1654 he certified the fitness of a candidate for the ministry. [He may be the man of this name who on 27 Jun 1655 was admitted as presbyterian minister of Gravesend, Kent rectory and in early Jun 1660 may have continued as de facto rector but, by An act for the confirming and restoring of ministers (13 Sep 1660), was apparently displaced from office. This man probably married about 1655 to a woman by whom he had a daughter christened at Gravesend in 1656. On 13 Oct 1669 one Mr Philip Sharpe was buried at London Islington St Mary. It is possible that Philip Sharpe (stipendiary curate of Brookland, Kent) 1576-.... was a kinsman.]

(1915) (Burton-upon-Trent) 26 Sharpe. See Armitage. Granted by the committee (? for the reformation of the universities) on 17 Mar 1651.2 an augmentation of £50 out of rectory of Hanbury to be paid from 25 Dec 1651, as this living was but worth £40. This augmentation had been formerly granted to Mr Anthony Mason, minister of Newborough chapel, deceased. (SionMS p498) Appointed assistant to the commissioners for the removal of scandalous ministers in 1654, certified the fitness of a candidate for the ministry in 1654 (LMS 997/1 p52), occurs as late minister here c1659 (LMS 994 p142). [1915 p44] ... (Armitage) 3 Sharpe. Probably B.A. 1647 Emmanuel College, Cambridge (Venn). A "godly and painful minister," preacher at Kings Bromley in 1648, signed testimony in that year, became minister at Burton (q.v) in Dec 1651. By an order of the committee for plundered ministers dated 12 May 1647 an augmentation of £6 out of this impropriate rectory was granted to an unnamed minister here, and in Oct 1650 it was ordered to be paid to Sharpe with arrears from 6 Jan 1646.7. (BodlMS 327 p484-5) Next year he was in receipt of an augmentation of £46 pa. (LMS 976 p323; cf979 p358, and 978 p624) [1915 p16-7]

(22 Nov 1825) Nov. 22. Aged 71, the Rev. Joseph Shaw, Head-Master of the Free Grammar School, Stafford. He retired to rest somewhat indisposed on Monday evening, and was found a corpse on the following morning. The Rev. J. Shaw was father of the Corporation of the borough of Stafford, and had been a resident in the town forty-five years, having been appointed Head Master of King Edward's Grammar School in the year 1780. He was a native of Bootle, in Cumberland, and received the rudiments of his education at the Free School in that parish. In early life he was distinguished for that devotion to classical literature which characterised him through life, and by which he attained such eminence as a teacher. From Bootle he was removed by his parents to Hawkshead School in Lancashire, where his classical acquirements soon raised him to the rank of first assistant in that reputed establishment. From thence he removed into Cheshire, and officiated there as stipendiary curate until his appointment to the Head Mastership of Stafford Grammar School. If we mistake not, the present Viscount Granville was placed under his care by the late Marquis of Stafford, and not a few of the most distinguished Nobility and Gentry of the County have been his pupils.
